Cataloging Policy and Support Office,2007 Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress,2007 Houses of Civil War America Hugh Howard,2014-11-04 A revealing historical and photographic tour of the homes of influential Civil War figures including Robert E Lee Abraham Lincoln Frederick Douglass Clara Barton Stonewall Jackson and others Timed to coincide with the 150th anniversary of the Civil War and a fitting sequel to Houses of the Presidents Houses of Civil War America takes readers into the daily lives of the most important historical figures in the nation defining conflict From modest abolitionist homes to the plantations of the antebellum south Howard and Straus bring the most intimate moments of the war to life With insightful narrative and gorgeous photography Houses of Civil War America demonstrates through these landmark homes the nation we were and the nation we became Louisiana Buildings, 1720-1940 Jessie Poesch,Barbara SoRelle Bacot,1997-08-01 The only New Deal program to continue into the 1990s the Historic American Buildings Survey has through the years drawn attention to the historical and artistic significance of buildings that contemporary taste might otherwise have ignored Louisiana Buildings 1720 1940 makes easily available the fruit of HABS s important and enduring efforts to record Louisiana s architectural heritage In the 1930s the Louisiana HABS team concentrated on public edifices and grand plantation complexes threatened by destruction Later records of HABS include still other habitations of the common man as well as industrial structures The project has yielded not only graphic and written documentation of the buildings many no longer standing but also new insights into the history of the state s architecture An invaluable part of Louisiana Buildings 1720 1940 is the alphabetical listing of HABS structures in Louisiana both by familiar name and by parish The listing by parish gives the location the date of construction the architect when known and the current status of each building It also presents drawings or photographs of many of the structures over 300 pictures in all There are besides nine chapters by leading architectural historians who cover all aspects of Louisiana architecture its Creole beginnings in the south of the state the Appalachian folk style in the north and developments on the plantation in the seventeenth century urban setting and in the modern era Those chapters form an essential frame of reference for the data in the HABS listings and call attention to many other structures that are a part of the history of building in the Pelican State Anyone interested in the state s architecture or history will find Louisiana Buildings indispensable

Mistress of Evergreen Plantation Rachel Swayze O'Connor, 1983-01-01 These 157 never before published letters were written by Rachel O Connor of Evergreen Plantation in the Feliciana country of Louisiana to her brother David Weeks and his family at their home Shadows on the Teche in the bayou country They span a period of twenty two years providing valuable information on early plantation life society and economics Rachel was born in 1774 at a time of great change in America The customs of the French and Spanish frontier were being replaced by the lifestyle of the Anglo Saxon settlers who quickly established the grand manner characteristic of the antebellum South Rachel had ties to both worlds the pioneer log cabins and the columned mansions A woman planter in a man s world she allows her readers to share her view of slavery in all its ramifications without a hint of later controversy Rachel discusses frankly the immorality of overseers slave concubinage and slave discipline revealing her own paternalistic attitude toward slaveholding Her letters also discuss epidemics the weather her neighbors her crops and gardens and always her struggle against lawsuits and debts The book contains a historical introduction to the period a genealogical chart of Rachel s family and a Who s Who of important persons mentioned in the letters Explanatory annotations and editorial notes provide information relative to persons and events Maps and sketches orient the setting of Rachel s world A concluding summary traces the descendants of her relatives and friends and describes the site of Evergreen Plantation as it exists today Plantation Houses and Mansions of the Old South J. Frazer Smith, 2012-09-06 DIVRich survey ranges from pioneer cabins to French Provincial and Neoclassic revivals Extensive commentary on each building with over 100 detailed illustrations including 36 floor plans Bibliography div

Transforming the South David King Gleason, 1982-09-01 From the Greek Revival grandeur of Belle Helene to the Moorish fantasy of Longwood to the simplicity of Rosella the plantation homes of Louisiana and the Natchez area powerfully recall the brief flowering of the unique civilization of the Old South In their noble fa ades sculptured interiors and scattered outbuildings can be seen the feudal splendor of the great cotton and sugar planters and the doomed glory of the Confederate war effort In these 120 resonant full color photographs David King Gleason fully captures the aura of Louisiana s plantation homes some beautiful in the morning light some shaded by trees and hanging moss some crumbling in decay and neglect

Taking each house on its own terms Gleason's photographs present the buildings and their environs sharply and without deception Accompanying the photographs are captions that give a brief architectural evaluation of each house and provide notes on its construction history and present condition Gleason has organized his book as a journey along the waterways that were the lifeline of Louisiana's plantations their link to New Orleans and to the markets and factories of the North Beginning in the vicinity of New Orleans and the lower Mississippi Gleason presents such houses as Evergreen with its columns and twin circular staircases the exuberant San Francisco and Oak Alley set at the end of a spectacular avenue of 28 oak trees Continuing along the bayous that lead into the western part of the state he shows us the palatial Madewood constructed from seasoned timbers and 60 000 slave made bricks the meticulously restored Shadows on the Teche the ramshackle Darby House and Bubenzer which served as a Union army headquarters during the Civil War From Cane River country and north Louisiana the photographs portray Magnolia burned by Union troops and then rebuilt to its original specifications Melrose built in the early 1830s by a freed slave and Oakland the location for the Civil War movie The Horse Soldiers Moving overland towards Natchez the elaborate octagonal Longwood Rosemont the boyhood home of Jefferson Davis Oakley where John James Audubon was once engaged as a tutor and Rosedown with its elaborate gardens Continuing south of Baton Rouge along the River Road Gleason closes his tour with homes including Mount Hope built in the eighteenth century Nottoway the largest plantation home in the South completed on the eve of the Civil War Indian Camp a leprosarium for most of its existence and the pillared galleries of Belle Helene The plantation homes of Louisiana were highly personal expressions of pride and faith in the future Yet the building of these spectacular monuments was a brief phenomenon In the wake of the Civil War the South's economy was devoted to survival not luxury A tribute to the plantation home David King Gleason's photographs reveal the beauty grandeur and poignance of these monuments
