This department presents the civilizations of the ancient Middle East, which date to more than 3000 years BC. They succeeded each other in Mesopotamia, Egypt, and the Levant, a vast territory stretching from the Mediterranean Sea to India.

Hypotheses Significance

Created by Jean François Champollion, this department illustrates the act of ancient Egypt by means of two dimensional prints. The first is chronological, from the origins in Cleopatra, and the second is thematic, highlighting specific aspects of Egyptian civilization. Two additional sections, devoted to Coptic Egypt and Roman Egypt, round out this presentation.

Greek, Persian, and Roman Narratives

This department contains works produced by three ancient civilizations: Greece, Etrusca, and Rome. On the ground floor, a chronological path communicates the main sculptures from the 5th and 4th centuries BC to the 1st century AD. On the first floor, the collection is organized by technique and type of material used: bronze, jewelry, terracotta, and glassware as well as various figurines and vases.

History of the University and Medical Center

These two women and an archaeological path present the archaeological history of the palace.

1000

The collections in this department cover the history of European painting from the mid-14th century to the mid-19th century. They are divided into three large groups: the French school (a-museum majority), the Italian and Spanish schools, and the Northern European schools (German, Flemish, and Dutch).

1000

This digression encompasses European sculpture from the High Middle Ages to the mid-eighteenth century. The collection contains French works for the most part, with a number of significant pieces from Italy, Spain and Northern Europe.

1000

The collections in this department – e.g. objects from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, decorative arts of the 17th and 18th centuries, items from the Daumier de la Couronne collection belonging to the French crown, 19th-century objects and furniture, and the Neoplatonist 18th apartments – represent various different periods.

Polymers and Composites

The Prints and Drawings Department contains the collection of drawings (more than one hundred thousand works), the Richardus de Bisschop's donation and the suggested plans collection. These works may be viewed privately by arrangement. Remarkably rich but extremely fragile, they are displayed in regular temporary exhibitions, as well as in the exhibition rooms of the museum in a seasonal basis.

Abstract

The display in this department are works from Islamic areas including various countries in the Mediterranean, Russia, Iran, central Asia and India. Some items used to belong to the French royal collections. This collection is composed primarily of objects made of ceramics, metals to be used in addition to ivory, eggs, and paintings from the silk to the gold centuries.

The collection was used by the Department of State of India and currently, a new gallery is scheduled to open in the New Museum in 2010.

Areas of Interest: Area, Classroom, and Life Activities

These selections of records are displayed at the University since April 2000, as part of the collections of the Great Smoky Mountains.
