Reorienting Modernism in Arabic and Persian Poetry Levi Thompson, 2022-12-08 Re-orienting Modernism in Arabic and Persian Poetry is the first book to systematically study the parallel development of modernist poetry in Arabic and Persian It presents a fresh line of comparative inquiry into minor literatures within the field of world literary studies Focusing on Arabic Persian literary exchanges allows readers to better understand the development of modernist poetry in both traditions and in turn challenge Europe's position at the center of literary modernism The argument contributes to current scholarly efforts to globalize modernist studies by reading Arabic and Persian poetry comparatively within the context of the Cold War to establish the Middle East as a significant participant in wider modernist developments To illuminate profound connections between Arabic and Persian modernist poetry in both form and content the book takes up works from key poets including the Iraqis Badr Shakir al Sayyab and Abd al Wahhab al Bayati and the Iranians Nima Yushij Ahmad Shamlu and Forough Farrokhzad

Re-orienting Modernism in Arabic and Persian Poetry Levi Thompson, 2022-12-08 Comparatively studies through both form and content the development of Arabic and Persian modernist poetry during the mid twentieth century Arabic Literature for the Classroom Mushin al-Musawi, 2017-04-21 This book presents theoretical and methodical cultural concerns in teaching literatures from non American cultures along with issues of cross cultural communication cultural competency and translation Covering topics such as the 1001 Nights Maqamat Arabic poetry women's writing classical poetics issues of gender race and class North African concerns language acquisition through literature Arab spring writing women's correspondence issues connected with the so called nahdah revival movement in the 19th century and many others the book provides perspectives and topics that serve in both the planning of new courses and accommodation to already existing programs Arabic Literary Thresholds Muhsin Al-Musawi, 2009-06-15 This volume dedicated to Jaroslav Stetkevych includes a number of original contributions that signify a rhetorical shift in the social sciences and Arabic studies. The articles and essays deal with Orientalism, classical Arabic tradition, Andalusian poetry, Francophone literature, translation, architecture, and poetry comparative studies, and Sufism. Literary production is studied in its own terms to situate these literary concerns in the mainstream of cultural studies. The outcome is a solid and highly sophisticated scholarship that makes this book one of the most needed among scholars and students of comparative literature, Arabic poetics, and politics, Orientalism, Afro-Asian studies, East-West encounters, and translation.

Arabic Poetry Muhsin J. al-Musawi, 2006-09-27. Since the late 1940s, Arabic poetry has spoken for an Arab conscience as much as it has debated positions and ideologies nationally and worldwide. This book tackles issues of modernity and tradition in Arabic poetry as manifested in poetic texts and criticism by poets as participants in transformation and change. It studies the poetic in its complexity relating to issues of selfhood, individuality, community, religion, ideology, nation, class, and gender. Al-Musawi also explores in context issues that have been cursorily noticed or neglected, like Shi'i poetics, Sufism, women's poetry, and expressions of exilic consciousness. Arabic Poetry employs current literary theory and provides comprehensive coverage of modern and postmodern poetry from the 1950s onwards, making it essential reading for those with interests in Arabic culture and literature and Middle East studies.

The City Lament Tamar M. Boyadjian, 2018-12-15. Poetic elegies for lost or fallen cities are seemingly as old as cities themselves. In the Judeo-Christian tradition, this genre finds its purest expression in the book of Lamentations, which mourns the destruction of Jerusalem. In Arabic, this genre is known as the ritha al mudun. In The City Lament, Tamar M. Boyadjian traces the trajectory of the genre across the Mediterranean world during the period commonly referred to as the early Crusades (1095-1191), focusing on elegies and other expressions of loss that address the spiritual and strategic objective of those wars. Jerusalem. Through readings of city laments in English, French, Latin, Arabic, and Armenian literary traditions, Boyadjian challenges hegemonic and entrenched approaches to the study of medieval literature and the Crusades. The City Lament exposes significant literary intersections between Latin Christendom, the Islamic caliphates of the Middle East, and the Armenian kingdom of Cilicia, arguing for shared poetic and rhetorical modes. Reframing our understanding of literary sources produced across the medieval Mediterranean from an antagonistic orientalist model to an analogous one, Boyadjian demonstrates how lamentations about the loss of Jerusalem, whether to Muslim or Christian forces, reveal fascinating parallels and rich cross-cultural exchanges.

Tradition, Modernity, and Postmodernity in Arabic Literature Kamal Abdel-Malek, Wael Hallaq, 2000-07-18. The collection of essays contained in this volume is written by a group of prominent scholars of Arabic literature. They explore various manifestations of traditional as well as modern and postmodern themes and techniques in Arabic literature. This is the first time the tripartite concepts of tradition, modernity, and postmodernity in Arabic literary works are explored and analyzed in one volume. It illustrates very clearly the fact that Arabic literature has kept abreast, not only of the primarily modern literary movements in the West that is amply illustrated by many studies to date, but also of the postmodern condition Scholars in the fields of Arabic literature Islamic Studies Comparative Literature postmodern studies among others will find this collection of essays of great interest

A Brief Introduction to Modern Arabic Literature David Tresilian,2012-03-12 Modern Arabic literature remains little known and poorly understood despite growing curiosity among European readers This brief introduction offers a unique overview focusing on developments over the last fifty years It provides a guide to the literary landscape indicating the major landmarks in the shape of authors ideas and debates The picture that emerges shows that the literature of the modern Arab world Europe s closest neighbour is not so far from us as we are sometimes encouraged to think This is a timely contribution to the dialogue between East and West bringing modern Arabic literature into the mainstream for English speaking readers 1994, Iraq C. H. Bleaney,1995 As a modern state Iraq has experienced an unhappy history Most recently it became the focus of attention after it occupied Kuwait in 1990 In antiquity the area was home to the Mesopotamian civilizations of the Sumerians and Babylonians In later centuries Iraq became the battleground over which the Persian state and Turkish empire struggled for supremacy Great Britain occupied Mesopotamia during the First World War and the modern state of Iraq was created in the 1920s This revised bibliography includes works on Iraq s modern history and ancient Mesopotamian history and archaeology

Literature in Translation Carol Maier,Françoise Massardier-Kenney,2010 In the last several decades literary works from around the world have made their way onto the reading lists of American university and college courses in an increasingly wide variety of disciplines This is a cause for rejoicing Through works in translation students in our mostly monolingual society are at last becoming acquainted with the multilingual and multicultural world in which they will live and work Many instructors have expanded their reach to teach texts that originate from across the globe Unfortunately literature in English translation is frequently taught as if it had been written in English and students are not made familiar with the cultural linguistic and literary context in which that literature was produced As a result they submit what they read to their own cultural expectations they do not read in translation and do not reap the benefits of intercultural communication Here a true challenge arises for an instructor Books in translation seldom contain introductory information about the mediation that translation implies or the stakes involved in the transfer of cultural information Instructors are often left to find their own material about the author or the culture of the source text Lacking the appropriate pedagogical tools they struggle to provide information about either the original work or about translation itself and they might feel uneasy about teaching material for which they lack adequate preparation Consequently they restrict themselves to well known works in translation or works from other countries originally written in English Literature in Translation Teaching Issues and Reading Practices squarely addresses this pedagogical lack The book s sixteen essays provide for instructors a context in which to teach works from a variety of languages and cultures in ways that highlight the effects of linguistic and cultural transfers      International Journal of Translation ,1994
