The Love of Learning and The Desire God Jean Leclercq O.S.B., 2024-10-22 Available in a new digital edition with reflowable text suitable for e readers The Love of Learning and the Desire for God is composed of a series of lectures given to young monks at the Institute of Monastic Studies at Sant Anselmo in Rome during the winter of 1955 56 The Love of Learning and the Desire for God Jean Leclercq (O.S.B.), 1962 The Love of Learning and the Desire for God. A Study of Monastic Culture. Translated by Catharine Misrahi Jean Leclercq, 1961 The Library of Paradise David Allen Michelson, 2023-01-13 Contemplative reading is a spiritual practice developed by Christian monks in sixth and seventh century Mesopotamia The Library of Paradise tells the story of this Syriac tradition in three phases its establishment as an ascetic practice the articulation of its theology and its maturation and spread Approaches to Monasticism in the Context of Christian Responses to Modern Culture Kevin Maddy, 2022 Approaches to Monasticism in the Context of Christian Responses to Modern Culture is a study of how the values and practices of monasticism are being shaped by the shift to a cultural understanding of Christianity in modern times The values and practices of traditional monasticism are contrasted with those of various expressions of new monasticism against the background of a multicultural and fluid social environment in an effort to find some reciprocal illumination The study aims to describe monasticism in terms of authenticity and lived religion Christianity and Rabbinic Judaism Jonas E. Alexis, 2013 Our way must be never knowingly support lies Having understood where the lies begin step back from that gangrenous edge Let us not glue back the flaking scale of the Ideology not gather back its crumbling bones nor patch together its decomposing garb and we will be amazed how swiftly and helplessly the lies will fall away and that which is destined to be naked will be exposed as such to the world Alexander Solzhenitsyn Enlightenment writer Voltaire was amazed that twelve fishermen some of them unlettered from an obscure place in the world called Galilee challenged an empire through self denial and patience and eventually established Christianity He seriously thought that twelve philosophers or intellectuals himself included would do the opposite and crush Christianity Voltaire s self appointed cheerleaders such as Diderot Helvitius d Holbach D Alembert Lametrie and Baron Cloots among others tried to do just that and wrote volumes of work trying to tear down the basis of Christianity and erect an edifice of their own Diderot in particular declared I would sacrifice myself perhaps if I could annihilate forever the notion of God Cloots wrote We shall see the heavenly royalty condemned by the revolutionary tribunal of victorious Reason Lametrie produced Man A Machine and an entire French encyclopedia was written between 1751 and 1772 by those philosophers because Christianity to a large degree had to go Voltaire would send letters to his disciples and friends saying crasez l inf me Rousseau of course was a disciple of Voltaire and declared that Voltaire s work inspired me The French Revolution failed Yet like all significant revolutions before and after that period the French Revolution indirectly had a theological root which was then a categorical and metaphysical rejection of Logos That theological substratum has jumped from one era to the next and had and still has historical political economic and spiritual ramifications This book is about the historical and theological struggle of that conflict which had its inception at the foot of the cross

War and the Making of Medieval Monastic Culture Katherine Smith, Katherine Allen Smith, 2013-09-19 An extremely interesting and important book makes an important contribution to the history of medieval monastic spirituality in a formative period whilst also fitting into wider debates on the origins development and impact of ideas on crusading and holy war Dr William Purkis University of Birmingham Monastic culture has generally been seen as set apart from the medieval battlefield as those who prayed were set apart from those who fought However in this first study of the place of war within medieval monastic culture the author shows the limitations of this division Through a wide reading of Latin sermons letters and hagiography she identifies a monastic language of war that presented the monk as the archetypal soldier of Christ and his life of prayer as a continuous combat with the devil indeed monks claims to supremacy on the spiritual battlefield grew even louder as Church leaders extended the title of soldier of Christ to lay knights and crusaders So while medieval monasteries have traditionally been portrayed as peaceful sanctuaries in a violent world here the author demonstrates that monastic identity was negotiated through real and imaginary encounters with war and that the concept of spiritual warfare informed virtually every aspect of life in the cloister It thus breaks new ground in the history of European attitudes toward warfare and warriors in the age of the papal reform movement and the early crusades Katherine Allen Smith is Assistant Professor of History University of Puget Sound

Reading Families Rebecca L. Krug, 2018-09-05 Rebecca Krug argues that in the later Middle Ages people defined themselves in terms of family relationships but increasingly saw their social circumstances as being connected to the written word Complex family dynamics and social configurations motivated women to engage in text based activities Although not all or even the majority of women could read and write it became natural for women to think of writing as a part of everyday life Reading Families looks at the literate practice of two individual women Margaret Paston and Margaret Beaufort and of two communities in which women were central the Norwich Lollards and the Bridgettines at Syon Abbey The book begins with Paston's letters which were written at her husband's request and ends with devotional texts that describe the spiritual daughterhood of the Bridgettine readers Scholars often assume that medieval women's participation in literate culture constituted a rejection of patriarchal authority Krug maintains however that for most women learning to engage with the written word served as a practical response to social changes and was not necessarily a revolutionary act

Thomas Merton—Evil and Why We Suffer David E. Orbertson, 2018-06-18 Thomas Merton is one of the most important spiritual voices of the last century He has never been more relevant as new generations look to him for guidance in addressing some of life's biggest questions how can we find God how should we engage with other faiths and how can we oppose violence and injustice Looking carefully one can find tucked away in Merton's prodigious writings his response to another timeless question Why do we suffer Why does an all powerful and all loving God permit evil and suffering By carefully examining all of

Merton's work we find that he repeatedly confronted this question throughout most of his adult life. Intriguingly, Merton's approach to this question changed dramatically a few years before he died in 1968. An examination of all aspects of his life yields evidence that Merton's immersion in Zen during this time contributed most to that change. The Passionate Intellect Norman Klassen, Jens Zimmermann, 2006-09-01. Too often Christian college students feel they must either downplay their faith or stick to a small circle of like-minded friends and organizations. Somewhere along the way, assumptions have taken root that intellectual university life and Christian faith cannot be synthesized. Klassen and Zimmermann assert that much is at stake for the young university student. A worldview takes a lasting shape and faith is usually discovered, deepened, or discarded during a collegiate journey. This new work is designed to give students, parents, and other interested readers a guide to the intellectual culture of the modern university and its contribution to society, helping them to realize the power of the university's influence and discover how to connect Christian belief to cutting-edge thinking. Constructing History Across the Norman Conquest Francesca Tinti, David A. Woodman, 2022. An investigation into the hugely significant works produced by the Worcester Foundation at a period of turmoil and change. From the mid eleventh to the mid twelfth century, Worcester was a monastic community of unparalleled importance. Not only was it home to many of the most famous bishops and monks of the period, including Bishop Wulfstan II, it was also a centre of notable and ambitious scholarly production. Under Wulfstan's guidance, a number of Worcester brethren undertook historical research that resulted in the writing of such renowned texts as Hemming's Cartulary and the Worcester Chronica. Significantly, these historical endeavours spanned the political chasm of the Norman Conquest. The essays collected here aim to shed new light on different aspects of the Worcester historical workshop, whose literary output was in several respects pioneering in contemporary European scholarship. Several chapters address the different ways in which the monks organised and updated their archives of documents, both via their sequence of cartularies, with a special focus on the narrative parts of Hemming's Cartulary, and via an interesting and previously unedited prose account of the foundation of the see. Others focus on the famous Worcester Chronica, attributed both to Florence and to John, investigating the major model for its composition and structure, the work of Marianus Scotus, the stages in which it was completed, and its connections with Welsh chronicles, as well as the related and fascinating abbreviated version written mostly in the hand of John himself and known as the Chronicula. The volume thus elucidates how the Worcester monks navigated the period across the Conquest through the composition of different genres of texts and how these texts shaped their own institutional memory. The Practice and Politics of Reading, 650-1500 Daniel G. Donoghue, Daniel Donoghue, James Simpson, Nicholas Watson, Anna Wilson, 2022. A new look at how reading was practised and represented in England from the seventh century to the beginnings of the print era, finding many kinships between reading cultures across the medieval longue durée. Even as it transforms human cultures, routines, attention spans, and the wiring of our brains, the media revolution of the last few decades also urges a reconsideration of the long history of reading The essays in this volume take a new look at how reading was practised and represented in England from the seventh century to the beginnings of the print era using texts from Aldhelm to Malory and Wynkyn de Worde arguing that whether unpicking intricate Latin contemplating image texts or participating in semiotically rich public rituals reading cultivated and energized the subject's values perceptions and attitudes to the world Part I Practices of Reading asks how writers scribes and artists engaged readerly attention through textual layout poetic form hermeneutic difficulty or images while Part II Politics of Reading explores how different textual communities manipulated the anxieties and opportunities for education moral improvement or entertainment associated with reading particular topics addressed include Bible translation and exegesis page layout literary form and readerly practice fiction hermeneutics and performance Although it understands reading as culturally and technologically localized the book finds many kinships between reading cultures across the medieval longue durée and the literatures and literacies that proliferate today Contributors Amy Appleford Michelle De Groot Daniel Donoghue Andrew James Johnston Andrew Kraebel Katherine O'Brien O'Keeffe Catherine Sanok Samantha Katz Seal James Simpson Emily V Thornbury Kathleen Tonry Kathryn Mogk Wagner Nicholas Watson Erica Weaver Anna Wilson

The Making of a Medieval Bestseller Judah D. Galinsky, 2025-05-21 In 1277 Rabbi Isaac of Corbeil produced a concise work of accessible religious law This handbook Amudei Golah Pillars of Exile began as a list of religious commandments mitzvot meant to be recited weekly It was divided into seven pillars drawn primarily from the limbs of the human body and its activities heart hand mouth monetary transactions etc and dealt exclusively with laws relevant to Jews living in the Diaspora in medieval times This handbook of religious law written in Hebrew became the most widespread book of its kind during the late Middle Ages within the various French and German speaking Jewish communities known as Ashkenaz Nearly two hundred medieval copies of the work are found in public libraries and private collections today an astounding number for a Hebrew work at the time In The Making of a Medieval Bestseller Judah Galinsky approaches his study in three parts The first surveys the ideological and cultural reasons that Rabbi Isaac composed the work and describes how the book evolved over time The second part traces the book's impressive circulation and analyzes the various reasons behind the book's success suggesting that readers who were outside the scholarly class may have been key to the work's popularity In the third part Galinsky addresses the readers themselves who ordered copies of the work from a scribe Galinsky discerns the cultural profile of the patrons who commissioned the codex by paying attention to the books they requested to have copied alongside it or its fellow travelers This study is a history of a medieval bestseller It describes how it came into being grew and evolved and also charts its circulation explains its unique appeal and depicts its readers

Medieval Readings of Romans William S. Campbell, Peter S. Hawkins, Brenda Deen Schildgen, 2007-11-15 This sixth volume of the Romans through History and Culture series consists of 14 contributions by North American and European medievalists and Pauline scholars who discuss significant readings of Romans through the twelfth and thirteenth centuries to the eve of the Reformation The commentaries of Abelard William of St Thierry Thomas Aquinas and Nicolas of Lyra and the wider influence of Romans as reflected in the letters of Heloise and the works of Dante demonstrate the reception of Romans at this period Starting with an introduction inviting the reader to into the biblical environment of the Middle Ages and suggesting the varied ways in which Paul was understood in both high clerical culture and among the people it also offers a summary of the work done by each of the authors This volume attests the dominant role of scripture in communal life and witnesses to the pervasive influence of Paul s letter to the Romans in the flourishing discussions on Scripture and theology

Furey, 2017-06-05 What is the relationship between our isolated and our social selves between aloneness and interconnection Constance M Furey probes this question through a suggestive literary tradition early Protestant poems in which a single speaker describes a solitary search for God As Furey demonstrates John Donne George Herbert Anne Bradstreet and others describe inner lives that are surprisingly crowded teeming with human as well as divine companions The same early modern writers who bequeathed to us the modern distinction between self and society reveal here a different way of thinking about selfhood altogether For them she argues the self is neither alone nor universally connected but is forever interactive and dynamically constituted by specific relationships By means of an analysis equally attentive to theological ideas social conventions and poetic form Furey reveals how poets who understand introspection as a relational act and poetry itself as a form ideally suited to crafting a relational self offer us new ways of thinking about selfhood today and a resource for reimagining both secular and religious ways of being in the world
