Longing For The End:

Longing for the End Frederic J. Baumgartner, 1999 Jonestown Waco and Heaven s Gate resonate deeply in contemporary America while Munster Masada or Mount Tabor were no less potent for their eras as long as 1900 years ago All were movements that believed the endtime was close and their members had to act through violence or suicide to ensure that it happened Longing for the End explores the long often violent history of millennialism as it has affected Western civilization From the ancient Zoroastrians to the Concerned Christians of 1998 a belief in the imminent end of the present world and coming of the new age has motivated hundreds of sects and cults some of which burned out in an orgy of violence while others endured as did Christianity itself to become a permanent part of Western society Millennialism has also been part of the motivation behind the Crusades Columbus s voyages Marxism and the Third Reich In this work Baumgartner shows why the year 2000 has so powerful a place in the Western imagination philologists and scholars of Armenia The essays in this volume examine the current state of research enhance our understanding of Methodius with valuable new information and open up new research perspectives The Retrieval of Ethics Talbot Brewer, 2011-04-21 Talbot Brewer presents an invigorating new approach to ethical theory in the context of human selfhood and agency The first main theme of the book is that contemporary ethical theorists have focused too narrowly on actions and the discrete episodes of deliberation through which we choose them and that the subject matter of the field looks quite different if one looks instead at unfolding activities and the continuous forms of evaluative awareness that carry them forward and that constitute an essential element of those activities The second is that ethical reflection is itself a centrally important life activity and that philosophical ethics is an extension of this practical activity rather than a merely theoretical reflection upon it Brewer's approach is founded on a far reaching reconsideration of the notions of the nature and sources of human agency and particularly of the way in which practical thinking gives shape to activities relationships and lives He contests the usual understanding of the relationship between philosophical psychology and ethics The Retrieval of Ethics shows the need for a new contemplative vision of the point or value of human action without which we will remain unable to make optimal sense of our efforts to unify our lives around a tenable conception of how best to live them or of the yearnings that draw us to our ideals and to each other Nicholas of Cusa.
