Justice Nicholas Wolterstorff,2010-05-02 Wide ranging and ambitious Justice combines moral philosophy and Christian ethics to develop an important theory of rights and of justice as grounded in rights Nicholas Wolterstorff discusses what it is to have a right and he locates rights in the respect due the worth of the rights holder After contending that socially conferred rights require the existence of natural rights he argues that no secular account of natural human rights is successful he offers instead a theistic account Wolterstorff prefaces his systematic account of justice as grounded in rights with an exploration of the common claim that rights talk is inherently individualistic and possessive He demonstrates that the idea of natural rights originated neither in the Enlightenment nor in the individualistic philosophy of the late Middle Ages but was already employed by the canon lawyers of the twelfth century He traces our intuitions about rights and justice back even further to Hebrew and Christian scriptures After extensively discussing justice in the Old Testament and the New he goes on to show why ancient Greek and Roman philosophy could not serve as a framework for a theory of rights Connecting rights and wrongs to God s relationship with humankind Justice not only offers a rich and compelling philosophical account of justice but also makes an important contribution to overcoming the

God's Wounds: Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering, Volume One Jeff B. Pool, 2009-01-01 This book constitutes the first volume of a three volume study of Christian testimonies to divine suffering God's Wounds: Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering Divine Vulnerability and Creation This study first develops an approach to interpreting the contested claims about the suffering of God Thus the larger study focuses its inquiry into the testimonies to divine suffering themselves seeking to allow the voices that attest to divine suffering to speak freely to discover and elucidate the internal logic or rationality of this family of testimonies rather than defending these attestations against the dominant claims of classical Christian theism that have historically sought to eliminate such language altogether from Christian discourse about the nature and life of God Through this approach this volume of studies into the Christian symbol of divine suffering then investigates the two major presuppositions that the larger family of testimonies to divine suffering normally hold an understanding of God through the primary metaphor of love God is love and an understanding of the human as created in the image of God with a life though finite analogous to the divine life the imago Dei as love When fully elaborated these presuppositions reveal the conditions of possibility for divine suffering and divine vulnerability with respect to creation
