Geophysical Hazards Tom Beer, 2010-06-25 The International Year of Planet Earth IYPE was established as a means of raising worldwide public and political awareness of the vast though frequently under used potential the Earth Sciences possess for improving the quality of life of the peoples of the world and safeguarding Earth's rich and diverse environments. The International Year project was jointly initiated in 2000 by the International Union of Geological Sciences IUGS and the Earth Science Division of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organisation UNESCO. IUGS which is a Non Governmental Organisation and UNESCO an Inter Governmental Organisation already shared a long record of productive cooperation in the natural sciences and their application to societal problems including the International Geoscience Programme IGCP now in its fourth decade. With its main goals of raising public awareness of and enhancing research in the Earth sciences on a global scale in both the developed and less developed countries of the world two operational programmes were demanded. In 2002 and 2003 the Series Editors together with Dr Ted Nield and Dr Henk Schalke all four being core members of the Management Team at that time drew up outlines of a Science and an Outreach Programme. In 2005 following the UN proclamation of 2008 as the United Nations International Year of Planet Earth the Year grew into a triennium 2007-2009.

Lake Urmia Peygham Ghaffari, Evgeniy V. Yakushev, 2023-09-21 This book provides a holistic review of the environmental status of Lake Urmia in terms of its hydrodynamic chemical and ecological properties. Lake Urmia is a shallow landlocked hypersaline water body located in the northwest part of Iran and it is known as one of the largest continental salt lakes in the world. Divided into 16 chapters the book gathers leading experts from various scientific disciplines and it covers past and current characteristics of the lake and traces projections on how the water quantity quality chemical and ecological state of Lake Urmia Basin can develop in the future. The book outcomes are based on the analyses of the data of observations and unique models that were elaborated for the Lake Urmia system development studies. Particular attention is given to the basin drought in response to anthropogenic drivers and environmental pressures such as climate variability and climate change and their impact on the aquatic environment. The impact of water conveyance on Lake Urmia to improve the physical chemical and biological natural state is also discussed in this book where an intensive and challenging observation plan in this harsh environment is combined with uniquely coupled and adopted hydrodynamical biogeochemical models. Given its scope the book offers an invaluable source of information for researchers students and environmental managers interested in the Lake Urmia environment.

Satellite Altimetry for Earth Sciences Frédéric Frappart, Ole Andersen, Sergey Lebedev, Guillaume Ramillien, 2019-04-09 Satellite altimetry is a radar technique for measuring the topography of the Earth's surface. It was initially designed for measuring the ocean's topography with reference to an ellipsoid and for the determination of the marine geoid. Satellite altimetry has provided extremely valuable information on ocean science e.g. circulation, surface geostrophic currents, eddy structures, wave heights and the propagation of oceanic Kelvin and Rossby waves. With more than 25 years of observations, it is also becoming vital to climate research, providing accurate measurements of sea level variations from regional to global scales. Altimetry has also demonstrated a strong potential for geophysical, cryospheric and hydrological research and is now commonly used for the monitoring of Arctic and Antarctic ice sheet topography and of terrestrial surface water levels. This book aims to present reviews and recent advances of general interest in the use of radar altimetry in Earth sciences. Manuscripts are related to any aspect of radar altimetry technique or geophysical applications. We also encourage manuscripts resulting from the application of new altimetric technology: SAR, SARin and Ka band and improvements expected from missions to be launched in the near future, i.e. SWOT.
