Prior Learning Assessment A Guidebook To American Institutional Practices:

Prior Learning Assessment Brian J. Zucker, Chantell C. Johnson, Thomas A. Flint, 1999 Assessment of Prior Learning Malcolm Day, 2002 Until now assessors have not had the material they need to guide them through the process of assessing prior learning Malcolm Day brings together the experience of specialists in this field from Canada the US and South Africa where this has been a major part of education since the 1970s This is an interactive text which helps develop anyone undertaking Assessment of Prior Learning in nursing allied health care and social care A glossary of vocabulary associated with prior learning assessment is included The Oxford Handbook of Reciprocal Adult Development and Learning Carol Hoare, 2011-09-06 One of the Best Books of 2011 from the Center for Optimal Adult Development The fields of adult development and the study of learning have traditionally been considered separate with development falling under psychology and learning under education However recent ideas research and practices that have emerged in these fields of study effectively emphasize the inherent reciprocal relationship that exists between them advances in development frequently lead to learning and conversely learning almost necessarily fuels development In this second edition of The Oxford Handbook of Reciprocal Adult Learning and Development the synchronicity between development and learning is explored further as expert authors advance the latest theories to provide a rich foundation for this new area of study and practice for this interrelated field of study At the border of two disciplines this handbook focuses on the capacities of intelligence meta cognition insight self efficacy spirituality interpersonal competence wisdom and other key adult attributes as they relate to positive changes and personal growth in adults Contexts for development and learning e g the work role and environment are also addressed and mixed in throughout the volume are emanating implications for research practice and policy What emerges is a thoughtful handbook for all who promote optimal aging and is a must read for academics psychologists and practitioners in adult development Portfolio Development and the Assessment of Prior Learning Elana Michelson, Alan Mandell, 2023-08-11 For over thirty years portfolios have been used to help adult learners gain recognition for their prior learning and take greater control of their educational experiences The portfolio has become a distinctive means of assessing such learning serving as a meaningful alternative to conventional papers and standardized testing Portfolio Development and the Assessment of Prior Learning Perspectives Models and Practices provides a primer of flexible approaches to shaping and conducting portfolio development courses It offers practitioners in the field an extensive range of model assignments readings and classroom activities each organized around a specific theme Academic Orientation The Meaning of Education Personal Exploration Learning from the Outsider Within The World of Work and Careers and Dimensions of Expertise Twelve case studies by practitioners in the field then show how academics in the US and around the English speaking world have adapted the portfolio to changing circumstances in order to deliver academically rich educational services for adults These case studies highlight portfolio development in the context of web based instruction changing institutional imperatives service to historically disenfranchised groups partnerships with industry and cross institutional cooperation In addition to serving as a valuable hands on resource for practitioners Portfolio Development and the Assessment of Prior Learning locates portfolios and assessment in a broad social and intellectual context Thus the authors also offer an historical overview of the usefulness of portfolios in the assessment of prior learning and then consider their use in the future given current trends in higher education for adults The book explores the implications of a changing educational landscape in which new student populations budgetary pressures and understandings of knowledge both enrich and challenge student centered approaches such as portfolios The approaches and case studies are not only valuable to adult educators but equally to faculty in higher education concerned with the development of competency and outcomes based assessment

Best Practices in Adult Learning ,2002 The Power of Technology for Learning Noah P. Barsky, Mike Clements, Jakob Ravn, Kelly Smith, 2008-09-17 In today's dynamic global business environment where knowledge is a main asset and learning becomes the most important process Business Education needs to employ the right practices to develop future leaders Businesses require graduates that become true experts But can business schools indeed create learning experiences that address the needs of the global marketplace Can they teach students to build learning organizations The articles in this volume detail successful approaches developed by business educators and researchers The approaches have been implemented to solve real problems and to provide students with the ethical and analytical abilities they will need to both compete and contribute to the betterment of others The thematic part of this volume focuses on the potential of interactive on line activities to promote business and economics education They demonstrate the benefits that learning technologies can bring and show how to overcome potential problem issues

A Collection of Papers on Self-study and Institutional Improvement, 2004 Higher Learning Commission. Meeting, 2004 How We Learn Knud Illeris, 2007-10-04 How We Learn deals with the fundamental issues of the processes of learning critically assessing different types of learning and obstacles to learning It also considers a broad range of other important questions in relation to learning such as modern research into learning and brain functions self perception motivation and competence development teaching intelligence and learning style learning in relation to gender and life age The book provides a comprehensive introduction to both traditional learning theory and the newest international research into learning processes while at the same time being an innovative contribution to a new and more holistic understanding of learning including discussion on school based learning net based learning workplace learning and educational politics How We Learn examines all the key factors that help to create a holistic understanding of what learning actually is and why and how learning and non learning take place It is also however a refreshing and thought provoking piece of scholarly work as it adds new research material new understandings and new points of view

Best Practices in Adult Learning Thomas A. Flint, 1999 Focus on Adults, 2001
American Book Publishing Record, 2000-07 Encyclopedia of Education: IEA-Lowenfeld James W. Guthrie, 2003
Meeting the Special Needs of Adult Students Deborah Kilgore, Penny J. Rice, 2003-06-27 In this volume we examine the ways student services professionals in institutions of higher education can best meet the needs of adult learners Most of the discussion here is situated in four year colleges and universities although we recognize that community colleges play a large role in the higher education of adults However we made the decision to focus on four year and post graduate institutions because we believe that these institutions often are focused on traditional aged students despite growing adult enrollments and are most in need of guidance about how to serve this ever growing population Students in higher education often are defined as adult learners or non traditional students if they are 25 twenty five years of age or older and more significantly if they have taken on what we consider adult roles and responsibilities such as caring for children and other family members working full time or participating heavily in community activities Adult students typically are not focused on campus life in the same way that younger traditional aged students are Therefore our theories of the importance of the campus experience outside the classroom to student development usually do not hold for adults Yet adults can and do learn and develop through their engagement in formal higher education Adults bring experiences and wisdom into the classroom and receive a learning experience that informs their own professional and personal practices This is the 102nd issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Student Services
