Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1966-06 The Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists is the premier public resource on scientific and technological developments that impact global security Founded by Manhattan Project Scientists the Bulletin s iconic Doomsday Clock stimulates solutions for a safer world Preparing Teachers for Social Change Babak Dadvand,Jo Lampert,Clare Brooks,2025-10-08 This book critically evaluates the dynamic landscape of teacher education on a global scale delving into its recent advancements innovations and emerging paradigms Recognizing the need to arm teachers with the capacity to address contemporary challenges the authors emphasize inventive approaches within teacher education that can foster the ability to confront problems such as unprecedented inequality resurgence of ultra right movements environmental crises and the interconnected dilemmas of today's world. By analysing the intricacies, strengths and limitations inherent in existing teacher education models, Dadvand, Lampert and Brooks and their contributors examine current frameworks and consider the potential and drawbacks in preparing educators to effectively tackle multifaceted challenges. The chapters focus on the opportunities and limitations presented by ongoing trends in Initial Teacher Education, particularly in relation to the most urgent issues of our time. This valuable resource for educators, policymakers and researchers is an essential read for anyone committed to fostering social justice and inclusive education and seeking to equip educators for the challenges of today's world.

Cultures and Languages Across the Curriculum in Higher Education India C. Plough, Weloré Tamboura, 2022-11-18. This richly interdisciplinary volume explores the goals and benefits of the Cultures and Languages Across the Curriculum (CLAC) programs by drawing together noteworthy insights from educators, administrators, researchers and students who have been directly involved in the CLAC programs at colleges and universities in the United States. Using autoethnographic methods, the authors analyze their personal experiences of CLAC to highlight best practices in establishing CLAC models and showcase ways to integrate languages and cultures into instruction and research across disciplines and contexts. Particular attention is given to the ways in which CLAC can support institutional internationalization and global objectives to enhance intercultural competence, world citizenship and social justice in the community. The book is separated into three sections with expertise from a wide range of culturally and linguistically diverse experts who represent different disciplines. Section I describes the development of new CLAC programs into existing institutional structures and provides the reader with first-hand accounts of the transformative impact of CLAC on individuals. Section II demonstrates the different collaborative forms that have been created between CLAC programs and various other disciplines, and Section III reflects on authors' experiences with disruptions to the power structures, hegemonic practices and ideological assumptions often embedded in education. This timely volume will be of interest to academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of Multicultural Education, Culture and Language Studies, Curriculum Studies and Higher Education. This book would also greatly appeal to graduate students and scholars in education development.
