Rethinking Modernity and National Identity in Turkey Sibel Bozdoğan, Resat Kasaba, 2011-11-15 In the first two decades after W W II social scientist heralded Turkey as an exemplar of a modernizing nation in the Western mold Images of unveiled women working next to clean shaven men healthy children in school uniforms and downtown Ankara s modern architecture all proclaimed the country s success Although Turkey s modernization began in the late Ottoman era the establishment of the secular nation state by Kemal Atatürk in 1923 marked the crystallization of an explicit elite driven project of modernity that took its inspiration exclusively from the West The essays in this book are the first attempt to examine the Turkish experiment with modernity from a broad interdisciplinary perspective encompassing the fields of history the social sciences the humanities architecture and urban planning As they examine both the Turkish project of modernity and its critics the contributors offer a fresh balanced understanding of dilemmas now facing not only Turkey but also many other parts of the Middle East and the world at large

Turkish Foreign Policy and Turkish Identity Yucel Bozdaglioglu, 2004-06-01 By using the core insights of the constructivist approach in International Relations this book analyzes the foreign policy behavior of Turkey It argues that throughout its modern history Turkey s foreign policy has been affected by its Western identity created in the years following the War of Independence The National Frame Banu Karaca, 2021-02-02 Based on long term ethnographic research in the art worlds of Istanbul and Berlin The National Frame rethinks the politics of art by focusing on the role of art in state governance It argues that artistic practices arts patronage and sponsorship collecting and curating art and the modalities of censorship continue to be refracted through the conceptual lens of the nation state despite the globalization of the arts By examining discussions of the civilizing function of art in Turkey and Germany and particularly moments in which art is seen to cede this function The National Frame reveals the histories of violence on which the production circulation and very understanding of art are predicated Karaca examines this darker side of art in two cities in which art and its institutions have been intertwined with symbolic and material dispossession The particularities of German and Turkish contexts both marked by attempts to claim modern nationhood through the arts illuminate how art is staked to memory and erasure resistance and restoration and why art has been at once vital and unwieldy for national projects As art continues to be called upon to engage the past and imagine different futures The National Frame explores how to reclaim art s emancipatory potential New Public Spheres Peter Thijssen, Walter Weyns, Sara Mels, 2016-04-29 The public sphere provides a domain of social life in which public opinion is expressed by means of rational discourse and debate Habermas linked its historical development to the coffee houses and journals in England Parisian salons and German reading clubs He described it as a bourgeois public sphere where private people come together and where they turn from a politically disempowered bourgeoisie into an effective political agent the public intellectual With communication networks being diversified and expanded over time the worldwide web has put pressure on traditional public spheres These new informal and horizontal networks shaped by the internet create new contexts in which an anonymous and dispersed public may gather in political e communities to reflect critically on societal issues These de centered modes of communication and influence seeking change the role of the traditional public intellectual and at first sight seem to make their contributions less influential What processes therefore influence changes within public spheres and how can intellectuals assert authority within them Should we speak of different types of intellectuals according to the different modes of public intellectual engagement This ground breaking volume gives a multi disciplinary account of the way in which public intellectuals have constructed their role and position in the public sphere in the past and how they try to voice public concerns and achieve authority again within those fragmented public spheres today Women and Cultural Citizenship in Turkey Solen Sanli, 2015-12-10 In 2005 a Turkish woman was shot dead by her son in an honour killing for appearing on a popular women s talk show on television The show invited ordinary women from lower socio economic classes to speak of their experiences of family life marriage divorce child custody rights and relations with in laws Here Solen Sanli examines the diversification of mass media in Turkey following liberalization in the 1980s Specifically looking at popular women s talk shows Woman s Voice Television she explores the way in which groups with political and cultural power control public discourse and the public sphere in Turkey and how urban rural and Islamist secular oppositions play out Sanli traces the development of mass media in Turkey particularly television and closely examining how narrations of violence against women are presented Women and Cultural Citizenship in Turkey contains rigorous topical and original insights relevant for a range of disciplines such as Anthropology Gender and Communication Studies as well as those researching cultural and political participation in the Middle East New Perspectives on Turkey-EU Relations Chris Rumford, 2014-10-29 This book makes the case for looking afresh at Turkey EU relations in order to appreciate the richness and complexity of a relationship which is now more than 50 years old and is still not close to reaching fulfilment The contributors challenge conventional attempts to understand Turkey EU relations revealing that EU integration studies has been rather poor at understanding the global context within which Turkey EU developments take place More surprising perhaps EU integration studies has also struggled to give sufficient weight to the potential of Turkey s domestic politics to shape EU enlargement The volume attempts to correct these imbalances by offering both a global context and new perspectives on the drivers of domestic politics It represents a shift from a narrow EU integration enlargement agenda Turkey s position vis a vis the EU cannot be adequately captured by simplistic notions of conditionality harmonization and an uncritical interpretation of Europeanization A more rounded view of Turkey EU relations is advanced based upon a broader context of European and global transformations The contributions collected here offer an interpretation of Turkey EU relations from a novel perspective utilize a new framework of theory and draw upon insights and perspectives from disciplines underrepresented in mainstream study of Turkey EU relations This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Contemporary European Studies
