Seeing Berger Peter Fuller,1981 In this incisive counter polemic Peter Fuller underlines what is most valuable in Berger's criticism while attacking the art ideologists who would negate the existence of any aesthetic experience He succinctly argues the case for a materialistic understanding of art and its value which moves beyond ideology and permits one to confront the masterpiece the work of art which breaks free from the norms of tradition and transcends its time back cover

An Analysis of John Berger's Ways of Seeing Emmanouil Kalkanis,2018-02-21 Ways of Seeing is a key art historical work that continues to provoke widespread debate It is comprised of seven different essays three of which are pictorial and the other containing texts and images Berger first examines the relationship between seeing and knowing discussing how our assumptions affect how we see a painting He moves on to consider the role of women in artwork particularly regarding the female nude The third essay deals with oil painting looking at the relationship between subjects and ownership Finally Berger addresses the idea of ownership in a consumerist society discussing the power of imagery in advertising with particular regards to photography

Seeing Berger: A Revaluation of Ways of Seeing ,1981      Abstraction in Post-War British Literature 1945-1980 Natalie Ferris,2022-03-29 In a catalogue note for the 1965 exhibition Between Poetry and Painting at the Institute of Contemporary Arts the poet Edwin Morgan probed the relationship between abstraction and literature Abstract painting can often satisfy but abstract poetry can only exist in inverted commas Language may be fragmented rearranged or distorted abstract in so far as it is withdrawn from a particular system of knowledge but Morgan was of the mind that to be wholly disruptive was to deprive a poem of its point as an object of contemplation Whilst abstract art may have come to fulfil or fortify an impression of post war taste abstraction in literature continued to be treated with suspicion But how does this speak to the extent to which Britain's literary culture was responsive to progress compared to its artistic culture Abstraction in Post War British Literature 1945 1980 traces a line of literary experimentation in post war British literature that was prompted by the aesthetic philosophical and theoretical demands of abstraction Spanning the period 1945 to 1980 it observes the ways in which certain aesthetic advancements initiated new forms of literary expression to posit a new genealogy of interdisciplinary practice in Britain At a time in which Britain became conscious of its evolving identity within an increasingly globalised context this study accounts for the range of Continental and Transatlantic influences in order to more accurately locate the networks at play Exploring the contributions made by individuals such as Herbert Read Ian Hamilton Finlay and Christine Brooke Rose as well as by groups of practitioners It brings a wide range of previously unexplored archival material into the public domain and offers a comprehensive account of the evolving status of abstraction across cultural institutional and literary contexts

The Iconography of Landscape Denis Cosgrove,Stephen Daniels,1988 This book first published in 1988 draws together fourteen scholars from diverse disciplines to explicate the status of landscape as a cultural image provides us with is black letters on white pages yet while we read we do not have the impression that we are merely perceiving abstract characters. Instead we see the protagonists before our inner eye and hear their voices. Descriptions of sumptuous meals make our mouths water; we feel physically repelled by depictions of violence or are aroused by the erotic details of sexual conquests. We submerge ourselves in the fictional world that no longer stays on the paper but comes to life in our imagination. Reading turns into an out of the body experience or rather an in another body experience for we perceive the portrayed world not only through the protagonist's eyes but also through his ears, nose, tongue, and skin. In other words, we move through the literary text as if through a virtual reality. How does literature achieve this trick? How does it turn mere letters into vividly experienced worlds? This study argues that techniques of sensuous writing contribute decisively to bringing the text to life in the reader's imagination. In detailed interpretations of British novels of the 1980s and 1990s by writers such as John Berger, John Banville, Salman Rushdie, Jeanette Winterson, or J. M. Coetzee, it uncovers literary strategies for turning the sensuous experience into words and for conveying it to the reader, demonstrating how we make sense in and of literature. Both readers interested in the contemporary novel and in the sensuousness of the reading experience will profit from this innovative study that not only analyses the interest of contemporary authors in the senses but also pinpoints literary entry points for the sensuous force of reading.

Archaeologies of Vision Gary Shapiro, 2003-05-15 While many acknowledge that Friedrich Nietzsche and Michel Foucault have redefined our notions of time and history, few recognize the crucial role that the infinite relation between seeing and saying plays in their work. Shapiro reveals the full extent of Nietzsche and Foucault's concern with the visual.

Arts TV John Albert Walker, 1993 From Monitor to The Late Show, British television programs featuring the visual arts are profiled here. The various types or genres of arts programs are identified, including review programs, strand series, drama, documentaries, and artists' profiles, and a chronological account of their evolution from 1936 to the 1990s is provided. Major series such as Civilization, Ways of Seeing, Shock of the New, State of the Art, and Relative Values are examined in detail.

Criticism, Art and Theory in 1970s Britain J. J. Charlesworth, 2024-03-12 A critical study of the life of art criticism in the 1970s, this volume traces the evolution of art and art criticism in a pivotal period in post-war British history. J. J. Charlesworth explores how art critics and the art press attempted to negotiate new developments in art faced with the challenges of conceptualism, alternative media, new social movements, and radical innovations in philosophy and theory. This is the first comprehensive study of the art press and art criticism in Britain during this pivotal period, seen through the lens of its art press, charting the arguments and ideas that would come to shape contemporary art as we know it today. This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, British cultural history, and history of journalism.

A Writer of Our Time Joshua Sperling, 2018-11-20 This engaging intellectual biography traces Berger's creative evolution, analyzes highlights from his vast output, and situates them within his empathetic Marxism. The New Yorker. The first intellectual biography of the life and work of John Berger. John Berger was one of the most influential thinkers and writers of postwar

Europe As a novelist he won the Booker prize in 1972 donating half his prize money to the Black Panthers As a TV presenter he changed the way we looked at art with Ways of Seeing As a storyteller and political activist he defended the rights and dignity of workers migrants and the oppressed around the world Far from dragging politics into art he wrote in 1953 art has dragged me into politics He remained a revolutionary up to his death in January 2017 Built around a series of watersheds at once personal and historical A Writer of Our Time traces Berger's development from his roots as a postwar art student and polemicist in the Cold War battles of 1950s London through the heady days of the 1960s when the revolutions were not only political but sexual and artistic to Berger's reinvention as a rural storyteller and the long hangover that followed the rise and fall of the New Left Drawing on first hand unpublished interviews and archival sources only recently made available Joshua Sperling digs beneath the moments of controversy to reveal a figure of remarkable complexity and resilience The portrait that emerges is of a cultural innovator as celebrated as he was often misunderstood and a writer increasingly driven as much by what he loved as by what he opposed A Writer of Our Time brings the many faces of John Berger together repatriating one of our great minds to the intellectual dramas of his and our time

John Berger Andy Merrifield, 2013-02-15 With a career in literature and art spanning more than sixty years John Berger is characterized by an independent and anti institutional approach to creativity Working in a range of media including novels painting essays and scriptwriting Berger's voice has resounded through mainstream and alternative culture alike He is perhaps best known for his seminal book of art criticism Ways of Seeing published in 1972 Tied directly into a four part BBC television series the book presented a radical new interpretation of Western cultural aesthetics In the same year Berger's experimental novel G was awarded the Man Booker Prize for Fiction cementing his reputation as a boundary pushing writer and thinker In this concise yet detailed study of Berger's life and work the first for decades Andy Merrifield sheds light on Berger the man the artist and the concerned citizen Merrifield shows Berger to be a figure who constantly strives to open up new horizons and also reveals the depth of feeling that infuses even his most intellectual work In this sense Berger is a creator who feels reality like the irrationalist Rousseau yet is also a meticulous realist probing objects critically and rationally like Spinoza John Berger stitches together art literature biography and politics into a lucid coherent whole The result is a reader friendly freewheeling narrative which gives fascinating insight into one of the most influential thinkers of our times The book is essential reading for students and scholars of art literature and twentieth century culture

Left Shift John A. Walker, 2001-12-21 John Walker brings to vivid life a neglected period in twentieth century art history He re creates a time when visual fine artists under the impact of left wing politics women's liberation and the gay movement were seeking to re establish a social purpose His story is one of a struggle for art by contending factions in the art world in which artists curators critics and organisations both establishment and alternative key exhibitions galleries and magazines all play a part He offers welcome insight into the work of the key players and the many forms they used to express radical engagement in the events of the decade

Studio International

,1984     Studio ,1984     Marxism and the History of Art Andrew Hemingway,2006-07-20 This book is the first comprehensive introduction to Marxist approaches to art history Although the aesthetic was a crucial part of Marx and Engels s thought they left no full statement on the arts Although there is an abundant scholarship on Marxist approaches to literature the historiography of the visual arts has been largely neglected This book encompasses a range of influential thinkers and historians including William Morris Mikhail Lifshits Frederick Antal Francis Klingender Max Raphael Meyer Schapiro Walter Benjamin Henri Lefebvre and Arnold Hauser It also addresses the heritage of the New Left In the spirit of Marxism the authors interpret the achievements and limitations of Marxist art history in relation to the historical and political circumstances of its production providing an indispensable introduction to contemporary radical practices in the field

Art, Design, Craft, Beauty and All Those Things... Donald Richardson,2023-08-18 Responding to many recent calls for redress and restitution Richardson summarises the historical and current situation and attributes its problematics to the fact that theorists and historians have taken the concept art as a generic that includes both design and craft which are actually and validly distinguishable from art by application of the concept functional or else ignored the two entirely Considering the conceptual he maintains calls into question the view that the three may be sub classes of the one class whereas in a work of art typically there is a resolution of the tension between form and content in works of design and craft the resolution is between form and function How this recognition can clarify the issue informs the entire book The book s other major thesis is the realisation that aesthetic values are inherently human and that therefore they apply not only to art but to life in general Far from being frivolous or a mere emotion the aesthetic is a sense of equivalent psychic status to sight and hearing and like them is employed at almost every moment of our daily lives which fact grounds art design and craft deeply in human life This is reflected in the universal use of the human form including the exhibition of sexual characteristics in art The eternal conflict between making art and making a living from making art is examined and contrasted to the rarely recognised but positive role of design in planning and industry Richardson also critiques common theories of representation and composition including creativity Albertian perspective and scientific and geometric theories of beauty and composition also the relevance of the camera and the computer in the field

The Radicalism Handbook John Button,1995 Contains over 350 biographies of political activists suffragists pacifists campaigners for civil human and gay rights etc

Aesthetics and the Sociology of Art Janet Wolff,2021-04-29 First published in 1983 Aesthetics and the Sociology of Art provides a lucid account of two divergent tendencies in the study of aesthetics At the one extreme traditional aestheticians have assumed that art and literature are wholly independent following only the laws and inspirations of artists and artistic movements and that the question of aesthetic value is accordingly unproblematic At the other extreme some sociologists have treated works of art as no more than manifestations of the socio economic circumstances which produce them arguing that aesthetic value is therefore entirely relative matter Janet Wolff shows how both the extreme positions are untenable and argues convincingly that we must accept that the conceptions and criteria of aesthetic value are socially constructed and inevitably ideological while stopping short of the reductionist alternative which fails to recognise the irreducible questions of pleasure and of aesthetic discourse This book provides an invaluable clear guide both to old debates and to otherwise obscure modern controversies which will be welcomed both by students and scholars in the sociology of art in aesthetics in art history and in literary criticism

Masterplots II.: Sha-Z Frank Northern Magill, 1989 A digest of plots and critiques of 318 twentieth century nonfiction works in the areas of autobiography memoirs philosophy anthropology psychology and other subjects for the non specialist reader Publisher's catalog

The Education of Desire Harvey J. Kaye, 1992 Kaye addresses the much debated question of the role of intellectuals in the making of history and social change and insists upon the necessity of continuing to ask classical and fundamental Marxist questions about exploitation oppression and struggle
