The Gateway of Understanding Carl A. Wickland, Kessinger Publishing is the place to find hundreds of thousands of rare and hard to find books with something of interest for everyone

Integral Education Sean Esbjörn-Hargens, Jonathan Reams, Olen Gunnlaugson, 2010-08-01 The educational challenges being faced today are driving us toward a new step in the evolution of educational theory and practice Educators are called to go beyond simply presenting alternatives to integrating the best of mainstream and alternative approaches and taking them to the next level Integral Education accomplishes this by bringing together leading researchers and practitioners from higher education who are actively exploring the frontiers of education from an integral perspective It presents an overview of the emerging landscape of integral education from a variety of theoretical and applied perspectives Key characteristics of integral education include exploring multiple perspectives employing different pedagogical techniques e g reflective dialogical empirical combining conceptual rigor with embodied experience drawing on developmental psychology and cultivating a reflective and transformative space for students and teachers alike Integral Education provides the most comprehensive synopsis of this exciting new approach and serves as a valuable resource for any integral effort within education

The True Christian Religion Emanuel Swedenborg, 1883

Postformal Education Jennifer M. Gidley, 2016-08-05 This book explains why the current education model which was developed in the 19th century to meet the needs of industrial expansion is obsolete It points to the need for a new approach to education designed to prepare young people for global uncertainty accelerating change and unprecedented complexity The book offers a new educational philosophy to awaken the creative big picture and long term thinking that will help equip students to face tomorrow's challenges Inside readers will find a dialogue between adult developmental psychology research on higher stages of reasoning and today's most evolved education research and practice This dialogue reveals surprising links between play and wisdom imagination and ecology holism and love The overwhelming issues of global climate crisis growing economic disparity and the youth mental health epidemic reveal how dramatically the current education model has failed students and educators This book raises a planet wide call to deeply question how we actually think and how we must educate It articulates a postformal education philosophy as a foundation for educational futures The book will appeal to educators educational philosophers pre service teacher educators educational and developmental psychologists and educational researchers including postgraduates with an interest in transformational educational theories designed for the complexity of the 21st century This is the most compelling book on education I have read for many years It has major implications for all who are in a position to influence developments in teacher education and educational policy Gidley is one of the very rare scholars who can write intelligently and accessibly about the past present and future in education I was challenged and ultimately convinced by her contention that what masquerades as education today must be seen for what it is an anachronistic relic of the industrial past Gidley's challenge is to co evolve a radically new education All who seek to play a part must read this book Brian J Caldwell PhD Educational Transformations former Dean of Education at the University of Melbourne and Deputy Chair Australian Curriculum Assessment and Reporting Authority ACARA Living Well in a World Worth Living in for All Kristin Elaine Reimer,Mervi Kaukko,Sally Windsor,Kathleen Mahon,Stephen Kemmis,2023-02-23 This open access book is the first of a two volume series focusing on how people are being enabled or constrained to live well in today s world and how to bring into reality a world worth living in for all The chapters offer unique narratives drawing on the perspectives of diverse groups such as asylum seeking and refugee youth in Australia Finland Norway and Scotland young climate activists in Finland Australian Aboriginal students parents and community members families of children who tube feed in Australia and international research students in Sweden The chapters reveal not just that different groups have different ideas about a world worth living in but also show that through their collaborative research initiative the authors and their research participants were bringing worlds like these into being The volume extends an invitation to readers and researchers in education and the social sciences to consider ways to foster education that realises transformed selves and transformed worlds the good for each person the good for humankind and the good for the community of life on the planet The book also includes theoretical chapters providing the background and rationale behind the notion of education as initiating people into living well in a world worth living in An introductory chapter discusses the origins of the concept and the phrase How I Used Truth H.
