Nature As Architect:

Architecture Follows Nature-Biomimetic Principles for Innovative Design Ilaria Mazzoleni, 2013-03-21 Applying Properties of Animals Skins to Inspire Architectural Envelopes Biology influences design projects in many ways the related discipline is known as biomimetics or biomimicry Using the animal kingdom as a source of inspiration Ilaria Mazzoleni seeks to instill a shift in thinking about the application of biological principles to design and architecture She focuses on the analysis of how organisms have adapted to different environments and translates the learned principles into the built environment To illustrate the methodology Mazzoleni draws inspiration from the diversity of animal coverings referred to broadly as skin and applies them to the design of building envelopes through a series of twelve case studies Skin is a complex organ that performs a multitude of functions namely it serves as a link between the body and the environment Similarly building envelopes act as interfaces between their inhabitants and external elements The resulting architectural designs illustrate an integrative methodology that allows architecture to follow nature Ilaria Mazzoleni in collaboration with biologist Shauna Price has developed a profound methodology for architectural and design incentives that anticipates and proposes novel ways to explore undiscovered biological inspirations for various audiences Yoseph Bar Cohen

Raw: Architectural Engagements with Nature Solveig Bøe,Hege Charlotte Faber,2016-04-08 Through cross disciplinary explorations of and engagements with nature as a forming part of architecture this volume sheds light on the concepts of both nature and architecture Nature is examined in a raw intermediary state where it is noticeable as nature despite but at the same time through man s effort at creating form This is done by approaching nature from the perspective of architecture understood not only as concrete buildings but as a fundamental human way both of being in and relating to the world Man finds and forms places where life may take place Consequently architecture may be understood as ranging from the simple mark on the ground and primitive enclosure to the contemporary megalopolis Nature inheres in many aesthetic forms of expression In architecture however nature emerges with a particular power and clarity which makes architecture a raw kind of art Even though other forms of art as well as aesthetic phenomena outside the arts are addressed the analogy to architecture will be evident and important Thus by using the concept of raw as a focal point this book provides new approaches to architecture in a broad sense as well as other aesthetic and artistic practices and will be of interest to readers from different fields of the arts and humanities spanning from philosophy and theology to history of art architecture and music Beauty. The Architect Francesca Hughes,1996 The Architect Reconstructing Her Practice examines how the introduction of women to the main body of architecture might bring about a reconstruction of the orders that pervade architectural production and consumption At a moment when the architectural profession is beginning to shift from its traditionally male domination The Architect Reconstructing Her Practice examines how the introduction of women to the main body of architecture might bring about a reconstruction of the orders that pervade architectural production and consumption In a collection of autobiographical essays in which practice is both the site and the vehicle for change twelve American and European architects reflect on the nature of critical practice and its relation to architecture The contributors were chosen not only for the distinguished quality of their work but also for the range of architectural practices they collectively encompass from the intersection of theory and philosophy to the intersection of building process and industry Together they present a compelling and provocative critique of architectural culture All show a willingness to transgress the various mediums and territories of architecture to recover and reopen certain discussions lost in the architectural discourse they have inherited
