

What does the Programmed Offer

The focal point is to promote a caring and relaxed environment for each child in the group whilst providing an educational program presented in an enjoyable and informal manner, the programmed has been developed to provide a balance of indoor and outdoor activities that a child may choose to participate in. It is designed to stimulate and provide for the development of each child's social, cultural, physical, emotional, intellectual, language and creative potential.

Portfolio

Portfolio activities are planned each week. All children are encouraged to participate. All work completed by the children is placed in a folder and given to you at the end of the year as a keepsake. It is a wonderful display of their progress over the year.

Themes

Each programmed is run over a fortnight and has a theme. The theme is incorporated into the programmed to encourage discussion about the different topics.

Parent Roster

Parents are encouraged to participate in the programmed by volunteering time to assist in the class. Parents help by preparing morning or afternoon tea and assisting with activities.

also includes;

Home Corner, Puzzles and Books, Story and Language, Art Activities, Outdoor Activities, Music and Songs, Snack Time, Folds

Activities, Activities developed to help promote the children's emotional, physical, social and intellectual needs.

Session Times

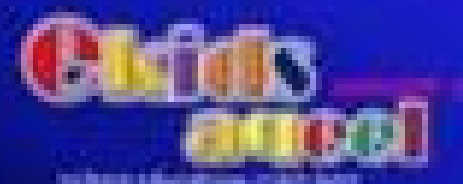

The children attend two sessions a week, one morning and one afternoon session. The study operates during school terms only.

Morning session: 9am to 11:15am

Afternoon session: 2:15pm to 4:30pm

A Handbook for Wellbeing Policy-Making Paul Frijters, Christian Krekel, 2021-05-27 This is an open access title It is available to read and download as a free PDF version on the Oxford Academic platform It is made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 International licence Around the world governments are starting to directly measure the subjective wellbeing of their citizens and to use it for policy evaluation and appraisal What would happen if a country were to move from using GDP to using subjective wellbeing as the primary metric for measuring economic and societal progress Would policy priorities change Would we continue to care about economic growth What role would different government institutions play in such a scenario And most importantly how could this be implemented in daily practice for example in policy evaluations and appraisals of government analysts or in political agenda setting at the top level This volume provides answers to these questions from a conceptual to technical level by showing how direct measures of subjective wellbeing can be used for policy evaluation and appraisal either complementary in the short run or even entirely in the long run It gives a brief history of the idea that governments should care about the happiness of their citizens provides theories makes suggestions for direct measurement derives technical standards and makes suggestions on how to conduct wellbeing cost effectiveness and cost benefit analyses and gives examples of how real world policy evaluations and appraisals would change if they were based on subjective wellbeing In doing so it serves the growing interest of governments as well as non governmental and international organisations in how to put subjective wellbeing metrics into policy practice FCC Record United States.
