Overcoming Apartheid:

Overcoming Apartheid James L. Gibson, 2004-04-15 Perhaps no country in history has so directly and thoroughly confronted its past in an effort to shape its future as has South Africa Working from the belief that understanding the past will help build a more peaceful and democratic future South Africa has made a concerted institutionalized effort to come to grips with its history of apartheid through its Truth and Reconciliation Commission In Overcoming Apartheid James L Gibson provides the first systematic assessment of whether South Africa's truth and reconciliation process has been successful Has the process allowed South Africa to let go of its painful past and move on Or has it exacerbated racial tensions by revisiting painful human rights violations and granting amnesty to their perpetrators Overcoming Apartheid reports on the largest and most comprehensive study of post apartheid attitudes in South Africa to date involving a representative sample of all major racial ethnic and linguistic groups Grounding his analysis of truth in theories of collective memory Gibson discovers that the process has been most successful in creating a common understanding of the nature of apartheid His analysis then demonstrates how this common understanding is helping to foster reconciliation as defined by the acceptance of basic principles of human rights and political tolerance rejection of racial prejudice and acceptance of the institutions of a new political order Gibson identifies key elements in the process such as acknowledging shared responsibility for atrocities of the past that are essential if reconciliation is to move forward He concludes that without the truth and reconciliation process the prospects for a reconciled democratic South Africa would diminish considerably Gibson also speculates about whether the South African experience provides any lessons for other countries around the globe trying to overcome their repressive pasts A groundbreaking work of social science research Overcoming Apartheid is also a primer for utilizing innovative conceptual and methodological tools in analyzing truth processes throughout the world It is sure to be a valuable resource for political scientists social scientists group relations theorists and students of transitional justice and human rights

Overcoming Apartheid James L. Gibson, 2004 Nelson Mandela and the End of Apartheid Ann Graham Gaines Rodriguez, 2015-12-15 Through accessible text a clear chronology and photos readers will discover how Nelson Mandela's personal struggles and great courage spurred the South African revolution that changed the way the world looked at Africa

The End of Apartheid in South Africa Liz Sonneborn, 2010 Describes the impact apartheid had on South African society and the emergence of the powerful protest movement that sought to combat it The Man Who Killed Apartheid: The Life of Dimitri Tsafendas Harris Dousemetzis, 2024-03-04 On 6 September 1966 inside the House of Assembly in Cape Town Dimitri Tsafendas stabbed to death Hendrik Verwoerd South Africa's Prime Minister and so called architect of apartheid Tsafendas was immediately arrested and before he had even been questioned by the authorities they declared him a madman without any political motive for the killing In the Cape Supreme Court Tsafendas was found unfit to stand trial on the grounds that he suffered from schizophrenia and that he had no political motive for killing Verwoerd Tsafendas spent the next 28 years in custody making him the longest serving detainee in South African history For most of his incarnation he was subjected to cruel and inhumane treatment by the prison authorities From 2009 to 2018 Harris Dousemetzis extensively researched the assassination of Verwoerd and the life of Tsafendas For this research he travelled to South Africa Mozambique Greece France and Turkey and interviewed about 150 people who either knew Tsafendas or Verwoerd or were involved with the case of the assassination He discovered about 12 000 pages of documents on the case most of them previously unpublished in archival collections in South Africa Portugal and the UK Dousemetzis collaborated with prominent South African jurists psychiatrists and psychologists and concluded his research by writing the Report to the Minister of Justice in the Matter of Dr Verwoerd s Assassination The report conclusively proved that Tsafendas had assassinated Verwoerd for political reasons and that the apartheid authorities had orchestrated a massive operation to declare him insane and apolitical This groundbreaking report and this book corrected the historical record regarding Verwoerd s assassination and Tsafendas The Man Who Killed Apartheid based on Dousemetzis s groundbreaking research chronicles in detail Tsafendas s life and conclusively demonstrates that he was a perfectly sane and deeply political person with a long history of political activism At the same time the book exposes the lie at the heart of apartheid s posture on the assassination of Hendrik Verwoerd and provides a rare picture of how the racist regime operated and what it was like to live and die under apartheid Confronting the Challenge Suzanne Mulligan,2010 This book examines some of the ways in which HIV AIDS is affecting South African society Catholic theological responses have focused extensively on the implications of HIV AIDS for the area of sexual ethics Although there are important questions to be answered here many more fundamental issues have been overlooked as a result This book responds to the need within Catholic theology for a greater examination of the injustices associated with the AIDS pandemic The author argues that the human rights challenges associated with poverty gender discrimination sexual violence and access to essential AIDS related health care are a crucial feature of the crisis The author turns to the social teaching of the Catholic Church for a fuller framework of analysis in this regard and provides a critical examination of that teaching s core concepts and principles The work of leading international economists Amartya Sen and Muhammad Yunus is explored as a means of relating the principles of Catholic social teaching to the concrete social and economic realities that exacerbate this global pandemic Apartheid and Anti-Apartheid in Western Europe Knud Andresen,Sebastian Justke,Detlef Siegfried,2020-12-12 This edited collection examines how Western European countries have responded and been influenced by the apartheid system in South Africa The debate surrounding apartheid in South Africa underwent a shift in the second half of the 20th century with long held positive racist European opinions of white South Africans slowly declining since decolonisation in the 1960s and the increase in the importance of human rights in international politics While previous studies have approached this question in the context of national histories more or less detached from each other this edited collection offers a broader insight into the transnational and entangled histories of Western European and South African societies The contributors use exemplary case studies to trace the change of perception covering a plurality of reactions in different societies and spheres from the political and social to the economic and cultural At the same time the collection emphasizes the interconnections of those reactions to what has been called the last overtly racist regime George Frederickson of the twentieth century expense of the poor migrants refugees Indigenous populations and people of color By drawing out how this new form of apartheid functions and pointing to areas of resistance Besteman opens up new space to theorize potential sources of liberatory politics Activism through Music during the Apartheid Era and Beyond Ambigay Yudkoff, 2021-06-24 Activism through Music during the Apartheid Era and Beyond documents the grassroots activism of Sharon Katz the Peace Train against the backdrop of enormous diversity and the volatile social and political climate in South Africa during the early 1990s Among the intersections of race healing and the soft power of music Katz offers a vision of the possibilities of national identity and belonging as South Africans grappled with the transition from apartheid to democracy Through extensive fieldwork across two countries South Africa and the United States and drawing on personal experiences as a South African of color Ambigay Yudkoff reveals a compelling narrative of multigenerational collaboration This experience creates a sense of community fostering relationships that develop through music travel performances and socialization In South Africa and the United States and recently in Cuba and Mexico the Peace Train s journey in musical activism provides a vehicle for racial integration and intercultural understanding Assessing the Impact of Transitional Justice Hugo Van der Merwe, Victoria Baxter, Audrey R. Prakash Sethi, Oliver F. Williams, 2012-12-06 religious values at the office door Apartheid was an evil and business had great power in South Africa Where there is power there is also responsibility I prayed about this long and hard I pushed the companies as much as I thought I could There were advances and there were setbacks but finally we prevailed and the Blacks of South Africa secured their freedom My effort in behalf of the Sullivan Principles was only one of a number of significant efforts of the anti apartheid movement All of those other efforts must be recognized as well The Sullivan Principles and the manner in which they were implemented in South Africa were in the nature of a grand experiment in the sociopolitical change and economic uplifting of the Black people of South Africa What is even more important is that the Principles were driven by an ethical and moral imperative and were voluntarily implemented by a group of enlightened United States multinational corporations No grand design or vision is ever perfect We fall prey to human follies limited understanding of the future and necessary compromises to seek not what is perfect but what is possible Thus any such effort is subject to criticism from those who seek ideological purity and those who seek to minimize the impact of change from the status quo Holidays in the Danger Zone Debbie Lisle, 2016-07-15 Holidays in the Danger Zone exposes the mundane and everyday interactions between two seemingly opposed worlds warfare and tourism Debbie Lisle shows how a tourist sensibility shapes the behavior of soldiers in war especially the experiences of Western military forces in exotic settings This includes not only R R but also how battlefields become landscapes of leisure and tourism She further explores how a military sensibility shapes the development of tourism in the postwar context from Dark Tourism engaging with displays of conflict and atrocity to exhibitions of conflict in museums and at memorial sites as well as advertising film journals guidebooks blogs and photography Focused on how war and tourism reinforce prevailing modes of domination Holidays in the Danger Zone critically examines the long historical arc of the war tourism nexus from nineteenth century imperialism to World War I and World War II from the Cold War to globalization and the War on Terror Routledge Handbook of Judicial Behavior Robert M. Howard, Kirk A. Randazzo, 2017-10-02 Interest in social science and empirical analyses of law courts and specifically the politics of judges has never been higher or more salient Consequently there is a strong need for theoretical work on the research that focuses on courts judges and the judicial process The Routledge Handbook of Judicial Behavior provides the most up to date examination of scholarship across the entire spectrum of judicial politics and behavior written by a combination of currently prominent scholars and the emergent next generation of researchers Unlike almost all other volumes this Handbook examines judicial behavior from both an American and Comparative perspective Part 1 provides a

Nelson Mandela Henry Freeman, 2019-05-20 A brief biography of an icon like Nelson Mandela is a difficult undertaking This offering is ideal for someone not from Africa who would like to know what motivated a man to give his life to a cause that would see him spend the most productive years of his life in jail Inside you will read about A boy in rural South Africa Egoli place of gold The African National Congress and the birth of an activist The Treason Trial Underground for the armed struggle The Soweto Uprising the beginning of the end Pollsmoor Prison a modern face but a primitive heart To understand this the reader must have an insight into the context of life in South Africa during the Apartheid era But they also need to know how the intense unbreakable bond between the leaders of the African National Congress was forged and the effect the reluctant decision to form the armed wing Umkhonto we Sizwe had on them The author has included references to and quotes from his autobiography Long Walk to Freedom which reveals some of Madiba s personal anguish

Statehood as Political Community Alex Green, 2024-02-22 Alex Green argues that states arise under contemporary international law only when two abstract conditions are fulfilled First emerging states must constitute genuine political communities collectives within which particular kinds of ethically valuable behaviour are possible Second such communities must emerge in a manner consistent with the ethical importance of individual political action This uniquely Grotian theory of state creation provides a clear legal framework comprising four factual antecedents and five procedural principles rendering the law of statehood both coherent and normatively attractive
