What Rhymes With Therapy? Dr. Jerry Bockoven, 2024-02-27 It is easy to get lost One minute you're hiking along a beautiful trail enjoying the wonders of nature and the next thing you know you have made a wrong turn and don't know where you are You look around for signs that will reorient you but no such signs appear It is then that your mind starts to panic and more than anything else in the world you long to be home again The outer world is only one place we can get lost The ever growing number of problems we are currently facing as a culture can put so much stress on us that we begin to lose the way that leads to emotional health and well being Some get lost in depression and anxiety where they are trapped in an emotional torture chamber Some wander into the dark forest of anger where they fight an unwinnable battle against the rest of the world Others get lost in the past as they grieve unthinkable losses and struggle to free themselves from the clutches of past traumas Still others lose their way in their relationships as those once cherished connections start to sour and grow bitter What Rhymes with Therapy is a road map for those times when we get lost and cannot find our way home Using the unique language of poetry What Rhymes with

Therapy describes the way emotional and relational problems work and how they can be successfully addressed Each poem is like a therapy session that offers insights and directions designed to make you strong and resilient in a time when the world's problems push to erode and weaken So if you are feeling the burden of being unable to find your way to the health and well being you want and need consider these poetic pathways as guides that lead back to the safety peace and health of home

Christian Couples Coping with Childlessness Auli Vahakangas, 2009-06-01 Children are the focus of marriage in African cultures Marriage is considered full and functional only if the couple has children in many cultures preferably a boy Becoming a parent also contributes to one's full adulthood in the sense that childlessness blocks ascent towards full personal dignity as an adult person in the community As a result childlessness is often a major disaster for both of the spouses It has social economical and personal consequences quite often including divorce This book explores in depth how childlessness is perceived dealt with and coped with in two Christian communities in Machame on the slopes of Mt Kilimanjaro Childlessness is approached through narratives of the spouses concerned and the members of their communities Their stories reveal pain and courage brokenness and strength faithfulness and betrayal Christianity presents itself in an ambiguous light on one hand pressuring spouses to keep up facades supporting oppressive structures On the other hand Christian faith provides childless couples with personal hope in the afterlife that the African traditional culture offers only to those with children This study proves that childlessness is not only a personal but also a communal problem Childlessness and the fear of having no children contribute to family structures and sexual behavior In this way they have a considerable impact on the spread of HIV AIDS in Africa However this study reveals that the attitudes and practices towards marriage and children need not be petrified but rather that traditions can and do change
