Oxford Addresses On Poetry:

Oxford Addresses on Poetry Robert Graves, 1968 Oxford Addresses on Poetry Robert von Ranke Graves, 1968 The Columbia Dictionary of Quotations Robert Andrews, 1993 Over 11 000 of these 18 000 quotations have never before appeared in a quotation book Chosen not for their familiarity but for their quality and their relevance in the 1990s these provocative quotations cover subjects from adolescence and adoption to yuppies and zoos Collected Writings on Poetry Robert Graves, 1995 Robert Graves was born on 24 July 1895 into a richly literary environment His father was a poet and a schools inspector He followed with firmer tread in his father's footsteps As a scholarship boy he went to Charterhouse and then to Oxford His course was interrupted by the First World War in which his poetry began to mature and in which he was famously reported slain in action in 1916 Shell shocked he went on to St John's Oxford There in 1918 his hugely prolific writing life began in earnest The Prophets and the Goddess Dionysios Psilopoulos, 2017-11-06 This text discusses how W B Yeats Aleister Crowley Ezra Pound and Robert Graves had access to the forbidden knowledge of the Goddess These four poets experienced a confrontation with their unconscious and let the grace of the Goddess touch their heart strings Consequently through this surrendering they created avant garde poetry and were inspired to write seditious manifestos that would teach humanity an esoteric creed This creed based on humans eternal divine essence aspires to liberate the eternal feminine These poets became the instruments of the Goddess As defenders of the Light they took arms against the forces of inertia and proclaimed the eleusis of a new faith This creed pledges to overthrow the anachronistic religious and social institutions and initiate a new world order and a new divinity based on the ancient rites of the Great Goddess No matter how disparate these four were in character they shared the vision of transmitting esoteric knowledge to profane humanity They were specifically chosen by the Goddess as Her troubadours and they pave Her way to the religious consciousness of the people The Great War in Irish Poetry Fran Brearton, 2003 The Great War in Irish Poetry explores the impact of the First World War on the work of W B Yeats Robert Graves and Louis MacNeice in the period 1914-45 and on three contemporary Northern Irish poets Derek Mahon Seamus Heaney and Michael Longley Its concern is to place their work and memory of the Great War in the context of Irish politics and culture in the twentieth century The historical background to Irish involvement in the Great War is explained as are the ways in which issues raised in 1912-20 still reverberate in the politics of remembrance in Northern Ireland particularly through such events as the Home Rule cause the loss of the Titanic the Battle of the Somme the Easter Rising While the Great War is perceived as central to English culture and its literature holds a privileged position in the English literary canon the centrality of the Great War to Irish writing has seldom been recognised This book shows first that despite complications in Irish domestic politics which led to the repression of memory of the Great War Irish poets have been drawn throughout the century to the events and images of 1914-18 This engagement is particularly true of those writing in the troubled Northern Ireland of the last thirty years The second main concern is the extent to which recognition of the importance of the Great War in Irish writing has itself become a casualty of competing versions of the literary canon The Sound Sense of Poetry Peter Robinson, 2018-09-13 Robinson explains how poetry makes things happen through the interaction of its chosen words and forms with the reader's responses Memory, Metaphors, and Meaning Nicolae Babuts, 2017-07-05 Literature explores the human condition the mystery of the world life and death as well as our relations with others and our desires and dreams It differs from science in its aims and methods but Babuts shows in other respects that literature has much common ground with science Both aim for an authentic version of truth To this end literature employs metaphors and it does so in a manner similar to that of scientific inquiry The cognitive view does not imply that there is a one to one correlation between the world and text that meaning belongs to the author or that literature is equivalent to perception What it does maintain is that meaning is crucially dependent on mnemonic initiatives and that without memory the world remains meaningless Nicolae Babuts claims that at the interface with the printed page readers process texts in a manner similar to the way they explain the visible world in segments or units of meaning or dynamic patterns Babuts argues that humans achieve recognition by integrating stimulus sequences with corresponding patterns that recognize and interpret each segment of a text Memory produces meaning from these patterns In harmony with its goals memory may adopt specific strategies to deal with different stimuli Dynamic patterns link the unit of processing with the unit of meaning In sum Babuts proposes that meaning is achieved through metaphors and narrative and that both are ways to reach cognitive goals This original study offers perspectives that will interest cognitive psychologists as well as those simply interested in the process through which literature stirs the human imagination
