Approaches to Specialised Discourse in Higher Education and Professional Contexts Alejandro Curado

Fuentes, Mercedes Rico García, Patricia Edwards Rokowski, 2009-03-26 Approaches to Specialised Discourse in Higher Education and Professional Contexts brings together a number of studies by various authors in the common field of languages for specific purposes LSP. This area faces a major challenging need to work with both specialised content and language a complex combination which can be discouraging to many a language teacher from a traditional philological background. In the introduction to this volume Dr Martin Hewings asks how these teachers as mere onlookers on specialist areas in higher education and the professions are successfully to teach students communication skills. The answer is most probably contained in no single approach or scope but rather in a multiple probing of methods aimed at the empirical observation and analysis of language use in the specific contexts in which they are housed. The studies presented herein illustrate such a multi fold scenario analysing and sharing significant findings on discourse across academic disciplines and professional areas. The authors not only evince the importance of the various methodologies adopted but also in their role as teachers and researchers demonstrate the significance of working as integrated members in the fields they teach. Clearly reflected in this volume is the natural adaptation of LSP research pushing beyond theory to filter into classroom developments and professional interactions. The fact that these papers have been selected from the fourth conference by the European Association of Languages for Specific Purposes AELFE held in Spain October 2005 indicates that the LSP community tends to look into the blend of practice and research as a key exponent for successful learning integration. Because the linguist is also the LSP practitioner or vice versa the enquiries that conduct these chapters are commonly addressed either implicitly or openly by students and teachers alike. For readers who would like to learn or know more about communicative strategies and methodological approaches in different specialisms this book may be a valuable resource.

Integrating Information and Communication Technologies in English for Specific Purposes Rosa Muñoz-Luna, Lidia Taillefer, 2017-11-07 This book fills the need for a text that integrates Information and Communication Technologies ICTs into English for Specific Purposes ESP. It offers insights on current methodological principles in ESP in both academic and professional contexts drawing on authentic teaching and learning situations and analyses best practice guidelines. Part I begins with ESP pedagogical principles and technological practice in order to focus on its two main branches English for Academic Purposes which includes linguistic skills and students needs and English for Occupational Purposes specifically looking at Business Medical and Translators courses. This book is a great resource for ESP researchers educators and students because it provides case studies of how ICTs can be used in English for multiple purposes. Authors present their experiences of integrating tools into their instructions with each chapter contributing unique pedagogical implications.
