

Positive Parenting

ZERO TO THREE
Early connections last a lifetime

Positive parenting describes a set of parental behaviors that foster a child's capacity to love, trust, explore and learn. The goal of positive parenting is to help parents guide their children's healthy development in the context of the family's culture. Key elements of positive parenting include the ability to:

Understand or imagine the child's point of view, especially during challenging moments.

Respond with interest and sensitivity to the child's cues.

Recognize that parenting can be stressful and missteps are a natural part of child-rearing.

Recognize and celebrate the child's strengths, abilities, and capacity to learn and develop.

Provide consistent, age-appropriate guidelines and limits for child behavior.

Work toward a balance of meeting parental needs and child needs.

Delight in moments of connection with the child.

Recognize and regulate their own feelings and behaviors before they respond to the child.

Seek help, support or additional information on parenting when needed.

We Must Take Charge! Chester E. Finn, Jr., 2008-06-30 According to leading education analyst Chester Finn a paradox lies at the heart of our educational trouble While Americans commonly acknowledge that public schools in general are a disaster polls consistently show that most parents teachers and administrators think their local schools and their own children are doing just fine The implications of this self congratulation are profound For if people believe their own schools and children are succeeding why should they feel compelled to change things Yet if we don t we will continue to watch the destruction of a system that already lacks accountability and quality control and is beset by a teaching profession compromised by bad ideas fads buck passing dubious theories and stodgy practices Finn proposes radical changes which he insists must be championed by all Americans if this atrophy is to be reversed First and most importantly he calls on us to reorganize education in relation to the results we want from it This means establishing a clearcut standard of intellectual achievement that we will oblige all of our schools to enforce and our children to meet To define this standard we will need to rebuild instruction around a national curriculum of core subjects history science geography math literature and writing And we must demand a more detailed flow of useful information including reliable testing about how our children are performing in relation to this standard Finn calls on us to give our children as much time as many options and as broad an array of resources as possible As he points out learning can take place as easily in July as it does in march as easily in a museum as it does in a classroom And if parents have choices in deciding which schools and programs best fit the needs of students they will have an added incentive in helping their children succeed He urges us to revitalize the means of delivering education from the bottom up by vesting as much authority as possible with educators in each individual school and holding them accountable for their performance For Finn the implementation of these radical measures is essential to produce not only a knowledgeable twenty first century work force that will keep our nation competitive but an informed and reasoning citizenry capable of participating fully in a democracy Challenging and candid this book will point the way for all those insisting on the best that our schools can offer

The Empowered Parent Beverly Maitland, 2013-06

In every corner of the world where there is a school, there is a struggling child. From Boston to Bangkok, from New York to the Netherlands, from the East Coast to the West Coast, students struggle in schools. In The Empowered Parent, author and parent-teacher Beverly Maitland shares six basic but powerful strategies to help your child succeed in school, one hour at a time. Beverly Maitland provides real family examples, guiding parents into a strategic and unique plan suitable for each family, no matter what circumstances surround their lives. Seeking to help children from birth through high school, she shares simple secrets that can empower parents to understand who they are as parents and what power they naturally have within them to value their responsibilities and to lead their children to a life of success beyond the classroom. Filled with techniques and usable information, The Empowered Parent communicates that every outstanding achievement may come with considerable sacrifice and difficult struggles in which the parent and the child must be equal participants. Even so, just one hour of consistency each day can turn your child away from the path of defeat and toward the mark of success
