One Party After Another Michael Crick, 2022-02-03 Enormously readable excellent Dominic Sandbrook Sunday Times A superb piece of thorough journalism David Aaronovitch The Times Nigel Farage is arguably one of the most influential British politicians of the 21st century His campaign to take the UK out of the EU began as a minority and extreme point of view but in June 2016 it became the official policy of the nation after a divisive referendum In Michael Crick's brilliant biography One Party After Another we find out how he did it despite never once managing to get elected to Parliament until 2024 Farage left public school at the age of 16 to go and work in the City but in the 1990s he was drawn into politics joining UKIP Ironically it was the electoral system for the European Parliament that gave him access to a platform and he was elected an MEP in 1999 His everyman persona combined with a natural ability as a maverick and outspoken performer on TV ensured that he garnered plenty of media attention His message resonated in ways that rattled the major parties especially the Conservatives and suddenly the UK's membership of the EU was up for debate Controversy was never far away with accusations of racism against the party and various scandals But having helped secure the referendum Farage was largely sidelined by the successful official Brexit campaign When Parliament struggled to find a way to leave Farage created the Brexit Party to ensure Britain did eventually leave the EU early in 2020 Crick's compelling study takes the reader into the heart of Farage's story assessing his methods uncovering remarkable hidden details and builds to an unmissable portrait of one of the most controversial characters in modern British politics

Millions, billions, trillions Catherine Buckle, 2014 Since February 2000 nothing has been normal or predictable about Zimbabwe but one thing has been constant and that is the shortwave radio broadcast at 7pm every night from London For the last thirteen years since the 19th December 2001 SW Radio Africa has been our nightly companion Through bouts of deliberate jamming and interference often by candle torch or firelight and with solar powered battery or wind up radios we have followed them as they have told our story for us been our voice to the world Many of us who have followed SW Radio Africa listened with tears in our eyes to their first broadcast thirteen years ago By that time we had been a country in deep crisis for 22 months farms were being violently grabbed every day people were on the run everywhere torture terror burning and looting were daily occurrences political violence was widespread and anyone involved or supporting opposition politics was in danger and under attack In the week before the first SW Radio Africa broadcast four men were brutally murdered in political violence their names and their sacrifice for Zimbabwe have not been forgotten Trymore Midzi Bindura Titus Nheya Karoi Milton Chambati Magunge and Laban Chiweta Bindura At the end of their first broadcast on the 19th December 2001 SW Radio Africa closed with a message sung by and for Zimbabweans hold on just a little bit longer We are still trying to hold on but it was with great sadness this week to hear SW Radio Africa make the announcement we so dreaded Station Manager Gerry Jackson said that their short wave radio broadcasts would end on Friday the 18th of July Gerry thanked Zimbabweans for being such loyal supporters for sharing their stories and bringing SW Radio Africa into their homes for thirteen years Zimbabwe will never forget SW Radio Africa or any of their staff whose voices have retold our horror stories lived with us through our anguish and cried with us at each inhumanity I have been proud to have had my letters from Zimbabwe read on SW Radio Africa for the last thirteen years it has been a humbling experience My second book containing an edited collection of those letters is now in print Millions billions trillions tells the story of Zimbabwe from 2005 to February 2009 It was a time of madness that most of us would rather forget but it is a part of us and of our history Publisher website Cross Stitch Favourites Christmas 2023 Magazines Global, Cross Stitch Favourites Christmas 2023
