Rhoda Broughton, 1872 Romans: A Social Identity Commentary William S. Campbell, 2023-01-26 William S. Campbell provides a comprehensive commentary on Paul's most challenging letter In conversation with reception history and previous scholarship he emphasizes the contextuality of Romans as a letter to Rome using social identity theory combined with historical literary and theological perspectives to arrive at a coherent reading of the entire letter Because Paul has never visited Rome and is not the founder of the Christ movement there Campbell argues that his guidance and teaching are formulated more cautiously than in his other letters Yet the long list of people who had previous links with him and his mission to the gentiles demonstrates that Paul is well informed about the situation in Rome and addresses issues that have arisen With Christ the Messianic Time is beginning but there was some lack of clarity in Rome about the implications of this for Jews and gentiles Rather than ethne in Christ replacing Israel as some in Rome possibly concluded Campbell stresses that Paul affirms the irrevocable calling of Israel and that simultaneously the identity of ethne in Christ is also called alongside the people Israel thus the integrity of the identity of both is affirmed as indispensable for God's purpose now revealed in Christ Campbell fully demonstrates how Paul in Romans achieves this by the social and theological intertwining of the message of the gospel The Sugarcreek Surprise Wanda E. importance of pneumatological themes for interpreting Paul's argument of Galatians Grant Buchanan explores how Paul draws from Jewish traditions of creation and the Spirit and presents a fresh cosmogony to the Galatian church He suggests that Galatians outlines an epistemological shift in how Paul sees past present and future reality in light of Christ and the presence of the Spirit in the lives of the believers The most crucial aspect of this new cosmogony is the centrality of the Spirit in Paul's argument in Galatians 3:1-6:17 with Buchanan's exegesis revealing that the Spirit the Galatians' identity as children of God and the new creation motif are not merely elements of Paul's argument but intrinsic to it Buchanan demonstrates that Paul renders Jewish and Gentile identities no longer valid instead revealing that God's favour and election is already with them by stating that those who have the promised Spirit are all children of God He examines Jewish biblical and Second Temple extra-biblical texts that explicitly connect the Spirit to creation themes including Genesis Ezekiel the Dead Sea Scrolls and the Wisdom of Solomon Taking Galatians 6:11-17 as the body closing of the letter the new creation motif directly implies the activity of the Spirit in the creation of Christian identity Analysing 6:15 from this pneumatological perspective Buchanan argues that the new creation motif represents a key aspect of Paul's generative cosmogony and pneumatology indicating a far broader socio-cosmic transformation than previously assumed and it becomes a key to understanding Paul's argument
