English Trade and Adventure to Russia in the Early Modern Era Maria Salomon Arel, 2019-04-25 In English Trade and Adventure to Russia in the Early Modern Era Maria Salomon Arel revisits Anglo Russian trade in first half of the seventeenth century Drawing on largely neglected Russian and English sources she reconstructs the history of the Muscovy Company in a period of expanding opportunities for foreigners in Russia and of tightening links between regional markets across the globe In her strongly revisionist telling the Company successfully rebuilt in the aftermath of the devastating Time of Troubles securing its uniquely privileged position in the Russian market at the hands of a newly installed tsar and Romanov dynasty keen to revive the country's decimated economy through the stimulus of foreign trade Meanwhile on the London end of a trade clearly deemed relevant to commercial and shipping interests increasingly dependent on Russian naval stores and invested in the Russian re-export trades to and from the Mediterranean and Asia the Company restructured its organization and finances with crucial royal support in furtherance of the public good and early Stuart dynastic honor As Arel documents by the 1630s 40s English trade to Russia was flourishing as seen in the growing number of Muscovy Company men active all along the Moscow Archangel route their substantial commercial infrastructure extensive supply networks among a broad swath of Russian merchants and traders and prominent role in the exploitation of monopoly trades established to fill the tsar's coffers with specie The picture drawn by Arel overturns a traditional narrative on the Russia trade that has relegated the English to the shadows demonstrating the tenacity and continued development of their enterprise at the intersection of English commercial expansion Russian economic growth and advancing globalization processes Taking the narrative even further the book opens up new perspectives and research directions by pointing to an incipient link between the Russian and transatlantic markets while shifting the lens on the Anglo Dutch relationship in the Russia trade away from the time worn dichotomy of cutthroat competition to a more nuanced understanding of mutual cooperation and business association between merchants on the ground even in the face of commercial and territorial competition between nations

The Clash of Cultures on the Medieval Baltic Frontier Alan V. Murray, 2016-12-05 The conversion of the lands on the southern and eastern shores of the Baltic Sea by Germans Danes and Swedes in the period from 1150 to 1400 represented the last great struggle between Christianity and paganism on the European continent but for the indigenous peoples of Finland Livonia Prussia Lithuania and Pomerania it was also a period of wider cultural conflict and transformation Along with the Christian faith came a new and foreign culture the German and Scandinavian languages of the crusaders and the Latin of their priests new names for places superior military technology and churches and fortifications built of stone For newly baptized populations the acceptance of Christianity encompassed major changes in the organization and practice of political religious and social life entailing the acceptance of government by alien elites of new cultic practices and of new obligations such as taxes tithes and military service in the armies of the Christian rulers At the same time as the Western conquerors carried their campaigns beyond pagan territory into the principalities of north western Russia the Baltic Crusades also developed into a struggle between Roman Catholicism and Orthodoxy This collection of sixteen essays by both established and younger scholars explores the theme of clash of cultures from a variety of perspectives discussing the nature and ideology of crusading in the medieval Baltic region the struggle between Catholicism and Orthodoxy and the cultural confrontation that accompanied the process of conversion in subjects as diverse as religious observation political structures the practice of warfare art and music and perceptions of the landscape Crusade and Conversion on the Baltic Frontier 1150-1500 Alan V. Murray, 2017-07-05 This volume represents a major contribution to the history of the Northern Crusades and the Christianization of the Baltic lands in the Middle Ages from the beginnings of the Catholic mission to the time of the Reformation The subjects treated range from discussions of the ideology and practice of crusade and conversion through studies of the motivation of the crusading countries Denmark Sweden and Germany and the effects of the crusades on the countries of the eastern Baltic coast Finland Estonia Livonia Prussia and Lithuania to analyses of the literature and historiography of the crusade It brings together essays from both established and younger scholars from the western tradition with those from the modern Baltic countries and Russia and presents in English some of the fruits of the first decade of historical scholarship and dialogue after the collapse of the Iron Curtain The depth of treatment diversity of approaches and accompanying bibliography of publications make this collection a major resource for the teaching of the Baltic Crusades Russian Nationalism Since 1856 Astrid S. Tuminez, 2000 This thoughtful book describes the range of nationalist ideas that have taken root in Russia since 1856 Drawing on a wide range of archival documents and unparalleled interview material from the post Soviet period Tuminez analyzes two cases _Russian panslavism in 1856 1878 and great power nationalism in 1905 1914_ when aggressive nationalist ideas clearly influenced Russian foreign policy and contributed to decisions to go to war Yet not all forms of nationalism have been malevolent and the author assesses competing nationalist ideologies in the post Soviet period to clarify the conditions under which a particularly belligerent nationalism could flourish and influence Russian international behavior Artbibliographies Modern , 1995 Abstracts of journal articles books essays exhibition catalogs dissertations and exhibition reviews The scope of ARTbibliographies Modern extends from artists and movements beginning with Impressionism in the late 19th century up to the most recent works and trends in the late 20th century Photography is covered from its invention in 1839 to the present A particular emphasis is placed upon adding new and lesser known artists and on the coverage of foreign language literature Approximately 13 000 new entries are added each year Published with title LOMA from 1969 1971      The Making of Holy Russia John Strickland,2013-09-01 This book is a critical study of the interaction between the Russian Church and society in the late 19th and early 20th century While other studies exist that draw attention to the voices in the Church typified as liberal in the years leading up to the Revolution this work introduces a wide range of conservative opinion that equally strove for spiritual renewal and the spread of the Gospel Grounded in original research conducted in the newly accessible libraries and archives of post Soviet Russia this study is intended to reveal the wider relevance of its topic to an ongoing discussion of the relationship between national or ethnic identities on the one hand and the self understanding of Orthodox Christianity as a universal and transformative faith on the other
