Press Presidents And Crises:

The Press, Presidents, and Crises Brigitte Lebens Nacos, 1990 Presidential Crisis Rhetoric and the Press in the Post-Cold War World Jim A. Kuypers, 1997-08-26 Kuypers combines rhetorical theory and framing analysis in an examination of the interaction of the press and the president during international crisis situations in the post Cold War world Three crises are examined Bosnia Haiti and the North Korean nuclear capability issue Kuypers effectively demonstrates the changed nature of presidential crisis rhetoric since the end of the Cold War Kuypers employs a new historical critical approach to analyze both the press and the Clinton administration s handling of three international crisis situations Using case studies of Bosnia Haiti and the alleged North Korean nuclear buildup in 1993 he examines contemporary presidential crisis communication and the agenda setting and agenda extension functions of the press The importance of this study lies in its timeliness President Clinton is the first atomic age president not to have the Cold War meta narrative to use in legitimating international crises Prior studies in presidential crisis rhetoric found that the president received broad and consistent support during times of crisis Kuypers found that the press often advanced an oppositional frame to that used by the Clinton administration The press frames were found to limit the options of the President even when the press supported a particular presidential strategy This is a major study that will be of interest to scholars and researchers of the press the modern presidency and American foreign policy Presidents in Crisis Michael Bohn, 2016-03-01 Every American president when faced with a crisis longs to take bold and decisive action When American lives or vital interests are at stake the public and especially the news media and political opponents expect aggressive leadership But contrary to the dramatizations of Hollywood rarely does a president have that option In Presidents in Crisis a former director of the Situation Room takes the reader inside the White House during seventeen grave international emergencies handled by the presidents from Truman to Obama from North Korea s invasion of South Korea to the revolutions of the Arab Spring and from the thirteen days of the Cuban Missile Crisis to the taking of American diplomats hostage in Iran and George W Bush s response to the attacks of September 11 2001 In narratives that convey the drama of unfolding events and the stakes of confrontation when a misstep can mean catastrophe he walks us step by step through each crisis Laying out the key players and personalities and the moral and political calculations that the leaders have had to make he provides a fascinating insider s look at modern presidential decision making and the fundamental role in it of human frailty Clash Jon Marshall, 2022-05 Clash describes the powerful political technological economic and social forces that shape the relationship between presidents and the press and how that relationship shapes public opinion Jon Marshall argues that the press now faces new threats and must grow stronger American democracy depends on it Terrorism and the Media Brigitte Lebens Nacos, 1994 Exploring the recent increase in anti American terrorism this updated study argues that terrorist groups are now exploiting the link between the media and public opinion polls particularly regarding the popularity of American presidents in order to publ When

Presidents Lie Eric Alterman, 2005-10 Assesses the impact of governmental and presidential lies on American culture revealing how such lies become ever more complex and how such deception creates problems far more serious than those lied about in the beginning

FDR and the News Media Betty Houchin Winfield, 1994 Power was at the heart of FDR's relationship with the media the power of the nation's chief executive to control his public messages versus the power of the free press to act as an independent watchdog over the president and the government This compelling study points to Roosevelt's consummate news management as a key to his political artistry and leadership legacy

Framing Terrorism Pippa Norris, Montague Kern, Marion Just, 2004-08-02 Framing Terrorism argues that the September 11 attacks precipitated a critical shift in the predominant news frame used by the US mass media for understanding issues of national security thereby altering perceptions of risk at home and abroad

Media and Democracy James Curran, 2011-03-31 Media and Democracy addresses key topics and themes in relation to democratic theory media and technology comparative media studies media and history and the evolution of media research For example How does TV entertainment contribute to the democratic life of society Why are Americans less informed about politics and international affairs than Europeans How should new communications technology and globalisation change our understanding of the democratic role of the media

What does the rise of international ezines reveal about the limits of the internet What is the future of journalism Does advertising influence the media Is American media independence from government a myth How have the media influenced the development of modern society Professor Curran s response to these questions provides both a clear introduction to media research written for university undergraduates studying in different countries and an innovative analysis written by one of the field s leading scholars
