African Novels in the Classroom Margaret Jean Hay, 2000 Many teachers of African studies have found novels to be effective assignments in courses In this guide teachers describe their favourite African novels drawn from all over the continent and share their experiences of using them in the classroom

How to Read African American Literature Aida Levy-Hussen, 2016-12-13 How to Read African American Literature offers a series of provocations to unsettle the predominant assumptions readers make when encountering post Civil Rights black fiction Foregrounding the large body of literature and criticism that grapples with legacies of the slave past Aida Levy Hussen s argument develops on two levels as a textual analysis of black historical fiction and as a critical examination of the reading practices that characterize the scholarship of our time Drawing on psychoanalysis memory studies and feminist and queer theory Levy Hussen examines how works by Toni Morrison David Bradley Octavia Butler Charles Johnson and others represent and mediate social injury and collective grief In the criticism that surrounds these novels she identifies two major interpretive approaches therapeutic reading premised on the assurance that literary confrontations with historical trauma will enable psychic healing in the present and prohibitive reading anchored in the belief that fictions of returning to the past are dangerous and to be avoided Levy Hussen argues that these norms have become overly restrictive standing in the way of a more supple method of interpretation that recognizes and attends to the indirect unexpected inconsistent and opaque workings of historical fantasy and desire Moving beyond the question of whether literature must heal or abandon historical wounds Levy Hussen proposes new ways to read African American literature now

The Oxford History of the Novel in English Simon Gikandi, 2016-09-05 Why did the novel take such a long time to emerge in the colonial world And what cultural work did it come to perform in societies where subjects were not free and modes of social organization diverged from the European cultural centers where the novel gained its form and audience Answering these questions and more Volume 11 The Novel in Africa and the Caribbean since 1950 explores the institutions of cultural production that exerted influence in late colonialism from missionary schools and metropolitan publishers to universities and small presses How these structures provoke and respond to the literary trends and social peculiarities of Africa and the Caribbean impacts not only the writing and reading of novels in those regions but also has a transformative effect on the novel as a global phenomenon Together the volume s 32 contributing experts tell a story about the close relationship between the novel and the project of decolonization and explore the multiple ways in which novels enable readers to imagine communities beyond their own and thus made this form of literature a compelling catalyst for cultural transformation The authors show that even as the novel grows in Africa and the Caribbean as a mark of the elites mastery of European form it becomes the essential instrument for critiquing colonialism and for articulating the new horizons of cultural nationalism Within this historical context the volume examines works by authors such as Chinua Achebe Nadine Gordimer George Lamming Jamaica Kincaid V S Naipaul Zoe Wicomb J M Coetzee and many others

The Rise of the African Novel Mukoma Wa Ngugi, 2018-03-27 The Rise of the African Novel is the first book to situate South African and African language literature of the late 1880s through the early 1940s in relation to the literature of decolonization that spanned the 1950s through the 1980s and the contemporary generation of established and emerging continental and diaspora African writers of international renown Calling it a major crisis in African literary criticism Mukoma Wa Ngugi considers key questions around the misreading of African literature Why did Chinua Achebe s generation privilege African literature in English despite the early South African example What are the costs of locating the start of Africa s literary tradition in the wrong literary and historical period What does it mean for the current generation of writers and scholars of African literature not to have an imaginative consciousness of their literary past While acknowledging the importance of Achebe s generation in the African literary tradition Mukoma Wa Ngugi challenges that narrowing of the identities and languages of the African novel and writer In restoring the missing foundational literary period to the African literary tradition he shows how early South African literature in both aesthetics and politics is in conversation with the literature of the African independence era and contemporary rooted transnational literatures This book will become a foundational text in African literary studies as it raises questions about the very nature of African literature and criticism It will be essential reading for scholars of African literary studies as well as general readers seeking a greater understanding of African literary history and the ways in which critical consensus can be manufactured and rewarded at the expense of a larger and historical literary tradition      Reading the African Novel Simon Gikandi,1987 Simon Gikandi provides critical analysis on the African novel      The Critical Imagination in African Literature Maik Nwosu,Obiwu,2015-06-09 In African studies the Echeruoan ideal is understood as an intervention or intellectual engagement characterized by a broadness of vision as well as a depth of analysis The essays gathered in this volume celebrate that ideal and honor Echeruo s contribution to the African intellectual tradition Editors Nwosu and Obiwu explore the driving forces in the literature of Africa and the African diaspora Contributors examine such themes as migration and exile trauma and repression violence and rebellion and gender and human rights Showcasing a rich diversity of cultural and academic backgrounds this volume inaugurates a new paradigm for further examination of African literature as world literature and for analysis of African literature through the lens of psychoanalytic semiotics While varied in modes of inquiry the essays are unified in their ambition to explore new theoretical directions reinvigorating the conversation around how African literature is read and studied      Contemporary African Literature in English M. Ethics and Human Rights in Anglophone African Women's Literature Chielozona Eze, 2016-12-14 This book proposes feminist empathy as a model of interpretation in the works of contemporary Anglophone African women writers. The African woman's body is often portrayed as having been disabled by the patriarchal and sexist structures of society. Returning to their bodies as a point of reference rather than the postcolonial ideology of empire, contemporary African women writers demand fairness and equality. By showing how this literature deploys imaginative shifts in perspective with women experiencing unfairness, injustice or oppression because of their gender, Chielozona Eze argues that by considering feminist empathy, discussions open up about how this literature directly addresses the systems that put them in disadvantaged positions. This book therefore engages a new ethical and human rights awareness in African literary and cultural discourses, highlighting the openness to reality that is compatible with African multi ethnic, multi racial and increasingly cosmopolitan communities.

Gender, African Philosophies, and Concepts Musa W. Dube, Telesia K. Musili, Sylvia Owusu-Ansah, 2024-03-29 This volume sets out to explore, propose and generate feminist theories based on African indigenous philosophies and concepts. It investigates specific philosophical and ethical concepts that emerge from African indigenous religions and considers their potential for providing feminist imagination for social justice oriented earth communities. The contributions examine African indigenous concepts such as Ubuntu, ancestorhood, trickster discourse, Mupo, Akwaaba, Tukumbeng, Eziko, storytelling and Ngozi. They look to deconstruct oppressive social categories of gender, class, ethnicity, race, colonialism, heteronormativity and anthropocentrism. The book will be of interest to scholars of religion, philosophy, gender studies and African studies.

alongside more familiar discussions of postcolonial politics Every chapter is an original research essay written by a broad spectrum of scholars with expertise in the subject providing an application of the most recent insights into analysis of particular topics or application of particular critical frameworks to one or more African literary works The handbook will be a valuable interdisciplinary resource for scholars and students of African literature African culture postcolonial literature and literary analysis Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

The African Novel and the Modernist Tradition David I. Ker, 1998 The African Novel and the Modernist Tradition challenges from a literary perspective the general thinking that what is European and American is uniquely different from what is African The book examines key African novels side by side with British and American modernist novels Through this comparative study it demonstrates the manner in which several African novelists have taken full advantage of the experimentation that modernism offers to tackle their own crisis of culture This study shows that African novelists clearly understand what modernism is and employ to advantage its consciousness of disorder despair and anarchy The African Novel and the Modernist Tradition is thus able to conclude that the African novel is part of a larger fictional universe
