idea of didactic art took on a new lease of life reaching a crescendo during the Terror This book analyses the contribution of the philosophes the Encyclopedists royal officials art critics and revolutionary leaders to the resurgence of the idea it also probes the peculiar psychological assumptions which led eighteenth century thinkers to believe in the efficacy of visual propaganda The outcome of this idea of art as an ideological weapon was involved in the fate of the Revolution itself yet it was also affected by certain curious tensions already evident in the minds of its advocates under the Old R gime Lingering interest in purely aesthetic values k affirmation of the need for creative freedom and determination to maintain French cultural hegemony all complicated the effort to turn art into a vehicle of civic instruction The final chapter examines the r le of these tensions in the d nouement of the idea in the closing phase of the Revolution This book should appeal not only to those interested in French civilization the age of Enlightenment and they French Revolution but to those concerned with the r le of art and the artist in modern society as well
