Henri Hubert

Nature Of Sacrifice:

On the Sacrifice of Christ; its nature, value, and efficacy: a discourse [on Heb. ix. 14] ... with enlargements, etc John Pye Smith, 1813 Sacrifice Godfrey Ashby, Godfrey William Ashby, 1988 Sacrifice was a language used by all but understood by none Regarding this remark as a challenge which suggests that while sacrifice is a language in the widest sense of communication nobody has understood sacrifice Professor Ashby has made his own study of this complex field It is his argument that much has been done in recent years to rehabilitate sacrifice including a greater knowledge of world religions the findings of anthropology and the impact of other cultures So the time has come for a major reappraisal of earlier ideas After an opening chapter on interpretations of sacrifice generally Professor Ashby considers sacrifice first in Hebrew religion and then in Christianity He goes on to focus even more specifically on the Jewish Passover and the Christian eucharist before concluding with the person in whom for Christians all ideas of sacrifice have their focus the crucified and risen Christ

McCoppin, 2016-10-25 This examination of the heroic journey in world mythology casts the protagonist as a personification of nature a botanical hero one might say who begins the quest in a metaphorical seed like state then sprouts into a period of verdant strength But the hero must face a mythic underworld where he or she contends with mortality and sacrifice embracing death as a part of life For centuries humans have sought superiority over nature yet the botanical hero finds nothing is lost by recognizing that one is merely a part of nature Instead a cyclical promise of continuous life is realized in which no element fully disappears and the hero's message is not to dwell on death Dictionary of Nature Myths Tamra Andrews, 2000 Comprehensive and cross referenced this informative volume is a rich introduction to the world of nature as experienced by ancient peoples around the globe 51 halftones A History of the Doctrine of the Holy Eucharist Darwell Stone, 1909
