Excerpt from Recollections of the Civil War With the Leaders at Washington and in the Field in the Sixties: It is proper to note the circumstance that the three years covered by Mr. Dana's Recollections as here recorded constitute the only term during which he held any public office and the only break in more than half a century of continuous experience in the making of newspapers. His connection with the Government during those momentous years is an episode in the story of a life that throbbed from boyhood to age with intellectual energy and was crowded with practical achievement.
