Reconstructing The Past:

Reconstructing the Past Alan Sorrell, 1981 Reconstructing Past Population Trends in Mediterranean Europe (3000 BC - AD 1800) John Bintliff, Kostas Sbonias, 2016-10-03 Archaeology of Populus Monograph in Archaeology of Mediterranean Landscapes Series Population trends and demographics in general are discussed through a variety of case studies based in Mediterranean Europe The range of archaeological techniques and methods of analysis includes regional field surveys artifact scatter analysis palaeoanthropology historical and documentary sources and studies of cemeteries The Reconstructed Past John H. Jameson, 2004 Collection of original articles that examines issues in reconstructing archaeological sites for the public both physically and virtually Visit our website for sample chapters Reconstructing the Past Keith Branigan, 1974 Reconstructing Ocean History Fatima Abrantes, Alan Mix, 2012-12-06 This volume is one outcome of the 6th International Conference on Paleoceanography ICP VI The conference was held August 23-28 1998 in Lisbon Portugal The meeting followed the traditional format of a small number of invited oral presentations complemented by a large number of contributed posters Over 550 participants attended representing thirty countries and nearly 450 posters were presented The invited speakers addressed the main themes of the 5 oral sessions The session topics were Polar Tropical and Interhemisphere Linkages Does the Ocean Cause or Respond to Abrupt Climatic Changes Biotic Responses to Major Paleoceanographic Changes Past Warm Climates and Innovations In Monitoring Ocean History This is the first time in ICP history that the Conference Proceedings are published The aim of the organisers with the publication of this book is two fold to provide a useful review of the field and to document the ideas controversies raised during the conference that may stimulate future work The book reflects the initial intentions of the conference but it is not a conventional conference proceedings given that the papers have been reviewed by formal external referees Each of the conference topics is introduced by a review article designed to summarize the state of the art in each theme followed by articles prepared by the invited speakers As with most conference proceedings each theme is covered heterogeneously Some topics have all the expected contributions others are less well covered EJISE Volume 15 Issue 1 , Structural Idealism Douglas Mann, 2006-01-01 Do we determine our actions or are our actions ruled by the structure of our society Does our culture create us or do we create our culture Within history and social theory there is a fundamental division of opinion between those who explain human action by considering the intentions reasons and motives of individuals and those who use broader social structures Structural Idealism presents a theory of social and historical explanation which argues that idealists such as Hegel who champion human agency and materialists such as Marx who support social structure have grasped but part of a larger truth The book contends that we have to explain human actions simultaneously by both the ideas human actors bring to a situation and the way in which previous actions have created social structures that condition those ideas Through this realization we can see how all forms of knowledge from the historical roots of modern philosophy to today's popular culture

both condition and are conditioned by structural ideals This book challenges our perception of how cultures and ideals are formed and shows that while structural ideals allow people to co operate as they work toward goals their own or those of their community these images of perfection so easily accepted as the unalterable structure of our society can be changed and are changed by individuals Structural Idealism asks us to think beneath the surface of our society and will be of special interest to philosophers sociologists historians and cultural theorists Reconstructing Earth's Climate History Kristen St. John,R. Mark Leckie,Kate Pound,Megan Jones,Lawrence Krissek,2021-06-25 Reconstructing Earth s Climate History There has never been a more critical time for students to understand the record of Earth s climate history as well as the relevance of that history to understanding Earth s present and likely future climate There also has never been a more critical time for students as well as the public at large to understand how we know as much as what we know in science This book addresses these needs by placing you the student at the center of learning In this book you will actively use inquiry based explorations of authentic scientific data to develop skills that are essential in all disciplines making observations developing and testing hypotheses reaching conclusions based on the available data recognizing and acknowledging uncertainty in scientific data and scientific conclusions and communicating your results to others The context for understanding global climate change today lies in the records of Earth s past as preserved in archives such as sediments and sedimentary rocks on land and on the seafloor as well as glacial ice corals speleothems and tree rings These archives have been studied for decades by geoscientists and paleoclimatologists Much like detectives these researchers work to reconstruct what happened in the past as well as when and how it happened based on the often incomplete and indirect records of those events preserved in these archives This book uses guided inquiry to build your knowledge of foundational concepts needed to interpret such archives Foundational concepts include interpreting the environmental meaning of sediment composition determining ages of geologic materials and events supported by a new section on radiometric dating and understanding the role of CO₂ in Earth s climate system among others Next this book provides the opportunity for you to apply your foundational knowledge to a collection of paleoclimate case studies The case studies consider long term climate trends climate cycles major and or abrupt episodes of global climate change and polar paleoclimates New sections on sea level change in the past and future climate change and life and climate change and civilization expand the book s examination of the causes and effects of Earth s climate history In using this book we hope you gain new knowledge new skills and greater confidence in making sense of the causes and consequences of climate change Our goal is that science becomes more accessible to you Enjoy the challenge and the reward of working with scientific data and results Reconstructing Earth s Climate History Second Edition is an essential purchase for geoscience students at a variety of levels studying paleoclimatology paleoceanography oceanography historical geology global change Quaternary science and Earth system science The Life of Language Jane H.
