Red Pedagogy Native American Social And Political Thought:

Red Pedagogy Sandy Grande,2004 This ground breaking text explores the intersection between dominant modes of critical educational theory and the socio political landscape of American Indian education The proposed new Red Pedagogy is an insurgent but poetic vision for education one that is dedicated to the principles of sovereignty emancipation and equity for all human beings and the rest of nature

Red Pedagogy Sandy Grande,2015-09-28 This ground breaking text explores the intersection between dominant modes of critical educational theory and the socio political landscape of American Indian education Grande asserts that with few exceptions the matters of Indigenous people and Indian education have been either largely ignored or indiscriminately absorbed within critical theories of education Furthermore American Indian scholars and educators have largely resisted engagement with critical educational theory tending to concentrate instead on the production of historical monographs ethnographic studies tribally centered curricula and site based research Such a focus stems from the fact that most American Indian scholars feel compelled to address the socio economic urgencies of their own communities against which engagement in abstract theory appears to be a luxury of the academic elite While the author acknowledges the dire need for practical community based research she maintains that the global encroachment on Indigenous lands resources cultures and communities points to the equally urgent need to develop transcendent theories of decolonization and to build broad based coalitions

Survivance, Sovereignty, and Story Lisa King, Rose Gubele, Joyce Rain Anderson, 2015-11-02 Focusing on the importance of discussions about sovereignty and of the diversity of Native American communities Survivance Sovereignty and Story offers a variety of ways to teach and write about indigenous North American rhetorics These essays introduce indigenous rhetorics framing both how and why they should be taught in US university writing classrooms Contributors promote understanding of American Indian rhetorical and literary texts and the cultures and contexts within which those texts are produced Chapters also supply resources for instructors promote cultural awareness offer suggestions for further research and provide examples of methods to incorporate American Indian texts into the classroom curriculum Survivance Sovereignty and Story provides a decolonized vision of what teaching rhetoric and writing can be and offers a foundation to talk about what rhetoric and pedagogical practice can mean when examined through American Indian and indigenous epistemologies and contemporary rhetorics

The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous Sociology Maggie Walter, Tahu Kukutai, Angela Gonzales, Robert Henry, 2023 The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous Sociology challenges the traditional way

that Indigenous Peoples and Societies are understood within the discipline It does so by bringing together 40 leading and emerging Indigenous scholars from across the CANZUS Countries to provide for the first time an authoritative state of the art survey of Indigenous sociological thinking These authors demonstrate that the Indigenous sociological voice is a new sociological paradigm and demonstrates a distinctively Indigenous methodological approach

Indigenous Children's Survivance in Public Schools Leilani Sabzalian, 2019-02-18 Indigenous Children's Survivance in Public Schools examines the cultural social and political terrain of Indigenous education by providing accounts of Indigenous students and educators creatively navigating the colonial dynamics within public schools Through a series of survivance stories the book surveys a range of educational issues including implementation of Native themed curriculum teachers attempts to support Native students in their classrooms and efforts to claim physical and cultural space in a school district among others As a collective these stories highlight the ways that colonization continues to shape Native students experiences in schools By documenting the nuanced intelligence courage artfulness and survivance of Native students families and educators the book counters deficit framings of Indigenous students The goal is also to develop educators anticolonial literacy so that teachers can counter colonialism and better support Indigenous students in public schools

The Black Shoals Tiffany Lethabo King, 2019-09-27 In The Black Shoals Tiffany Lethabo King uses the shoal an offshore geologic formation that is neither land nor sea as metaphor mode of critique and methodology to theorize the encounter between Black studies and Native studies King conceptualizes the shoal as a space where Black and Native literary traditions politics theory critique and art meet in productive shifting and contentious ways These interactions which often foreground Black and Native discourses of conquest and critiques of humanism offer alternative insights into understanding how slavery anti Blackness and Indigenous genocide structure white supremacy Among texts and topics King examines eighteenth century British mappings of humanness Nateness and Blackness Black feminist depictions of Black and Native erotics Black fungibility as a critique of discourses of labor exploitation and Black art that rewrites conceptions of the human In outlining the convergences and disjunctions between Black and Native thought and aesthetics King identifies the potential to create new epistemologies lines of critical inquiry and creative practices

Pedagogies for Teaching First-Generation College Students and the Dynamics of Globalized Classrooms Simon Mary Asele Ahiokhai, Matt Daily, Layla Garrigues, 2025-09-23 This book examines how higher education institutions positively enhance the learning experiences of first generation college students What systems in our communities and world are intentionally or unintentionally producing the realities of first generation identities and how can these be upended through a deliberate pedagogical turn With these questions in mind this book aims to highlight the relevant and dynamic pedagogical skills and tools that institutions can employ to address the demands of globality and difference in the classroom Challenging traditional deficit focused perspectives used to discuss first generation students the book highlights alternative strengths based support methods to improve the experiences and outcomes of first generation
