Red Strangers:

Red Strangers Christine Stephanie Nicholls, 2005 Kenya's forgotten history from its inception to independence in 1963

Red Strangers Elspeth Huxley, 2006-05-04 Growing up in Kenya in the early twentieth century the brothers Matu and Muthegi are raised according to customs that they are told have existed since the beginning of the world But when the red strangers come sunburned Europeans who seek to colonize their homeland the lives of the two Kikuyu tribesmen begin to change in dramatic new ways Soon their people are overwhelmed by unknown diseases that traditional magic seems powerless to control And as the strangers move across the land the tribe rapidly finds itself forced to obey foreign laws that seem at best bizarre and that at worst entirely contradict the Kikuyu's own ancient ways rituals and beliefs Transgressing Boundaries. Elizabeth F. Oldfield, 2013 Fictions written between 1939 and 2005 by indigenous and white post colonial women writers emerging from an African European cultural experience form the focus of this study Their voyages into the European diasporic space in Africa are important for conveying how African women's literature is situated in relation to colonialism Notwithstanding the centrality of African literature in the new postcolonial literatures in English the accomplishments of the indigenous writer Grace Ogot have been eclipsed by the critical attention given to her male counterparts while Elspeth Huxley Barbara Kimenye and Marjorie Oludhe Macgoye who are of Western cultural provenance but adopt an African perspective are not accommodated by the genre of expatriate literature The present study of both indigenous and white post colonial women's narratives that are common to both categories fills this gap Focused on the representation of gender identity culture and the Other the texts selected are set in Kenya and Uganda and a main concern is with the extent to which they are influenced by setting and intercultural influences The African woman's creation of textuality is at once the expression of female individualities and a transgression of boundaries The particular category of fiction for children as written by Kimenye and Macgoye reveals the configuration of a voice and identity for the female Other and writer which enables a subversive renegotiation of identity in the face of patriarchal traditions Red strangers, by elspeth huxley Elspeth Huxley, 1939 Strangers in African Societies William A. Shack, Elliott P. Skinner, 1979-01-01 The Obama Tribe Explorer, James Martin's Biography Mark Pullicino, 2016-10-28 The story of the adventurous life of James Martin who was the first Westerner to make contact with Barak Obama's Luo tribe in Kenya in 1883 Obama's grandfather's generation took advantage of the opportunities the white man brought Martin originally from Malta also founded Nairobi and explored East Africa just after David Livingstone had died He was ship wrecked twice and was the first white game hunter in Africa He spoke several East African languages and was well able to communicate with the locals which eventually led him to administer large areas for the British Government He achieved much despite being dyslexic and illiterate which make his achievements all the more notable His vulnerability and human qualities made him a well known character of his times His life work helps us understand early development and the times of East Africa and Zanzibar It explains the advantages Obama had which led to his success as becoming the first black US president Historicizing Colonial Nostalgia P. Lorcin,2011-12-15 Comparative study of the writings and strategies of European women in two colonies French Algeria and British Kenya during the twentieth century Its central theme is women s discursive contribution to the construction of colonial nostalgia

Black Caps and Red Feathers John Nkemngong Nkengasong,2010 In Black Caps and Red Feathers the reader is taken into Creature s subconscious on the garbage heap where he is tenant and where he recounts his multitudinous and gruesome experiences in Traourou s underground prisons Ancestral Earth set within a traditional African background indicts Akeumbin the king and custodian of the earth of Allehtendurih who is caught in the dilemma of stopping a plague caused by the reckless exploitation of the earth and showing affection for his fiftieth bride In compliance with the Princes of Earth the women who are the principal victims bring pressure to bear on the King who condescends to the urgency of appeasing the Ancestral Earth The common denominator in both plays is communal grudge against irresponsible leadership and its fallouts of indiscriminate victimisation that allow for the anticipation of a new or renewed consciousness Ethnicity and Empire in Kenya Myles Osborne,2014-08-29 This work analyses the ethnicity in Kenya over the past two hundred years focusing on the Kamba ethnic group that inhabits eastern Kenya

Flamingo Feather which Laurens van der Post dedicated to the fast vanishing Africa of his boyhood is a story of adventure adventure unfolded in the great tradition of story telling It is the tale of two white hunters one old experienced and wise one young and resolute who suspect that something evil is being prepared on a vast scale in their country and who with little to guide them set out to track down its source In the unfolding of their story the immense scene of bush forest jungle lake and mountain the untamed wildlife and vivid animal beings and the background mind and culture of the indigenous people in all their archaic reality are evoked as never before Indeed so deeply does the story draw on Laurens van der Post s knowledge of the country so directly does it touch on vital elements in African life that it carries the conviction of an authentic personal experience Africa itself lies at the heart of the story Africa as it has been and as it may yet become The Penguin
