Husband Amie Dockery,2004-10-07 God has given women a gift that is so woven into their nature that they approach everything from homes to husbands with the thought Wow I could do great things with that To see potential is a great good but the downside is the propensity to compare reality with the expectation This is especially harmful in marriage if a woman tries to show her husband his potential in all the wrong ways such as comparison or suggestions for change So how does a wife encourage her husband to become what God has placed within him to be It requires an understanding of her own need for repentance and restoration as well as working with the right team and the right tools The right team is God as architect Jesus as supplier and the Holy Spirit as builder The right tools include prayer declaration and action that bring restoration and that also reveal her own need to change Each chapter explores a case study of a biblical character s life an action that gained him authority an area of vulnerability and the most memorable moment this person wore the mantle Each chapter also includes a pattern for prayer questions from which a woman can build the blueprint for repentance restoration and declaration Personal application includes Putting Your Words to Work a written vision declaration and a Seal it with a Gift with practical ways to gently yet generously introduce revelation of a husband s skills and abilities through a tangible gift

Grief advice for women Cosima Weise, 2019-04-05. Women and grief. Death is always sudden. It rips people out of their usual routine and turns their life upside down from one second to the next. In death, it makes no difference whether the bereaved have been able to prepare themselves for the death of a loved one for some time or whether the news hits them suddenly and unexpectedly. When someone close to you dies, it always feels as though the rug has been pulled out from under your feet. Sure, it's certainly comforting if you've had enough time to talk to the deceased or resolve possible conflicts with them. But ultimately it doesn't matter whether you were able to prepare for your final goodbyes or if it happens out of the blue; there'll always be a gap and you need to learn to live with it. Grief is the natural response to such a loss and is as individual as us humans. Grief is shaped by the relationship you had with the deceased. And it also depends on just how close this relationship was. This short guide is a first quick aid on the path of grieving. My condolences and sympathy. Designing Your Life Mary Cook, 2012-09-05

Michelle Latiolais, 2011-02-01 BELIEVER BOOK AWARD FINALIST In prose shimmering with intelligence and compassion, Michelle Latiolais dissects the essentials of everyday life to find the heartbeat within. Alice Sebold, author of The Lovely Bones. Widow is a hymn to reverence, simultaneously heartbroken and celebratory. Michelle Latiolais has given us the rarest item: a splendidly articulated masterpiece. William Kittredge. In this luminous collection of stories, the gifted Michelle Latiolais writes of loss in all its surprising manifestations. Widow is a devastation and a wonder. Christine Schutt. There is something mysterious about this book; as there always is in the writing that matters most. It eludes explanation. It illumines terrifying realities. Only because these pages seem nakedly willing to take the imprint of every emotion, no matter how ugly, do they possess this great beauty. Elizabeth Tallent. The stories of Widow conjure the nuances of inner sensations as if hitting the notes of a song deftly played across human memory. These meditations bravely explore the physiology of grief through a masterful interweaving of tender insight and unflinching detail, reminding us that the inner life is best understood through the medium of storytelling. Among these stories of loss are interwoven other tales creating a bridge to the ineffable pleasures and follies of life before the catastrophe. Throughout this collection, Latiolais captures the longing, humor, and strange grace that accompany life's most transformative chapters. Michelle Latiolais is the author of Widow Stories, a New York Times Editor's Choice selection, and two previous novels, including A Proper Knowledge, also published by Bellevue Literary Press. She is the recipient of the Gold Medal for Fiction from the Commonwealth Club of California and an English professor and co-director of the Programs in Writing at the University of California at Irvine. Achieving a Good Death Chris
