Reel Latinxs Frederick Luis Aldama, Christopher González, 2019-09-24 Latinx representation in the popular imagination has infuriated and befuddled the Latinx community for decades. These misrepresentations and stereotypes soon became as American as apple pie. But these cardboard cutouts and examples of lazy storytelling could never embody the rich traditions and histories of Latinx peoples. Not seeing real Latinxs on TV and film reels as kids inspired the authors to dive deep into the world of mainstream television and film to uncover examples of representation good and bad. The result is a riveting ride through televisual and celluloid reels that make up mainstream culture. As pop culture experts Frederick Luis Aldama and Christopher González show, the way Latinx peoples have appeared and are still represented in mainstream TV and film narratives is as frustrating as it is illuminating. Stereotypes such as drug lords, petty criminals, buffoons, and sexed-up lovers have filled both small and silver screens and the minds of the public. Aldama and González blaze new paths through Latinx cultural phenomena that disrupt stereotypes, breathing complexity into real Latinx subjectivities and experiences. In this grand sleuthing sweep of Latinx representation in mainstream TV and film that continues to shape the imagination of U.S. society, these two Latinx pop culture authorities call us all to scholarly action.

Psychology at the Movies Skip Dine Young, 2012-03-14 Psychology at the Movies explores the insights to be gained by applying various psychological lenses to popular films, including cinematic depictions of human behavior, the psychology of filmmakers, and the impact of viewing movies. Uses the widest range of psychological approaches to explore movies, the people who make them, and the people who watch them. Written in an accessible style with vivid examples from a diverse group of popular films such as The Silence of the Lambs, The Wizard of Oz, Star Wars, Taxi Driver, Good Will Hunting, and A Beautiful Mind. Brings together psychology, film studies, mass communication, and cultural studies to provide an interdisciplinary perspective. Features an extensive bibliography for further exploration of various research fields.

Technology Innovations for Behavioral Education Mary Banks Gregerson, 2011-05-03 Behavioral and technological innovation has a special place in the future of graduate and medical education, both for students and for educators. A new multi-media pedagogy offers innovative techniques and technologies, drawing widely upon behavioral science. The psychology of multi-media education maximizes learning by involving many different sensory modalities. Although multi-media has long meant use of film and other electronic modality adjuncts like Powerpoint, newer technologies expand these horizons further. Now multi-media pedagogy means not only newer technologies but also newer and different education techniques. This book describes psychology innovation currently making educational settings competent and competitive. Student choice rules in education today. The technologically driven environment produces students whose preference is incumbent on electronic research means. Besides using these tools themselves, students thirst for multi-media pedagogy in the classroom, online, and on campus. It is therefore teachers who close the digital divide between generations in order to educate effectively. Approaches using new technologies and techniques have proven successful internationally with diverse audiences

Making Movies Black Thomas Cripps, 1993-05-20 This is the second volume of Thomas Cripps's definitive history of African Americans in Hollywood. It covers the period from World War II through the civil rights movement of the 1960s, examining this period through the prism of popular culture. Making Movies Black shows how movies anticipated and helped form America's changing ideas about race. Cripps contends that from the liberal rhetoric of the war years, marked as it was by the propaganda catchwords brotherhood and tolerance, came movies that defined a new African American presence both in film and in American society at large. He argues that the war years more than any previous era gave African American activists access to centers of cultural influence and power in both Washington and Hollywood. Among the results were an expanded black imagery on the screen during the war in combat movies such as Bataan, Crash Dive, and Sahara; musicals such as Stormy Weather and Cabin in the Sky; and government propaganda films such as The Negro Soldier and Wings for This Man, narrated by Ronald Reagan. After the war, the ideologies of both black activism and integrationism persisted, resulting in the message movie era of Pinky, Home of the Brave, and No Way Out, a form of racial politics that anticipated the goals of the Civil Rights Movement. Delving into previously inaccessible records of major Hollywood studios, among them Warner Bros., RKO, and 20th Century Fox, as well as records of the Office of War Information in the National Archives and records of the NAACP and interviews with survivors of the era, Cripps reveals the struggle of both lesser-known black filmmakers like Carlton Moss and major figures such as Sidney Poitier. More than a narrative history, Making Movies Black reaches beyond the screen itself with sixty photographs, many never before published, which illustrate the mood of the time. Revealing the social impact of the classical Hollywood film, Making Movies Black is the perfect book for those interested in the changing racial climate in post-World War II American life.

The Cinematic Mirror for Psychology and Life Coaching Mary Banks Gregerson, 2009-12-12 Cinema both reflects life and contours life; that is its psychological power. And for decades, clinicians and educators have recognized the value of this power, using it to respectively heal in therapy and educate in the classroom. The Cinematic Mirror for Psychology and Life Coaching mines the illustrative value of cinema, offering therapists and life coaches access to ideas that can motivate and enlighten clients. Although many movie guides exist, this volume complements the available literature by adding positive psychology, mental health, and wellness perspectives to the clinical/educational/coaching mix. The serious intent to cull from cinema its underlying psychological value has motivated noted clinicians, life coaches, and cultural critics to offer science-based analysis and intervention strategies. Readers may add their own movie insights and professional expertise to this rich foundation. The volume covers international as well as domestic cinema in a variety of genres, providing a range of film choices relevant to clients' lives. Beyond this, it expands on universal concepts of strengths, capabilities, and coping methods. Chapters in The Cinematic Mirror analyze how movies can create and relieve trauma, challenge Hollywood's portrayal of the American family, overview the use of movies to examine relationships in therapy, explore the acclaimed Up television cinema verite series as studies in personal growth and social change reinterprets images of disability in terms of positive psychology examines models or the lack thereof for the American adolescent rite of passage traces the history of mental illness stereotypes in film The collective wisdom found in The Cinematic Mirror for Psychology and Life Coaching will bring professionals involved in healing coaching counseling education and mentoring not only new applications but new appreciation for the transformative power of film That power already exists Readers just haveto SEE it My Religion: Reel or Real? Rev. To Change Reels Isabel Balseiro,Ntongela Masilela,2003 With the end of apartheid South African cinema is at a turning point in its history This collection offers an exploration of a film industry that has excluded its country's black majority in both representation and production and which now must overcome collusion between racist ideology and film form Until recently filmmakers could work only within a culture that reluctantly took black South Africans into account Therefore to explore what South African cinema has been and could become the authors do not limit their discussion to film production but approach cinema as a manifestation of cultural history How has the purpose of cinema been viewed at different times in South Africa by different governments and social groups What is the relation between film and a sense of nationhood in South Africa Such questions lead to a consideration not only of films made by South Africans in South Africa but also of an unfolding film culture within a series of stages that have yet to give rise to a national cinema

Popular Culture and Entertainment Media in Adult Education Elizabeth J. Tisdell,Patricia M. Thompson,2007-10-19 Popular culture and entertainment media create an environment that has an enormous influence on all of us We are constantly bombarded with messages that affect how we think consciously and unconsciously about ourselves others and the wider world This environment has far more power to educate or miseducate than all adult education programs combined simply because virtually everyone is immersed in it. Scholars and practitioners have paid relatively little attention to the role of popular culture in the field of adult education even though many educators of adults use it in their work to teach critical media literacy to discuss diversity and equity issues and to explore many aspects of adult development and learning. In this volume several practitioners illustrate and explain the ways in which they use popular culture in various adult education settings. This is the 113th volume of the Jossey-Bass quarterly report New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education.

The Anticolonial Front John Munro, 2017-09-21. This is a transnational history of the activist and intellectual network that connected the Black freedom struggle in the United States to liberation movements across the globe in the aftermath of World War II. John Munro charts the emergence of an anticolonial front within the postwar Black liberation movement comprising organisations such as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Council on African Affairs and the American Society for African Culture and leading figures such as W. E. B. Du Bois, Claudia Jones, Alphaeus Hunton, George Padmore, Richard Wright, Esther Cooper Jackson, Jack O'Dell and C. L. R. James. Drawing on a diverse array of personal papers, organisational records, novels, newspapers and scholarly literatures, the book follows the fortunes of this political formation recasting the Cold War in light of decolonisation and racial capitalism and the postwar history of the United States in light of global developments.

Dancing with Fire John Amodeo, 2013-06-15. Winner of the 2014 Silver Independent Publisher Book Award in the relationship category and winner of the Spirituality and Practice Award as one of the best spiritual books of 2013. The search for inner peace is often met with what seems like a conflicting path: the irresistible pull of love and connection with others to which we are drawn. Reconciling these opposites, John Amodeo shows how spirituality and vibrant relationships are identical. He says that Buddha's concept of the root of suffering is misunderstood. It is not desire that causes suffering; desire is the fire that springs from the basic life force. Drawing upon the science of attachment theory, Amodeo illuminates how the root of our suffering is disconnection from ourselves and others, which is fueled by clinging to what doesn't serve us. In a conversational tone, Amodeo presents relationship as sacred experience. He teaches how to welcome desire mindfully rather than suppress it and how to overcome fear of failure in relating. He also discusses meditation as self-intimacy and holding ourselves with loving kindness. Lastly, he explores the role of community in spiritual awakening and the issue of whom to trust: our guru or ourselves.

Virginia Marmaduke Cary O'Dell, 2002. Nicknamed 'The Duchess' by a tongue-tied editor early in her career, Virginia Marmaduke is the First Lady of Chicago print journalism. She was the first woman to cover both crime and sports for Windy City newspapers, be named by Mayor Daley Sr. to the Chicago Board of Health, be named Press Veteran of the Year by the Chicago Press Veterans Association and to be inducted into Chicago's Journalism Hall of Fame. First with the Chicago Sun, then the Sun Times and the Chicago Tribune, the Duchess's newspaper career ran parallel to the 20th Century. She covered, as she called it, blood, guts and sex, as well as presidents, natural disasters, women's issues and notably humanitarian causes.

This volume the first on the life and career of Virginia Marmaduke reprints many of the famous articles from her Chicago heyday Additionally it documents her childhood in Carbondale Illinois her first newspaper job and her return to Southern Illinois where she became a community booster humanitarian and beloved all Illinoisian
