In My Reflection Ameerah A. Rahman, 2011-04-19 This book is written to inspire people from all walks of life To bring love loss pain happiness empowerment and inspiration into light To share the power of words some words are a comfort to some and some words are revealing for others Words are extremely powerful and can cause so many emotions and actions This book is best described in this poem I keep trying to lay out all of my expressions and feelings without trying to be too revealing and with trying to be too concealing and as I pull back each layer of skin peelings another layer appears concealing my anger love and fears blood rolling over each pain even as the needle penetrates the vein the lines are not clear but the skin is left stained And a message is sent to the brain As its trying to push back the memories The lies I created In attempt to deceive Living in the world of make believe Even though I'm speaking its not truly describing the pain So I scream louder thing that you can now hear me but instead of it the words coming out clear In the air they are crisp sounds of despair heart needed to repair holding back words trying not to swear Not to ignite a fire Im not sure thats there Unsure if I should share If I could repair The damage that is done here concealed not revealed and not truly healed but Healing I pull back this layer of Skin and let You in Thick Skin Copyright 2010

Interpreting the Evolution of Atayal Tribal Textile Patterns Po Hsun Wang, Jie Li, 2025-07-02 This book elucidates findings from an anthropological study that analyzes the patterns of Taiwan s Atayal tribe s fabric in their ethnic dress codes By analyzing the changes and development of the patterns over time the authors draw fascinating conclusions regarding the geographical migration and intermarriage practices between indigenous minority groups in Taiwan s history The book brings new insights within East Asian linguistic anthropology in theorizing about the origins of legends and broader patterns of ethnic migration integrating the characteristics and relationships among Atayal fabrics and interpreting these relationships in connection with the flow of sub ethnic groups In doing so the book provides rich empirical evidence for anthropologists and migration scholars to better understand the movement of ethnic groups in Taiwan while also establishing a model for how studying textile design can be employed to establish such linkages. The book shows that the composition and changes of ethnic minority patterns have their own internal logic and causes. By studying this, the authors demonstrate how such work might translate intangible and tangible culture into explicit and shareable knowledge and provide a compass for other anthropologists and researchers in the fields of visual and linguistic anthropology, migration studies, and ethnic and indigenous cultures in Asia and beyond.

Participatory Learning and Action 50: Critical reflections, future directions Nicole Kenton, 2004

Beyond Women's Words Katrina Srigley, Stacey Zembrzycki, Franca Iacovetta, 2018-05-01

Beyond Women's Words unites feminist scholars, artists, and community activists working with the stories of women and other historically marginalized subjects to address the contributions and challenges of doing feminist oral history. Feminists who work with oral history methods want to tell stories that matter. They know too that the telling of those stories, the processes by which they are generated and recorded, and the different contexts in which they are shared and interpreted also matters a lot. Using Sherna Berger Gluck and Daphne Patai's classic text Women's Words as a platform to reflect on how feminisms broadly defined have influenced and continue to influence the wider field of oral history, this remarkable collection brings together an international, multi-generational, and multidisciplinary line-up of authors whose work highlights the great variety in understandings of and approaches to feminist oral histories. Through five thematic sections, the volume considers Indigenous modes of storytelling, feminism in diverse locales around the globe, different theoretical approaches, oral history as performance, digital oral history, and oral history as community engagement. Beyond Women's Words is ideal for students of oral history, anthropology, public history, women's and gender history, and Women's and Gender Studies, as well as activists, artists, and community-engaged practitioners.

Varieties of Ethical Reflection Michael Barnhart, 2002-01-01

Varieties of Ethical Reflection brings together new cultural and religious perspectives drawn from non-Western, primarily Asian, philosophical sources to globalize the contemporary discussion of theoretical and applied ethics. The work pushes ethics beyond a Western philosophical tradition tending toward universalism to infuse and broaden modern ethical theory with relativistic Asian ethical principles. The contributors introduce multicultural concepts and ideas from the Chinese, Taoist, Confucian, and Neo-Confucian, Indian, and East Asian Buddhist and Hindu traditions, focusing on such areas of moral controversy as the clash between women's rights and culture, universal human rights, abortion, and euthanasia in a non-Western setting, and the standardization of medical practice across cultures.

Reflections on Mind and the Image of Reality Jason Brown, 2017-05-24

This collection of brief essays and still briefer commentaries is a personal reflection on some topics that have been thematic in the development of my theoretical work. These essays are not meant to extend the theory into yet uncharted territory but rather to draw out some of its implications for clinical neuroscience, philosophy of mind and everyday life The point of view guiding these reflections can be found in prior works but the discerning reader will not fail to see a departure from current models of mind and brain based on circuit board diagrams modular and computational theories that conflict with a processual account in which the mind brain is more like a living organism This perspective which is often at odds with common sense and folk psychology has particular relevance to our concepts of the self the inner life subjective time adaptive process and the world represented in perception     The Broadview Anthology of Social and Political Thought: From Machiavelli to Nietzsche Andrew Bailey,Samantha Brennan,Will Kymlicka,Jacob T.
