Regardfully Yours Selected Correspondence Of Ferdinand Von Mueller 1840-1859 Regardfully Yours:

Electronic Publishing '01 Arved Hübler, Peter Linde, John W. T. Smith, 2001 An overview of the situation in electronic publishing and its interference between new digital technologies and the publishing and librarian applications Over 30 papers cover the research and application of electronic publishing The papers were presented at the 5th International Conference on Electronic Publishing held in Canterbury UK 2001 The papers cover such topics as models and experiences in infrastructure of publishing processes content management and integrated multimedia networking XML technologies navigation and user interaction with digital library systems      Collecting Ladies Penny Olsen, 2013 Around 1870 Ferdinand von Mueller the greatest Australian botanist of the nineteenth century began to advertise in several newspapers across Australia for lady plant collectors This was at a time when women typically had little recourse to science or contact with men outside their circle of friends making Mueller's network of ladies quite extraordinary Collecting Ladies profiles 14 of Mueller's coterie of women collectors Included are Fanny Charsley Louisa Atkinson Annie Walker and Ellis Rowan for whom Mueller made time to assist in pursuit of their own passions He identified the plants they painted and provided letters of introduction to publishers and scientists Together these ladies produced some of the most beautiful books and botanical art to come out of Australia in the nineteenth century covering all the Australian colonies      On the Origin of Species Charles Darwin, 2009-05-14 Charles Darwin's On the Origin of Species By Means of Natural Selection is both a key scientific work of research still read by scientists and a readable narrative that has had a cultural impact unmatched by any other scientific text First published in 1859 it has continued to sell to be reviewed and discussed attacked and defended The Origin is one of those books whose controversial reputation ensures that many who have never read it nevertheless have an opinion about it Jim Endersby's major scholarly edition debunks some of the myths that surround Darwin's book while providing a detailed examination of the contexts within which it was originally written published and read Endersby provides a very readable introduction to this classic text and a level of scholarly apparatus explanatory notes bibliography and appendixes that is unmatched by any other edition      Regardfully Yours Ferdinand von Mueller, Roderick Weir Home, 1998 Of German origin Ferdinand von Mueller migrated to Australia in 1847 Government Botanist of Victoria for 43 years until his death in 1896 he was Australia's greatest scientist of the 19th century a major contributor to international science an intrepid explorer of parts of Australia previously unknown to Europeans and a dominant figure in the scientific and intellectual life of his adopted country Throughout his working life Mueller kept up an enormous correspondence Large numbers of letters by or to him have been located scattered throughout the world and edited for publication These constitute a major new research tool for both Australian historians and historians of science They are also of fundamental importance to Australian taxonomic botany for Mueller introduced vast numbers of Australian plants to western science This first of three volumes of Mueller's selected correspondence covers his early life in Germany prior to his migration to Australia his years in South Australia and his first years as Government Botanist of Victoria This was the period during which Mueller undertook his major exploring expeditions in the southeast of the continent and in northern Australia and also took on the development of Melbourne's famed Botanic Garden The volume includes family and other letters from Mueller's youth and later correspondence both official and private documenting his formation as a scientist his building of links with scientists in other parts of the world his activities as an explorer and his role in the establishment of new scientific and cultural institutions in Australia during the hectic gold rush years

Imperial Nature Jim Endersby, 2020-05-21 Joseph Dalton Hooker 1817-1911 was an internationally renowned botanist a close friend and early supporter of Charles Darwin and one of the first and most successful British men of science to become a full time professional He was also Jim Endersby argues the perfect embodiment of Victorian science A vivid picture of the complex interrelationships of scientific work and scientific ideas Imperial Nature gracefully uses one individual's career to illustrate the changing world of science in the Victorian era By analyzing Hooker's career Endersby offers vivid insights into the everyday activities of nineteenth century naturalists considering matters as diverse as botanical illustration and microscopy classification and specimen transportation and storage to reveal what they actually did how they earned a living and what drove their scientific theories What emerges is a rare glimpse of Victorian scientific practices in action By focusing on science's material practices and one of its foremost practitioners Endersby ably links concerns about empire professionalism and philosophical practices to the forging of a nineteenth century scientific identity

Flora's Fieldworkers Ann Shteir, 2022-08-09 When Catharine Parr Traill came to Upper Canada in 1832 as a settler from England she brought along with her ties to British botanical culture Nonetheless when she arrived she encountered a new natural landscape and like other women chronicled in this book set out to advance the botanical knowledge of the time from the Canadian field Flora's Fieldworkers employs biography botanical data herbaria specimens archival sources letters institutional records book history and abundant artwork to reconstruct the ways in which women studied and understood plants in the nineteenth century It features figures ranging from elite women involved in imperial botanical projects in British North America to settler colonial women in Ontario and Australia most of whom were scarcely visible in the historical record who were active in plant work as collectors writers artists craft workers teachers and organizers Understood as an appropriate pastime for genteel ladies botany offered women pathways to scientific education financial autonomy and self expression The call for more diverse voices in the present must look to the past as well Bringing botany to historians and historians to botany Flora's Fieldworkers gathers compelling material about women in colonial and imperial Canada and Australia to take a new look at how we came to know what we know about plants

Empire and Environmental Anxiety J. Beattie, 2011-05-25 A new interpretation of imperialism and environmental change and the anxieties imperialism generated through environmental transformation and interaction with unknown landscapes Tying together South Asia and Australasia this book demonstrates how environmental anxieties led to increasing state resource management conservation and urban reform     Domestication of Radiata Pine Rowland Burdon, William Libby, Alan Brown, 2017-12-12 In nature radiata pine is very localised and an obscure tree species despite the romantic character of much of its natural habitat That obscure status and the lack of any reputation as a virgin timber slowed its due recognition as a commercial crop Nevertheless it has become a major plantation forest crop internationally It has become the pre eminent commercial forest species in New Zealand Chile and Australia with important plantings in some other countries It consequently features prominently in the international trade in forest products in addition to its importance in domestic markets of grower countries Very fast growth considerable site tolerances ease of raising in nurseries and transplanting and ease of processing and using its wood for a range of products and purposes have made it the utility softwood of choice almost everywhere it can be grown satisfactorily Abundant genetic variation and its amenability to other management inputs created special opportunities for its domestication The story of its domestication forms a classic case history in the development of modern commercial forestry with trailblazing in both genetic improvement and plantation management this inevitably meant a learning process that provided instructive lessons especially for tree breeders dealing with some other species Paradoxically the plantation monocultures have played and can continue to play an important role in protecting natural forests and other forms of biodiversity Given the attractions of growing radiata pine there were inevitably cases of overreach in planting it with lessons to be learnt Economic globalisation has meant globalisation of pests and disease organisms and the scale on which radiata pine is grown has meant is has been the focus of various biotic alarms none of which have proved catastrophic Temptations remain however to pay less than due attention to some aspects of risk management The chapter structure of the book is based on historical periods beginning long before any important human influences and ending with a look into what the future might hold for the species and its role in human and ecological sustainability Almost throughout there has been complex interplay between the technical aspects local social and economic factors various types of institution the enthusiasm and drive of some very influential individuals and tides of economic ideology threads that needed to be woven together to do the story justice

Respect for Authority Jean Dryden, 2018-10-24 Groundbreaking ideas in archival description and control Archival authority control is an often ambiguous label that embraces a potentially wide scope In this active and quickly evolving field new methods of clarification are essential for successful archive management The articles in Respect for Authority Authority Control Context Control and Archival Description offer an innovative approach by marking and exploring a clear distinction between conventional archival authority files and the broader concept of context control Intended to not only answer important questions but raise worthy new ones as well Respect for Authority Authority Control Context Control and Archival Description reveals striking new perspectives in managing archival description more effectively The engaging essays in this collection tackle key issues of archive authority control and offer sound proposals for advancing a new course Comprehensive in its approach this text takes an in depth look at both the International Standard for Archival Authority Records ISAAR and the American standard Describing Archives a Content Standard DACS and considers the place of authority control in these two standards for archival description In addition contributors offer practical answers to the thorny issue of identifying the boundaries of a records creating entity and present criteria for determining when a new entity is established International in scope this book presents groundbreaking case studies by archive professionals from Canada the United States Italy and Australia that document the successes of different institutional applications that describe the records creator first and then link this description to that of the records themselves Respect for Authority Authority Control Context Control and Archival Description also includes expert discussions of the role of standards the nature of archives and their relationships with their creators resources necessary to fully document contextualized content the power of provenance possibilities available through a trinity of descriptive entities records agents and functions the potential of provenance rediscovery in American repositories postmodern archive theory multiple provenance and the reconceptualization of archive context using ISAAR to document records creating environments challenges inherent in implementing series based systems of arrangement and description the National Archives and Records Administration NARA and the Archival Resource Catalog ARC digitizing and publishing registers and the development of the Online Heritage Resource Manager OHRM and many more Ideal for archive professionals manuscript librarians students and researchers of archival administration Respect for Authority Authority Control Context Control and Archival Description not only resolves important questions revealed by these new trends but opens new discussions of a major shift in descriptive practice
