Town Planning into the 21st Century Andy Blowers, Bob Evans, 2013-01-11 Provides a series of insights into the planning process introduces the key issues currently facing planning and offers prescriptions for the changes required as we move into the next millenium Leading experts outline the changing context for land use and environmental policy in Britain and explain why the existing processes and profession of town planning are likely to be unable to provide satisfactory policy responses in the future Key themes debated include widening the remit of traditional town planning giving land and buildings a community value acting for people rather than simply for the market promoting an equalization of environmental conditions and discouragement of motorization the need to anticipate long term global trends at the local and national level Contributors Andrew Blowers Bob Colenutt Richard Cowell Bob Evans Cliff Hague Peter Hall Susan Owens Eric Reade Yvonne Rydin

Harnessing the Bohemian Peter Skippington, 2016-12-13 Harnessing the Bohemian takes a fresh and interdisciplinary perspective on the intractable problem of shrinking populations and resources in remote rural communities It challenges the conventional wisdom of community development theories and practices and envisages more central roles for the creative disciplines in revitalising futures planning It argues that the evolution of technologies the emergence of creative economies the increasing demand for creative products and the emergence of new creative talent are continually changing community expectations and opportunities. Consequentially fresh arguments and new ideas must be developed to stimulate more creative and innovative approaches to community development. Recognising that creativity and innovation exist across all community sectors, this book proposes practical new approaches that harness the creative capital of all community stakeholders.

Poverty Street Lupton, Ruth, 2003-11-26. Poverty Street addresses one of the UK's major social policy concerns: the gap between the poorest neighbourhoods and the rest of the country. It is an account of neighbourhood decline, a portrait of conditions in the most disadvantaged areas, and an up-to-date analysis of the impact of the government's neighbourhood renewal policies. The book explores twelve of the most disadvantaged areas in England and Wales, from Newcastle in the north to Thanet in the south, providing the reader with a unique journey around the country's poverty map. It combines evidence from neighbourhood statistics, photographs, and the accounts of local people with analysis of broader social and economic trends, assesses the effect of government policies since 1997, and considers future prospects for reducing inequalities.

CASE Studies on Poverty Place and Policy series. Series Editor: John Hills, Director of CASE at the London School of Economics and Political Science. Drawing on the findings of the ESRC Centre for Analysis of Social Exclusion's extensive research programme into communities, poverty, and family life in Britain, this fascinating series provides a rich and detailed analysis of anti-poverty policy in action. It focuses on the individual and social factors that promote regeneration, recovery, and renewal. For other titles in this series, please follow the series link from the main catalogue page.

Poverty, Community and Health V. Cattell, 2011-10-27. If we are becoming increasingly disconnected from our local communities, are there implications for health, well-being, and happiness, particularly for people on low incomes? This book looks at the interplay between poor people, poor communities, and poor health, with a particular focus on social networks as key linkages.

Urban Reconstruction in the Developing World Peter Robinson, J. J. McCarthy, Clive A. Forster, 2004.

Town and Country Planning in the UK J. B. Cullingworth, Vincent Nadin, 2002. This thirteenth edition has been completely revised to take into account all the changes that have occurred in British planning, including the policies introduced by the Labour government, devolution, innovations, and the European Union.

Urban Access for the 21st Century Elliott Sclar, Måns Lönnroth, Christian Wolmar, 2014-03-05. This book sets out a road map for the provision of urban access for all. For most of the last century, cities have followed a path of dependency on car-dominated urban transport, favouring the middle classes. Urban Access for the 21st Century seeks to change this. Policies need to be more inclusive of the accessibility needs of the urban poor. Change requires redesigning the existing public finance systems that support urban mobility. The aim is to diminish their embedded biases towards automobile-based travel. Through a series of chapters from international contributors, the book brings together expertise from different fields. It shows how small changes can incentivize large positive developments in urban transport and create truly accessible cities.
