Shaping Urban Futures in Mongolia RebekaRebekah Plueckhahn,2020-03-25 What can the generative processes of dynamic ownership reveal about how the urban is experienced understood and made in Ulaanbaatar Mongolia Shaping Urban Futures in Mongolia provides an ethnography of actions strategies and techniques that form part of how residents precede and underwrite the owning of real estate property including apartments and land in a rapidly changing city In doing so it charts the types of visions of the future and perceptions of the urban form that are emerging within Ulaanbaatar following a period of investment urban growth and subsequent economic fluctuation in Mongolia s extractive economy since the late 2000s Following the way that people discuss the ethics of urban change emerging urban political subjectivities and the seeking of quality Plueckhahn explores how conceptualisations of growth multiplication and the portioning of wholes influence residents interactions with Ulaanbaatar s urban landscape Shaping Urban Futures in Mongolia combines a study of changing postsocialist forms of ownership with a study of the lived experience of recent investment fuelled urban growth within the Asia region Examining ownership in Mongolia s capital reveals how residents attempt to understand and make visible the hidden intricacies of this changing landscape Designing Sustainable Urban Futures : Concepts and Practices from Different Countries Albiez, Marius,Banse, Gerhard,Lindeman, Kenyon C.,Quint, Alexandra,2016-09-09 Urban Futures Timothy J. Dixon,Mark Tewdwr-Jones,2023-10-17 This book explores the history and evolution of city visions placing them in the wider context of art culture science foresight and urban theory Infrastructuring Urban Futures Alan Wiig,Kevin Ward,Theresa Enright,Mike Hodson,Hamil Pearsall,Jonathan Silver,2023-05-25 EPDF and EPUB available Open Access under CC BY NC ND licence Focusing on material and social forms of infrastructure this edited collection draws on rich empirical details from cities across the global North and South The book asks the reader to think through the different ways in which infrastructure comes to be present in cities and its co constitutive relationships with urban inhabitants and wider processes of urbanization Considering the climate emergency economic transformation public health crises and racialized inequality the book argues that paying attention to infrastructures past present and future allows us to understand and respond to the current urban condition Shaping the Urban Future ,1994 Shaping Urban Infrastructures Simon Guy,Simon Marvin,Will Medd,Timothy Moss,2012-06-25 Cities can only exist because of the highly developed systems which underlie them ensuring that energy clean water etc are moved efficiently from producer to user and that waste is removed The urgent need to make the way that these services are provided more environmentally socially and economically sustainable means that these systems are in a state of transition from centralized to decentralized energy from passive to smart infrastructure from toll free to road pricing Such transitions are widely studied in the context of the influence of service providers users and regulators Until now however relatively little attention has been given to the growing role of intermediaries in these systems These consist of institutions and organizations acting in between production and consumption for example NGOs who develop green energy labelling schemes in collaboration with producers and regulators to guide the user consultants who advise businesses on how to save resources and travel agents who match users with providers Such intermediaries are in a position to shape the direction that technological transitions take and ultimately the sustainability of urban networks This book presents the first authoritative collection of research and analysis of the intermediaries that underpin the transitions that are taking place within urban infrastructures showing how intermediaries emerge the role that they play in key sectors including energy water waste and building and what impact they have on the governance of urban socio technical networks

Romero-Lankao, David Simon, Mark Watkins, 2018-04-26 Global urbanization promises better services stronger economies and more connections it also carries risks and unforeseeable consequences To deepen our understanding of this complex process and its importance for global sustainability we need to build interdisciplinary knowledge around a systems approach Urban Planet takes an integrative look at our urban environment bringing together scholars from a diverse range of disciplines from sociology and political science to evolutionary biology geography economics and engineering It includes the perspectives of often neglected voices architects journalists artists and activists The book provides a much needed cross scale perspective connecting challenges and solutions on a local scale with drivers and policy frameworks on a regional and global scale The authors argue that to overcome the major challenges we are facing we must embark on a large scale reinvention of how we live together grounded in inclusiveness and sustainability This title is also available Open Access How Ideas Shape Urban Political Development Richardson Dilworth, Timothy P. R. Weaver, 2020-05-15 A collection of international case studies that demonstrate the importance of ideas to urban political development Ideas interests and institutions are the holy trinity of the study of politics Of the three ideas are arguably the hardest with which to grapple and despite a generally broad agreement concerning their fundamental importance the most often neglected Nowhere is this more evident than in the study of urban politics and urban political development The essays in How Ideas Shape Urban Political Development argue that ideas have been the real drivers behind urban political development and offer as evidence national and international examples some unique to specific cities regions and countries and some of global impact Within the United States contributors examine the idea of blight and how it became a powerful metaphor in city planning the identification of racially defined spaces especially black cities and city neighborhoods as specific targets of neoliberal disciplinary practices the paradox of members of Congress who were active supporters of civil rights legislation in the 1950s and 1960s but enjoyed the support of big city political machines that were hardly liberal when it came to questions of race in their home districts and the intersection of national education policy local school politics and the politics of immigration Essays compare the ways in which national urban policies have taken different shapes in countries similar to the United States namely Canada and the United Kingdom The volume also presents case studies of city based political development in Chile China India and Africa areas of the world that have experienced a more recent form of urbanization that feature deep and intimate ties and similarities to urban political development in the Global North but which have occurred on a broader scale Contributors Daniel B. Land, Debjani Bhattacharyya, Robert Henry Cox, Richardson Dilworth, Jason Hackworth, Marcus Anthony Hunter, William Hurst, Sally Ford, Lawton Thomas, Ogorzalek Eleonora, Pasotti Joel, Rast Douglas, S. Reed, Mara, Sidney, Lester K. Spence, Vanessa Watson, Timothy P. R. Weaver, Amy Widestrom Urban Futures Tim Hall, Malcolm Miles, 2004-11-23 Urban Futures brings together commentaries from a wide range of contemporary disciplines and fields relevant to urban culture form and society The book concerns cities in the broadest sense not just as buildings and spaces but also as processes and events or sites of occupation in which meanings are constructed in many ways The contributors draw on their specialist areas of research to inform current debate but they also speculate as to how cities will be shaped in the 21st century Specific areas of research include homeless people s organisations and restoration ecology in brownfield sites in the USA post industrial urban landscapes post industrial economics tourism and cultural planning The book allows each writer to state their own conclusions but together they suggest that tomorrow s cities will while remaining locations of difference and contestation be rapidly evolving systems in which dwellers assume increasing responsibilities and power
