Melancholy, Love, and Time Peter G. Toohey, 2010-03-11 Ancient literature features many powerful narratives of madness depression melancholy lovesickness simple boredom and the effects of such psychological states upon individual sufferers Peter Toohey turns his attention to representations of these emotional states in the Classical Hellenistic and especially the Roman imperial periods in a study that illuminates the cultural and aesthetic significance of this emotionally charged literature His probing analysis shows that a shifting representation of these afflicted states and the concomitant sense of isolation from one's social affinities and surroundings manifests a developing sense of the self and self consciousness in the ancient world This book makes important contributions to a variety of disciplines including classical studies comparative literature literary and art history history of medicine history of emotions psychiatry and psychology Peter Toohey is Professor and Department Head of Greek and Roman Studies at the University of Calgary Canada
