The Iron Age I in Lower Galilee is known mainly through archaeological surveys, and the number of sites associated with this period is relatively small (Gal 1994: 39–40, Fig. 1). The sites are concentrated mostly in the southern Lower Galilee (Gal 1994: Fig. 2; see also Nakhai 2003: 138–39), with only five sites, including Karmiel, in its northern part (Gal 1994: 40).¹ Only two Iron Age sites have been excavated in Lower Galilee—Tel Vavut (Tell el-Wariyat) in the Beit Netofh Valley (Nakhai, Dessel, and Wirthoff 1993) and Karmiel. In addition to the pottery assemblage, the architectural remains at Karmiel allow for a better understanding of this period in the region.

The Site and Its Environs

The site (registered by the Israel Antiquities Authority [IAA] as “Triangulation Point C-180”; Grid Ref. 1763/2586) is located within the southern boundaries of the town of Karmiel, which marks the northwestern end of Lower Galilee (Fig. 1).² Although it is only ca. 2 km south of the narrow, fertile alluvial Meged Valley, its immediate environs are characterized by dolomite and hard limestone formations (the Bu'eim Formation) that create a rocky landscape with limited areas suitable for agriculture. While there were a few springs along the Meged Valley and its eastern extension, the Beth ha-Kerem Valley, no stable water sources are known in the vicinity of the site, and water was probably obtained from the nearby seasonal pool (see further below).

The site encompasses less than a dunam (ca. 30 × 30 m) and is located on a topographical terrace in the shade of a small, bare rocky peak that rises 1.4 m above it to the west (Figs. 2–3). To the east of the site is a small plain (ca. 5 dunams) covered with terra rossa soil and surrounded by low rocky peaks,

² The site was first surveyed by Raphael Feibel in 1964 and by Idan Shalem in 1993 (see their respective reports in the IAA archives).

Being Christian in the Twenty-First Century Sam Gould,2017-07-11 Being Christian in the Twenty first Century was written to help struggling and doubting Christians develop an understanding of Christianity that avoids literalism creeds and doctrines all factors which seem to be driving people away from the church The book is well suited for individual or group study complete with a study guide and sample lesson plans It responds to the call for theological reform advocated by many contemporary clergy and religious leaders Being Christian does not restate orthodox positions or drift into fundamentalism or sentimentalism Instead it draws from a broad base of historical theological archaeological and sociological scholarship to place Scripture within its original context yet present it within a perspective suitable for the twenty first century mind Being Christian is scholarly yet readable interesting and often provocative One reviewer put it this way the book reminds me of a baseball pitcher with a long wind up and a hard fastball getting better in every inning By building upon progressive thought available today and throughout history it offers an important resource for Christians and would be Christians seeking a more fulfilling and thoughtful faith journey Symbiosis, Symbolism, and the Power of the Past William G.
