Recollections of Paris in the Years 1802-3-4-5 John Pinkerton, 1806      Recollections of France Sarah Blowen, Marion Demossier, Jeanine Picard, 2001-12-01 Since the 1980s France has experienced a vigorous revival of interest in its past and cultural heritage This has been expressed as part of a movement of remembering through museums and festivals as well as via elaborate commemorations most notably those held to celebrate the bi centenary of the Revolution in 1989 and can be interpreted as part of a re examination of what it means to be French in the context of ongoing Europeanization This study brings together scholars from multidisciplinary backgrounds and engages them in debate with professionals from France who are working in the fields of museology heritage and cultural production Addressing subjects such as war and memory gastronomy and regional identity maritime culture and urban societies they throw fresh light on the process by which France has been conceptualized and packaged as a cultural object      Recollections of Paris Denis Bingham, 1896      Napoleon, France and Waterloo Charles Esdaile, 2016-11-30 So great is the weight of reading on the subject of the Waterloo campaign that it might be thought there is nothing left to say about it and from the military viewpoint this is very much the case But one critical aspect of the story has gone all but untold the French home front Little has been written about the topic in English and few works on Napoleon or Revolutionary and Napoleonic France pay it much attention It is this conspicuous gap in the literature that Charles Esdaile explores in this erudite and absorbing study Drawing on the vivid revealing material that is available in the French archives in the writings of soldiers who fought in France in 1814 and 1815 and in the memoirs of civilians who witnessed the fall of Napoleon or the Hundred Days he gives us a fascinating new insight into the military and domestic context of the Waterloo campaign the Napoleonic legend and the wider situation across Europe
