hand with love mercy and grace the fundamental theological virtues However forgiveness is easier to define than it is to embody This unique collection of essays brings together theologians ethicists and ministry practitioners into a constructive dialog which explores the complex and crucial concept of forgiveness what it is where it is to be found and how it might be practiced These essays reflect the perspectives of those from various traditions who nonetheless take the Christian Scriptures seriously believe that forgiveness is central to living out the Gospel and are creative in the ways in which forgiveness can be practiced Forgiveness is an art and not simply a science as such it requires trust skill and hope alongside love mercy and grace if it is to be embodied This volume offers a unique window into the art of forgiveness and the faithful and innovative ways in which it is to be understood embodied and cultivated After Injury Ashraf H. A. Rushdy, 2018 After Injury explores the practices of forgiveness resentment and apology in three key moments when they were undergoing a dramatic change The three moments are early Christian history for forgiveness the shift from British eighteenth century to Continental nineteenth century philosophers for resentment and the moment in the 1950s postwar world in which British ordinary language philosophers and American sociologists of everyday life theorized what it means to express or perform an apology The debates that arose in those key moments have largely defined our contemporary study of these practices

The Healing of Nations Mark R. Amstutz, 2005 How does one forgive an international political transgression as deep as genocide or apartheid Forgiveness is often conceived of as an element of personal morality and even at that it is difficult This book argues that it is also an essential part of political ethics especially when dealing with collective wrongdoing by political regimes In the past a retributive justice demanding prosecution and punishment of all past offenses has kept the international community away from moving on to the next step in regime change Here Mark R Amstutz takes a restorative justice approach calling for nations to account for crimes through truth commissions public apology and repentance reparations and ultimately forgiveness and the lifting of deserved penalties The distinctive feature of forgiveness is the balance it strikes between backward looking accountability and forward looking reconciliation The Healing of Nations combines a theory of the role of forgiveness in public life with four key case studies that test this ethic Argentina Chile Northern Ireland and South Africa Amstutz uses the hard cases to illustrate the promise and limits of forgiving without forgetting Peace Psychology in Asia Cristina Jayme Montiel, Noraini M. Noor, 2009-06-04 In recent years peace psychology has grown from a utopian idea to a means of transforming societies worldwide Yet at the same time peacebuilding enjoys global appeal the diversity of nations and regions demands interventions reflecting local cultures and realities Peace Psychology in Asia shows this process in action emphasizing concepts and methods diverging from those common to the US and Europe Using examples from China India Indonesia the Philippines and elsewhere in the region chapter authors illuminate the complex social political and religious conditions that have fostered war colonialism dictatorships and ethnic strife and the equally intricate personal and collective psychologies that need to be developed to encourage reconciliation forgiveness justice and community Peace Psychology in Asia Integrates psychology history political science and local culture into concepts of peace and reconciliation Highlights the indigenous aspects of peace psychology Explains the critical relevance of local culture and history in peace work Blends innovative theoretical material with empirical evidence supporting peace interventions Balances its coverage among local national regional and global contexts Analyzes the potential of Asia as a model for world peace As practice driven as it is intellectually stimulating Peace Psychology in Asia is vital reading for social and community psychologists policy analysts and researchers in psychology and sociology and international studies including those looking to the region for ideas on peace work in non Western countries

Managing Vulnerability Richard C. Marback, 2012-09-30 In Managing Vulnerability Richard C Marback analyzes the tension surrounding the transition from apartheid to democracy in South Africa through a rhetorical lens Marback studies the heart of South Africa's desire for reconciliation and contends that this goal could be achieved only through the creation of a language of vulnerability in which former enemies become open to the influence of each other to the constraints of their respective circumstances and to the prospects of a shared future Through a series of informative case studies Marback illustrates how the cultivation of openness and the management of vulnerability take shape through the circulation of artifacts symbols and texts that give empowering expression to virtues of connectedness over the temptations of individual autonomy Marback discusses the construction and impact of the narrative tours of Robben Island the silencing of Robert Sobukwe the debates over a proposed Freedom Monument a brief gesture of ubuntu from Pumlá Gobodo Madikizela to Eugene de Kock and the transformation of the title character in the film adaptation of the 1980 novel Tsotsi Ultimately Marback contends finding a means to manage vulnerability is both the immediate success of and the ongoing challenge to South African democracy and is indicative of the nature of rhetoric in democracies in general and in contemporary civic life

Intercultural Alliances Mary Jane Collier, 2003 The 25th volume of the International and Intercultural Communication Annual offers a variety of perspectives on culture identity and the formation of personal and political alliances

Peace Settlements and Political Transformation in Divided Societies Adrian Guelke, 2022-10-03 Peace Settlements and Political Transformation in Divided Societies examines what happened to Northern Ireland and South Africa after their miraculous political settlements in the 1990s in which comparison between the two cases played a small but significant role The author extends the story by exploring the connections between these two deeply divided societies during the consolidation of their settlements He shows the ways in which their paths have subsequently diverged in both reality and perception At the outset of the transformation of the two polities the similarities between the two cases tended to be overstated In this context the book explains how the South African case came to be misidentified as an example of consociationalism and the influence that this has continued to exert on comparative studies of power sharing In the process other aspects of South Africa's political transformation including respect for the constitution and the rule of law have been overlooked and underappreciated In the case of Northern Ireland a missing element in the treatment of its settlement as a model for other deeply divided societies has been the role that external mediation played in the creation and survival of its institutions Northern Ireland's dependence on favourable external circumstances explains in large part why the Good Friday Agreement is now facing a threat to its survival By contrast South Africa's political institutions seem relatively secure despite the vast scale of the country's socio economic problems This book will be of interest to students researchers and scholars of conflict resolution and peace processes comparative politics ethnic politics and democratisation as well as those involved in the governance of deeply divided societies      On Not Being Able to Sleep Jacqueline Rose, 2021-02-09 In these powerful essays Jacqueline Rose delves into the questions that keep us awake at night into issues of privacy and writing exposure and shame Do women writers Christina Rossetti Anne Sexton Sylvia Plath have a special talent for self revelation Or are they simply more vulnerable to the invasions of biography What ethical questions are raised by Ted Hughes's role in Plath's writing life What do Adrienne Rich and Natalie Angier reveal about the destiny of feminism In its affinity with modernist writing what can psychoanalysis tell us about the limits of knowledge both about the most intimate components of experience and the most hallucinatory reaches of the mind Have psychoanalytic writers today and the very institution of psychoanalysis remained faithful to the most potent and disturbing aspects of Freud's vision Finally Rose addresses some of the most dramatic public performances of our times the cult of celebrity with its contrasting obsessions with Princess Diana and the child murderer Mary Bell and South Africa's Truth and Reconciliation Commission which in a stirring last essay allows Rose to explore the ethical and political responsibilities of thought and speech in times of historical crisis Moving deftly with style force and clarity between our public political and private unconscious worlds On Not Being Able to Sleep forges a unique set of links between feminism psychoanalysis literature and politics The result is a book well worth staying up late to read one that exposes the uncomfortable borderland between our desire to speak out and be silent between the stage of the world and of the mind      Unfinished Business Terry Bell, Dumisa Buhle Ntsebeza, 2003 This book pulls back the curtain on the political miracle of the new South Africa      State of the Nation John Daniel, Adam Habib, Roger Southall, 2003 This anthology provides insightful political analysis of post apartheid South Africa Written by leading South African intellectuals these analyses cover topics such as unemployment trade unionism race relations land reform education international relations and the South Africanisation of the African economy Within each work the inherited apartheid legacy the policies introduced to overcome those legacies and the effectiveness of those policies are addressed      South African performance and archives of memory Yvette Hutchison, 2015-11-01 This book explores how South Africa is negotiating its past in and through various modes of performance in contemporary theatre public events and memorial spaces It analyses the Truth and Reconciliation Commission as a live event as an archive and in various theatrical engagements with it asking throughout how the TRC has affected the definition of identity and memory in contemporary South Africa including disavowed memories Hutchison then considers how the SA Mali Timbuktu Manuscript Project and the 2010 South African World Cup opening ceremony attempted to restage the nation in their own ways She investigates how the Voortrekker Monument and Freedom Park embody issues related to memory in contemporary South Africa She also analyses current renegotiations of popular repertoires particularly songs and dances related to the Struggle revivals of classic European and South African protest plays new history plays and specific racial and ethnic histories and identities      Traumatic Storytelling and Memory in Post-Apartheid South Africa Christopher J. Colvin, 2018-12-14 This book explores the practice of traumatic storytelling that emerged out of the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission and came to play a key role in the lives of the members of the Khulumani Support Group for victims of apartheid era political violence Group members found traumatic storytelling both frustrating and yet also an important form of memory work that shaped how they saw themselves in the post apartheid era Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork the author examines how traumatic storytelling functioned not only as a kind of psychological healing and national political theatre but also as a potent form of social relation economic exchange political activism and expressive practice With emphasis on the personal social and political significance of the act of traumatic storytelling this volume asks why members of Khulumani despite their many disappointments continued to engage intensively in storying their experiences for themselves and others Examining what powers storytelling held for both group members and their witnesses and considering the ways in which storytelling enabled new senses of self and new understandings of what was possible in the years after the end of apartheid this book considers what we might learn more broadly from the experiences of Khulumani about the possibilities and limits of traumatic memory making as an instrument of personal social and political repair As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology anthropology and criminology with interest in justice and post conflict societies
