Recovery In Aphasics:

Redefining Recovery from Aphasia Dalia Cahana-Amitay, Martin Albert, 2015-01-07 This book focuses on two fundamental aspects of brain language relations one concerns the neural organization of language in the healthy brain the other challenges current approaches to treatment of aphasia and offers a new theory for recovery from aphasia The essence of the book lies in the phrase neural multifunctionality the constant and dynamic incorporation of non linguistic functions into language models of the intact brain The book makes the claim that language is a construction created as we use it and cannot be understood as being supported by neurally based linguistic networks only Rather language emerges from the constant and dynamic interaction among neural networks subserving cognitive affective and praxic functions with neural networks subserving lexical retrieval naming sentence processing comprehension and discourse communication conversation In persons with stroke induced aphasia neural networks for executive system function attention memory motor system function visual system function and emotion interact with neural networks for language to produce the aphasia profile and to influence recovery from aphasia Consequently neural multifunctionality in aphasia explains individual differences in the lesion deficit model and continued recovery over time redefining the concept of recovery from aphasia and offering new opportunities for treatment

Aphasia and Its Therapy Anna Basso, 2003-01-09 This is the first single authored book to attempt to bridge the gap between aphasia research and the rehabilitation of patients with this language disorder Studies of the deficits underlying aphasia and the practice of aphasia rehabilitation have often diverged and the relationship between theory and practice in aphasiology is loose The goal of this book is to help close this gap by making explicit the relationship between what is to be rehabilitated and how to rehabilitate it Early chapters cover the history of aphasia and its therapy from Broca's discoveries to the 1970s and provide a description of the classic aphasia syndromes The middle section describes the contribution of cognitive neuropsychology and the treatment models it has inspired It includes discussion of the relationship between the treatment approach and the functional model upon which it is based The final chapters deal with aphasia therapy After providing a sketch of a working theory of aphasia Basso describes intervention procedures for disorders resulting from damage at the lexical and sentence levels as well as a more general conversation based intervention for severe aphasics Anna Basso has run an aphasia rehabilitation unit for more than thirty years In this book she draws on her considerable experience to provide researchers clinicians and their students and trainees in speech language pathology and therapy aphasiology and neuropsychology with comprehensive coverage of the evolution and state of the art of aphasia research and therapy

Acquired Aphasia in Children Isabel Pavão Martins, A. Castro-Caldas, Hugo R. van Dongen, Anne van Hout, 1991-07-31 One of the most fascinating problems in Behavioural Neurology is the question of the cerebral organization for language during childhood Acquired aphasia in children albeit rare is a unique circumstance in which to study the relations between language and the brain during cerebral maturation Its study further contributes to our understanding of the recovery processes and brain plasticity during childhood But while there is a great amount of information and experimental work on brain behaviour relationships in adult subjects the literature about the effects of focal brain lesions in children is both exiguous and scattered throughout scientific journals and books We felt it was time to organize a meeting where scientists in this field could compare their experiences and discuss ideas coming from different areas of research A workshop on Acquired Aphasia in Children was held in Sintra Portugal on September 13 15 1990 and attended by 44 participants from 13 different countries The atmosphere was relaxed and informal and the group was kept small to achieve this effect It was a very lively and pleasant meeting Some consensus was indeed arrived at concerning methodological problems definition of terms and guidelines for future research The main contributions are collected in this book which we hope will serve the scientific community as a reference work on Childhood Aphasia I P M A C C
