Red Pants and other Stories John W. Thomason, 1927 Kentucky Marine David J. Bettez, 2014-03-18 Follows the changes in the Marine Corps from its role as colonial infantry to amphibious assault force using the career of Maj Gen Logan Feland Allan R Millett author of Semper Fidelis Winner of the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation's Colonel Joseph Alexander Award A native of Hopkinsville Kentucky Major General Logan Feland 1869 1936 played a major role in the development of the modern Marine Corps Highly decorated for his heroic actions during the battle of Belleau Wood in World War I Feland led the hunt for rebel leader Augusto C. Sandino during the Nicaraguan revolution from 1927 to 1929 an operation that helped to establish the Marines reputation in guerrilla warfare and search and capture missions Yet despite rising to become one of the USMC's most highly ranked and regarded officers Feland has been largely ignored in the historical record In Kentucky Marine David J. Bettez uncovers the forgotten story of this influential soldier of the sea During Feland's tenure as an officer the Corps expanded exponentially in power and prestige Not only did his command in Nicaragua set the stage for similar twenty-first century operations in Iraq and Afghanistan but Feland was one of the first instructors in the USMC's Advanced Base Force which served as the forerunner of the amphibious assault force mission the Marines adopted in World War II Kentucky Marine also illuminates Feland's private life including his marriage to successful soprano singer and socialite Katherine Cordner Feland and details his disappointment at being twice passed over for the position of commandant Drawing from personal letters contemporary news articles official communications and confidential correspondence this long overdue biography fills a significant gap in twentieth-century American military history Book Bulletin Chicago Public Library, 1918 The English Catalogue of Books [annual] Sampson Low, 1928 Vols for 1898 1968 include a directory of publishers Index to Short Stories, 1929 American Writers and World War I David A. Rennie, 2020-07-31 Looking at texts written throughout the careers of Edith Wharton Ellen La Motte Mary Borden Thomas Boyd F. Scott Fitzgerald Laurence Stallings and Ernest Hemingway American Writers and World War I argues that authors' war writing continuously evolved in response to developments in their professional and personal lives Recent research has focused on constituencies of identity such as gender race and politics registered in American Great War writing Rather than being dominated by their perceived membership of such socio-political categories this study argues that writers reacted to and represented the war in complex ways which were frequently linked to the exigencies of maintaining a career as a professional author War writing was implicated in and influenced by wider cultural forces such as governmental censorship the publishing business advertising and the Hollywood film industry American Writers and World War I argues that even authors' hallmark anti-war works are in fact characterized by an awareness of the war's nuanced effects on society and individuals By tracking authors war writing throughout their entire careers in well known texts autobiography correspondence and neglected works this study contends that writers reactions were multifaceted and subject to change in response to their developments as writers and individuals This work also uncovers the hitherto unexplored importance of American cultural and literary precedents which offered writers means of assessing the war Ultimately the volume argues American World War I writing was highly personal complex and idiosyncratic
