

Reflective Practice

In nursing practice and especially leadership and administration, reflection remains as one of the main practices that enhance service delivery and efficacy. Any nurse that does not reflect on his or her service delivery is deemed to reduce the efficiency associated with medical services offerings. Nicol and Dosser (2016) note that nurses are bound to reflect on the information provided by the patients to ensure that they improve on service delivery. Previously and commonly, nurses have utilized reflection after an incidence. However, reflection should be utilized before an occurrence has taken place to ensure that the service delivery is improved (Nicol, & Dosser, 2016). Reflection allows individual nurses to offer better services while at the same time allowing them to upgrade on their preparation for existing and expected situations.

Nursing leadership and leadership requires a lot of reflection to allow for the enhancement of service delivery. Oelofsen (2012) notes that in frontline nursing, nurses can use the reflective practice to enhance the sense of the work they do and the mode of service delivery. According to Oelofsen (2012), reflective practice is a model that allows for nurses and especially leaders and administrators to up their skills in the way they deliver care among the patients they are taking care of. Moreover, this practice allows nurses to take more control of the clinicians by allowing them to be careful while offering care to the patients. It is imperative to, however, note that the aspect of reflective practice takes place both at group and personal level and should not be mistaken for personal milestones in healthcare.

Strengthening Research Capacity and Disseminating New Findings in Nursing and Public Health Hema Malini, Khatijah Abdullah, Judith McFarlane, Jeff Evans, Yanti Sari, 2018-07-17

Andalas International Nursing Conference AINiC is a dedicated conference aimed at researchers in nursing, public health, and other health sciences topics. The 1st AINiC 2017 was held in Padang, West Sumatra, Indonesia, from 25-27 September 2017. The conference theme was Strengthening Research Capacity and Disseminating New Findings in Nursing and Public Health. This event was successful in bringing together experts, researchers, healthcare professionals, and students worldwide. It was an inspiring occasion for most of the participants and was a great opportunity for research development, learning, especially with regard to disseminating new findings in nursing and to stimulate networking of nursing professionals, researchers, and educators. The research topics that were presented during the conference have clearly indicated the need for literature development and guidance of clinical practice decisions. We hope this conference has provided ample opportunities for participants to gain a more in-depth understanding of knowledge and renewed perspectives. All these aspects have been acknowledged by the participants during the conference. The 1st AINiC was a rewarding event, and we look forward to your attendance and participation in the next AINiC conference that will also provide stimulating research developments, networking, and cooperation.
