This book examines significant developments in reflective practice delving into research conducted with novice teachers It fills a gap in existing literature by examining the how of reflective practice How do professionals learn reflective practice fostering relearning How do they guide students mentees and novices in adopting reflective practices Stemming from teacher education the focus is extended beyond this field emphasizing the relevance of these strategies across professions It is divided into three parts thinking about reflection learning to reflect and becoming a reflective practitioner It offers fresh perspectives on conceptualizing reflective practice and suggests practical strategies for integrating it into pre service coursework assessment training and development Intended for academics practitioners and educators across disciplines this book serves as a comprehensive guide for anyone committed to fostering reflective practice within their professional sphere

Reflective Learning in Practice Nic Beech,Anne Brockbank,Ian McGill,2002

Reflective Learning in Practice Anne

Brockbank,Ian McGill,2017-07-05 This book gathers together details of seventeen case studies of learning in practice after having set the issue of reflective learning in a theoretical context The cases are drawn from a wide range of situations and discuss both apparent successes and failures The cases are used as a basis to develop general findings These general findings are expressed as themes and questions so that as readers come across new circumstances they are not limited by prescriptive recipes Instead they are empowered by having both an open and focused approach open because the starting point is questions rather than answers and focused because the questions direct attention to factors that have been found to be influential for effective reflective learning The crucial factor is the ability of managers and others to extract quality learning from experience Reflective Learning in Practice develops an approach that will help this to happen Reflective Learning in Practice Anne Brockbank,Ian McGill,2017-07-05 This book gathers together details of seventeen case studies of learning in practice after having set the issue of reflective learning in a theoretical context The cases are drawn from a wide range of situations and discuss both apparent successes and failures The cases are used as a basis to develop general findings These general findings are expressed as themes and questions so that as readers come across new circumstances they are not limited by prescriptive recipes Instead they are empowered by having both an open and focused approach open because the starting point is questions rather than answers and focused because the questions direct attention to factors that have been found to be influential for effective reflective learning The crucial factor is the ability of managers and others to extract quality learning from experience Reflective Learning in Practice develops an approach that will help this to happen

John

Loughran, 2002-11-01 This text presents a research study into the development of reflective practitioners in a pre service teacher education programme The teacher educator in the study modelled his own reflections on practice in the hope that it would help students to apply reflection to their own teaching The results of the author s research demonstrate that reflection on practice occurs in three distinct periods before anticipatory during contemporaneous and after retrospective a pedagogical experience The book concludes that when student teachers own learning situations both within their university coursework and their school experiences become the focus for their learning about teaching and learning their understanding of and practice in teaching is enhanced Introducing Reflective Learning Caroline Ramsey, Open

University, 2006-12 This booklet contains a range of ideas and study activities about reflection a key concept for effective work based learning It helps you develop an approach to learning called reflective practice and aims to move you from a better understanding of your work problems and issues to thinking about what you can do with your new knowledge and what happens when you do act on it CURRENTLY OUT OF STOCK Beyond Reflective Practice Helen Bradbury, Nick

Frost, Sue Kilminster, Miriam Zukas, 2012-09-11 Reflective practice has moved from the margins to the mainstream of professional education However in this process its radical potential has been subsumed by individualistic rather than situated understandings of practice Presenting critical perspectives that challenge the current paradigm this book aims to move beyond reflective practice It proposes new conceptualisations and offers fresh approaches relevant across professions Contributors include both academics and practitioners concerned with the training and development of professionals Definitions of reflection which are often implicit often focus on the individual's internal thought processes and responsibility for their actions The individual what they did thought felt is emphasised with little recognition of context power dynamics or ideological challenge This book presents the work of practitioners educators academics and researchers who see this as problematic and are moving towards a more critical approach to reflective practice With an overview from the editors and fourteen chapters considering new conceptualisations professional perspectives and new practices Beyond Reflective Practice examines what new forms of professional reflective practice are emerging It examines in particular the relationships between reflective practitioners and those upon whom they practise It looks at the ways in which the world of professional work has changed and the ways in which professional practice needs to change to meet the needs of this new world It will be relevant for those concerned with initial and ongoing professional learning both in work and in educational contexts

Reflective Learning for Social Work Nick Gould, Imogen Taylor, 2017-03-02 Since the publication of Donald Schön's The Reflective Practitioner in 1983 there has been a dramatic growth of research and writing developing the concept of reflective learning Surprisingly there has been little application of concepts of reflective learning to social work education This volume makes accessible for the first time to a social work readership a book which focuses on reflective learning in social work brings together material on reflective learning from both academic and practice settings creates a seminal text for educators and trainers in universities and practice settings has relevance to an international readership with contributions from the UK USA Canada and Australia

Reflective Learning in Management, Development and Education David Higgins, 2017-07-05 In recent years there has been a growing interest in the ideas surrounding reflective practice specifically in the areas of learning in management development and education This interest has developed in a growing number of professional fields thus making for very diverse understandings of what can be regarded as complex approaches to learning In order to understand how reflective practice can support and aid learning it is helpful to acknowledge how we learn First all learners start from their own position of knowledge and have their own set of experiences to draw upon Second learning is contextual something which managers need to acknowledge To make sense and achieve a deep understanding of material and experiences one needs to relate new information to existing knowledge and experiences This is best achieved through a process of reflection Indeed the underlying rationale for the chapters in this publication is to explore how the role of practice reflection and critical reflection are understood and developed within a learning process which is supported through the application of reflective tools This book recognises and makes explicit the diverse yet inclusive nature of the field By including a range of contributions from both subject specific disciplines and professional contexts it seeks to enable the reader in documenting some of the current uses of reflection and critical reflection while also illustrating some of the newer methods in use as well as the current contributions to thinking in the subject domain Through this publication the editor and authors hope to provide a basis from which continuing professional development and education can be enhanced This book was originally published as a special issue of Reflective Practice International and Multidisciplinary Perspectives

Teaching Reflective Learning in Higher Education Mary Elizabeth Ryan, 2014-11-05 This book is about understanding the nature and application of reflection in higher education It provides a theoretical model to guide the implementation of reflective learning and reflective practice across multiple disciplines and international contexts in higher education The book presents research into the ways in which reflection is both considered and implemented in different ways across different professional disciplines while maintaining a common purpose to transform and improve learning and or practice The Readers will find this book is innovative and new in three key ways Firstly in its holistic theorisation of reflection within the pedagogic field of higher education Secondly in conceptualising reflection in different modes to achieve specific purposes in different disciplines and finally in providing conceptual guidance for embedding reflective learning and reflective practice in a systematic way across whole programmes faculties or institutions in higher education The book considers important contextual factors that influence the teaching of forms and methods of reflection It provides a functional analysis of multiple modes of reflection including written oral visual auditory and embodied forms Empirical chapters analyse the application of these modes across disciplines and at different stages of a programme The theoretical model accounts for students stage of development in the disciplinary field along with progressive and cyclical levels of higher order thinking and learning and professional practice that are expected within different disciplines and professional fields Secondly in conceptualising reflection in different modes to achieve specific purposes in different disciplines It provides a functional analysis of multiple modes of reflection including written oral visual auditory and embodied forms Empirical chapters analyse the application of these modes across disciplines and at different stages of a programme in terms of demonstrating levels of reflection The book includes images diagrams and different text forms to support the creative applications of reflection And thirdly the book is innovative in providing conceptual guidance for embedding reflective learning and reflective practice systematically across whole programmes faculties or institutions in higher education contexts across the world Reflective Practice for Educators Karen F.
