Judith Munat, 2007-11-06 The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic stylistic textual and social environments in which they occur The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising the daily press electronic communication literature spoken interaction cartoons lexical ontologies and style guides The coining of novel lexical items and the creative manipulation of existing words and expressions is heavily dependent on contextual factors including the semantic stylistic textual and social environments in which they occur The twelve specialists contributing to this collection aim to illuminate creativity in word formation with respect to functional discourse roles but also examine critical creativity determined by language policy as well as diachronic phonetic variation in creatively coined words The data based either on large corpora or smaller hand collected samples is drawn from advertising the daily press electronic communication literature spoken interaction cartoons lexical ontologies and style guides Each study analyses novel formations in relation to their contexts of use and inevitably leads to the crucial question of creativity vs productivity By focussing on creative lexical formations at the level of parole these studies provide insights into morphological theory at the level of langue and ultimately seek to explain lexical creativity as a function of language use

Computer-mediated Lexicography in the Foreign Language Learning Context María Carmen Campoy Cubillo, Pilar Safont Jordà, 2004 This volume discusses the latest developments in computerised dictionaries and how they may challenge and change current practices in language learning contexts It contains contributions of authors from different countries thus providing an international perspective on the topics tackled throughout the book English next [Anonymus

AC08775783], 2010 What's in a Text? Inquiries into the Textual Cornucopia Adam Głaz, Hubert Kowalewski, Anna Weremczuk, 2012-03-15 Numerous linguists of various orientations translators and literary scholars share an interest in text As students of language with very diverse interests and aims they ask themselves if only subconsciously the following questions What kind s of texts do we study Why do we study them What are we looking for What do and don t we find What do we do with whatever we do find What does it tell us about language its speakers or the human mind Generally what is a text for me as a linguist and or translator In the present volume the questions are brought onto the level of the conscious and addressed by several practitioners in the fields of linguistics and translation contributions with a literary slant also have a linguistic orientation Although ultimate answers to these questions may not exist the ambition of the book is to help the reader appreciate the richness of text and the variety of texts as a treasure trove for scholars representing multifarious approaches to language Gimson's Pronunciation of English Alan Cruttenden, 2013-11-26 Gimson s Pronunciation of

English is an indispensable reference book for anyone involved in studying or teaching the pronunciation of English Vex, Hex, Smash, Smooch: Let Verbs Power Your Writing Constance Hale, 2012-10-15 Helps aspiring writers understand the importance of using powerful verbs in their work through examples of brilliant writing and presents a linguistic history to demonstrate how language and writing has evolved over time Lexical Priming Michael Hoey, 2012-10-12 Lexical Priming proposes a radical new theory of the lexicon which amounts to a completely new theory of language based on how words are used in the real world Here they are not confined to the definitions given to them in dictionaries but instead interact with other words in common patterns of use Using concrete statistical evidence from a corpus of newspaper English but also referring to travel writing and literary text the author argues that words are primed for use through our experience with them so that everything we know about a word is a product of our encounters with it This knowledge explains how speakers of a language succeed in being fluent creative and natural The Lincoln Library of Essential Information, 1924

Knowledge Management and Acquisition for Intelligent Systems Kenichi Yoshida, Maria Lee, 2018-07-26 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 15th International Workshop on Knowledge Management and Acquisition for Intelligent Systems PKAW 2018 held in Nanjing China in August 2018 The 15 full papers and 7 short papers included in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 51 initial submissions They cover the methods and tools as well as the applications related to developing a knowledge base healthcare financial systems and intelligent systems Nobel Universal Graphical Language Milan Randic, 2010-05-24 Nobel is a pictographic language based on some 120 basic signs and many arrows of different shape that are mutually combined It is named after Alfred Nobel 1833-1896 Swedish chemist and industrialist inventor of dynamite who left most of his fortune to a foundation that annually gives awards to individuals whose work is characterized as greatest benefit to mankind known as Nobel Prizes Besides the awards for sciences and literature significantly Alfred Nobel included among others a prize for peace that besides individuals also organizations may obtain Although it would be utopian to believe that human conflicts could be avoided if communication tools would improve the emergence of universal languages certainly cannot make the situation worse Universal languages are a communication tool which makes it possible for people of no common language to communicate They are graphic but they should be distinguished from picture writings which only passively offer information on some event or give messages Universal languages have more similarity with the sign languages that are used for people who lost hearing or the sign language of American Plains Indians who spoke different languages and could communicate by sign language that they developed However written language has some advantages over hand sign languages in that one can communicate at a great distance particularly today in the age of fax and computer communications and that one can leave messages for posterity This is not the place to argue for or against the promise of written sign languages Graphic written sign languages exist today and the best known are Chinese characters used in China and Japan The problem with Chinese characters is that there are too many characters and it is difficult to learn so many It takes years for children in China and Japan to learn so many different characters and the task would be even harder for grown people to learn if they have not done this when young Nobel is designed to remove this difficulty and is based on the following requirements 1 SMALL NUMBER OF BASIC SIGNS 2 SIGNS SHOULD BE EASY TO RECOGNIZE 3 SIGNS SHOULD BE EASY TO REPRODUCE 4 COMBINATIONS LIMITED TO THREE SIGNS 5 COMPLEMENTARY We have already mentioned that Nobel uses about 120 basic signs which can be viewed as a small number particularly in view of over 100 signs of Nobel that are so obvious that they can be easily absorbed The other requirements are also very important There are many signs that can be easily recognized but in order to be acceptable for Nobel they also need to be easily reproduced because that will facilitate communication Also when making combinations of signs one has to make some restriction in order to maintain clarity so we decided to have no more than three signs combined into single word Finally the last requirement that of complementarities needs some explanation Besides having signs that one can easily recognize and easily draw one needs some structure to be embedded into composition of signs that facilitates one to remember and learn signs easily We refer to this structure as complementary or broadly speaking associational and what it implies is that words and objects that are related should have related signs Thus for example pairs of words like man woman cat dog coffee tea good bad love hate etc should have signs that are in some opposition while words like smoke flame fire tree wood forest water sea ocean good better best should have signs that are in competition With this in mind when one sees and learns the basic signs the meaning of many combinations of signs can be in advance anticipated This helps one to learn Nobel rather fast not months not weeks perhaps not even days but a couple of hours may suffice that one may learn hundreds and hundreds of words In this respect Nobel may be unique among languages written spoken of
