World War II coincides with her graduation from high school and brings an abrupt end to her carefree existence when her father is recalled into the Italian Army. Despite the war raging around her, Floria attends the University of Florence. However, her family does not escape the horrors of war. They endure hunger and evacuation, and Floria is nearly raped. At the end of the war, she marries an American serviceman and arrives in the United States, only to have him tell her that marrying her was a mistake. Their marriage ends in divorce. Brokenhearted, Floria moves to California, where she meets and marries John Leet. In the following years, John and Floria raise seven children together. However, life continues to present challenges, and she must cope with the pain of losing her husband to illness and her eldest son to an auto accident within two years of each other. It wouldn't do for the governor of Louisiana to have a wife who committed suicide after years of mental illness, especially just as he's contemplating the presidency. Grayson's husband, her father's speechwriter, helps him keep the story quiet, and the family doctor makes sure the cause of death will be listed as a heart attack. But Grayson has a problem. When she thought she was helping her father cover up a suicide, she might actually have been covering up a murder. Because Grayson's mother left a videotape hidden among her personal effects in which she claims her life is in danger. Of course, Grayson's mother did suffer from paranoid delusions. And maybe Grayson does too. Manic depression is a highly hereditary illness. But just because she's paranoid doesn't mean they're not out to get her. A River Called Titash Adwaita Mallabarman, 1993-09-10 Originally published in 1956, A River Called Titash is among the most highly acclaimed novels in Bengali literature. A unique combination of folk poetry and ethnography, Adwaita Mallabarman's tale of a Malo fishing village at the turn of the century captures the songs, speech, rituals, and rhythms of a once self-sufficient community and culture swept away by natural catastrophe, modernization, and political conflict. Both historical document and work of art, this lyrical novel provides an intimate view of a community of Hindu fishers and Muslim peasants coexisting peacefully before the violent partition of Bengal between India and East Pakistan, now Bangladesh. Mallabarman's story documents a way of life that has all but disappeared. Papers New Haven Colony Historical Society, New Haven, 1908

Congress, 1975 The Epic Ryan Keith McConkey, 2006-02 It has been about two thousand years since the life of Jesus Christ, but his memory has not been forgotten. The Bible is the most read book of all time, and recently, movies have come out about Jesus. How then is it that Christianity has gotten so far from the teachings and life of the basis for the belief? We have gone from a man who always showed love to everyone and a man who was poor in earthly standards to a religion with materialism and elitism. Enter a world where Kings rule and Priests reign. In this world there are only two countries and neither knows about the other one The first country is ruled by the High Priest who speaks on behalf of the creator The people of this country have a large set of rules to follow and because of their morality they have thrived as a nation Their city has large buildings and their temple resembles that of a very powerful King The people here worship the creator and they do not tolerate anyone who doesn't believe what they do The country is divided into two classes the believers and the unbelievers The unbelievers are struck with poverty and disease They are on the brink of annihilation with no hope in sight Across the ocean is another country that is ruled by their King The King is a servant of the people and he always puts the people's needs in front of his own His family has always been in power but the King is growing old and he was not able to have a son only a daughter The people of this country do not worship the creator for they know nothing about him They put all of their hope in their King A new man soon arrives to this country and he catches the eye of the princess The people look to this man to be their new King but this man has ulterior motives for the throne The only one who can challenge him for the throne is a young man who is in an inner struggle between the forces of evil and the forces of good You see the world has not always been this way for the creator was once the focus of all who roamed the earth What went wrong and why did the creator let it happen Will the forces of dark win or will light once again cover the world Will false religion win or will love
