Map Is Not Territory:

Map is not Territory Jonathan Z. Smith, 2023-07-17 The Map is Not the Territory Alan Woods, Ralph Rumney, 2000

This innovative book is an interaction based on a series of interviews between the artist Ralph Rumney and the writer Alan Woods. Rumney's extraordinary life is chronicled here as well as his works over the last 45 years. He is the only British founder member of Situationist International and the lone founder of the London Psychogeographical Society. Complementing the open elements of play and discovery inherent in Rumney's psychogeography is an almost Duchampesque interest in the applicability of games. This volume contains over 100 illustrations many of which have not been previously reproduced.

Map is Not Territory Jonathan Z. Smith, 1993 Science and Sanity Alfred Korzybski, 1958 Relating Religion

Jonathan Z. Smith, 2004-11-10 One of the most influential theorists of religion Jonathan Z. Smith is best known for his analyses of religious studies as a discipline and for his advocacy and refinement of comparison as the basis for the history of religions. Relating Religion gathers seventeen essays four of them never before published that together provide the first broad overview of Smith's thinking since his seminal 1982 book Imagining Religion. Smith first explains how he was drawn to the study of religion outlines his own theoretical commitments and draws the connections between his thinking and his concerns for general education. He then engages several figures and traditions that serve to define his interests within the larger setting of the discipline. The essays that follow consider the role of taxonomy and classification in the study of religion the construction of difference and the procedures of generalization and redescription that Smith takes to be key to the comparative enterprise. The final essays deploy features of Smith's most recent work especially the notion of translation. Heady original and provocative Relating Religion is certain to be hailed as a landmark in the academic study and critical theory of religion. The Location of Religion Kim Knott, 2015-08-12 The ways in which humans interact with their location is an important topic within sociological studies of religion. It is integral to the place of religion in secular society. The Location of Religion: A Spatial Analysis offers an overview of the ways in which religion can be located within social cultural and physical space. It examines contemporary spatial theory notably the work of the influential sociologist Henri Lefebvre and the many disciplines that have contributed to the spatial study of religion. This volume will be invaluable to all those interested in the role of religion in spatial analysis. Why Study Religion? Richard B. Miller, 2021-12-10 Can the study of religion be justified? Scholarship in religion especially work in theory and method is preoccupied with matters of research procedure and thus inarticulate about the goals that motivate scholarship in the field. For that reason the field suffers from a crisis of rationale. Richard B. Miller identifies six prevailing methodologies in the field and then offers an alternative framework for thinking about the purposes of the discipline. Shadowing these various methodologies he notes is a Weberian scientific ideal for studying religion one that aspires to value neutrality. This ideal fortifies a regime of truth that undercuts efforts to think normatively and teleologically about the field's purpose and value. Miller's alternative framework Critical

Humanism theorizes about the ends rather than the means of humanistic scholarship Why Study Religion offers an account of humanistic inquiry that is held together by four values Post critical Reasoning Social Criticism Cross cultural Fluency and Environmental Responsibility Ordered to such purposes Miller argues scholars of religion can relax their commitment to matters of methodological procedure and advocate for the value of studying religion The future of religious studies will depend on how well it can articulate its goals as a basis for motivating scholarship in the field Creative Encounters,

Appreciating Difference Sam Gill, 2018-11-15 Across the world from personal relationships to global politics differences cultural religious racial gender age ability are at the heart of the most disruptive and disturbing concerns While it is laudable to nurture an environment promoting the tolerance of difference Creative Encounters Appreciating Difference argues for the higher goal of actually appreciating difference as essential to creativity and innovation even if often experienced as stressful and complex Even encounters that are apparently harmful and negatively valued arguments conflict war oppression usually heighten the potential for creativity innovation movement action and identity Drawing on classic encounters that have played a significant role in the founding of the academic study of religion and the social sciences this book explores in some depth the dynamics of encounter to reveal both its problematic and creative aspects and to develop perspectives and strategies to assure encounters both include the appreciation of difference and also are recognized as creative and innovative The two examples most extensively considered show that the academic study of the peoples indigenous to North America and to Australia involved creative constructions concoctions of primary examples in order to establish and give authority to academic theories and definitions Rather than damning these examples as bad scholarship this book considers them to be encounters engendering creative constructions that are distinctive to academia yet their potential for harm must be understood Most important to the book is a persistent development of perspectives and strategies for understanding and approaching encounters in order to assure the appreciation of difference is accompanied by the potential for creativity and innovation Specific perspectives and strategies are related to naming moving gesture and play and particularly relevant to religion the development of an aesthetic of impossibles Since these historical examples engage highly relevant present concerns the distinction of real and fake truth and lie map and territory the threading essays show how these more or less classic examples might contribute to appreciating these contemporary concerns that are generated in the presence of difference

The Proper Study of Religion Sam Gill, 2020-08-11 The first generation of the proper academic study of religion might be said to span the half century from 1963 to 2013 Supreme Court Justice Clark s 1963 opinion clarifying that any liberal education is not complete without a study of comparative religion or the history of religion and its relationship to the advancement of civilization allowed the legal teaching of religion in secular universities The end of the first generation might be marked by the 2013 retirement of Professor Jonathan Z Smith 1938 2017 from the University of Chicago where he had taught since 1968 Arguably no scholar has made a greater contribution than did Smith to establishing a proper academic study of religion In The Proper Study of Religion Sam Gill charts an innovative course of development for the academic study of religion by creatively engaging the legacy of Jonathan Z Smith Gill's teacher and mentor for fifty years Their careers coincided with the explosive expansion of the study of religion in secular universities in the US that began in the mid 1960s Using an engaging narrative style Gill builds on Smith's work exploring an extensive range of absorbing and foundational topics including comparison as essential to academic technique and to human knowledge itself the important role of experience richly understood both to academic studies of religion and to religions as lived play philosophically understood as a core dynamic of Smith's entire program the relationship of academic document based studies to the sensory rich real world of religions and self moving as providing a biological and philosophical foundation on which to develop and expand upon a proper academic study of religion The foregrounding of human self movement new to the study of religion is informed by Gill's experience as a dancer and student of dancing in cultures around the world This book honors the work of an unforgettable giant of a man while also offering critical assessments and innovative ideas in the effort to advance the remarkable legacy of Jonathan Z Smith

Storytracking Sam D. Gill, 1998 Yet beyond the pessimism that often characterizes postmodernity he charts an optimistic and creative course framed in the terms of play

Encountering Religion Tyler T. Roberts, 2013 Tyler Roberts encourages scholars to abandon rigid conceptual oppositions between secular and religious to better understand how human beings actively and thoughtfully engage with their worlds and make meaning The artificial distinction between a self conscious and critical academic study of religion and an ideological and authoritarian religion he argues only obscures the phenomenon Instead Roberts calls on intellectuals to approach the field as a site of encounter and response illuminating the agency creativity and critical awareness of religious actors To respond to religion is to ask what religious behaviors and representations mean to us in our individual worlds and scholars must confront questions of possibility and becoming that arise from testing their beliefs imperatives and practices Roberts refers to the work of Hent de Vries Eric Santner and Stanley Cavell each of whom exemplifies encounter and response in their writings as they traverse philosophy and religion to expose secular thinking to religious thought and practice This approach highlights the resources religious discourse can offer to a fundamental reorientation of critical thought In humanistic criticism after secularism the lines separating the creative the pious and the critical themselves become the subject of question and experimentation

A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton, 2014-10-28 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer's art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph

Kill the Documentary Jill Godmilow, 2022-03-22 Can the documentary be useful Can a film change how its viewers think about the world and their potential role in it In Kill the Documentary the award winning director Jill Godmilow issues an urgent call for a new kind of nonfiction filmmaking She critiques documentary films from Nanook of the North to the recent Ken Burns Lynn Novick series The Vietnam War Tethered to what Godmilow calls the pedigree of the real and the pornography of the real they fail to activate their viewers engagement with historical or present day problems Whether depicting the hardships of poverty or the horrors of war conventional documentaries produce an us watching them mode that ultimately reinforces self satisfaction and self absorption In place of the conventional documentary Godmilow advocates for a postrealist cinema Instead of offering the faux empathy and sentimental spectacle of mainstream documentaries postrealist nonfiction films are acts of resistance They are experimental interventionist performative and transformative Godmilow demonstrates how a film can produce meaningful useful experience by forcefully challenging ways of knowing and how viewers come to understand the world She considers her own career as a filmmaker as well as the formal and political strategies of artists such as Luis Bu uel Georges Franju Harun Farocki Trinh T Minh ha Rithy Panh and other directors Both manifesto and guidebook Kill the Documentary proposes provocative new ways of making and watching films
