Homelands and Empires Jeffers Lennox, 2017-05-08 The period from 1690 to 1763 was a time of intense territorial competition during which Indigenous peoples remained a dominant force British Nova Scotia and French Acadia were imaginary places that administrators hoped to graft over the ancestral homelands of the Mi kmaq Wulstukwiuk Passamaquoddy and Abenaki peoples Homelands and Empires is the inaugural volume in the University of Toronto Press's Studies in Atlantic Canada History In this deeply researched and engagingly argued work Jeffers Lennox reconfigures our general understanding of how Indigenous peoples imperial forces and settlers competed for space in northeastern North America before the British conquest in 1763 Lennox's judicious investigation of official correspondence treaties newspapers and magazines diaries and maps reveals a locally developed system of accommodation that promoted peaceful interactions but enabled violent reprisals when agreements were broken This outstanding contribution to scholarship on early North America questions the nature and practice of imperial expansion in the face of Indigenous territorial strength The

Mapmakers' Quest David Buisseret, 2003-05-22 In 1400 Europe was behind large parts of the world in its understanding of the use of maps For instance the people of China and of Japan were considerably more advanced in this respect And yet by 1600 the Europeans had come to use maps for a huge variety of tasks and were far ahead of the rest of the world in their appreciation of the power and use of cartography The Mapmakers Quest seeks to understand this development not only to tease out the strands of thought and practice which led to the use of maps but also to assess the ways in which such use affected European societies and economies Taking as a starting point the question of why there were so few maps in Europe in 1400 and so many by 1650 the book explores the reasons for this and its implications for European history It examines inter al how mapping and military technology advanced in tandem how modern states territories were mapped and borders drawn up the role of maps in shaping the urban environment and cartography's links to the new sciences The

Mapmakers' Legacy Joan Dawson, 2007 This book is a follow up to Joan Dawson's earlier book The Mapmaker's Eye which shows how early maps of Nova Scotia reflect the province's establishment under first French then English colonial rule The present book looks at Nova Scotia's continuing development in the nineteenth century first as a British colony then as a member of Confederation as reflected in the many different types of maps made for various purposes during the century Any map or history enthusiast will be fascinated by Nova Scotia's evolution from a colony of military outposts and subsistence farmers to an increasingly industrial society Early in the nineteenth century maps reflected the settlement that was still taking place the roads being built to link the settlements the increasingly sophisticated defenses that were being constructed and the attempts to identify the resources on which development would depend In the second half of the century maps began to change depicting the development of industries the establishment of railways and shipping lines and the growth of towns where enterprising manufacturers and merchants were setting up businesses Throughout The Mapmakers Legacy Dawson examines and explains the many maps that illustrate this evolution This is a unique and captivating account of Nova Scotian cartographic history The Mapmaker's Apprentice C.J. Archer,2016-10-25 USA TODAY BESTSELLER When an apprentice from the Mapmakers Guild goes missing Matt and India are employed to find him Going undercover as a married couple they discover that not everyone at the guild is what they seem and the lad s unearthly maps caused jealousy suspicion and fear With one of the apprentice s magic maps in their possession India and Matt must use their wits and India s fledgling untried magic to find him But the more they investigate the more sinister plots they uncover including a link between the Mapmakers and Watchmakers Guilds and an ancient magical treasure buried beneath the streets of London As the net of suspicion widens and enemies draw closer it s not just the apprentice s life that s in danger but Matt s too Someone will go to great lengths to prevent him discovering the name of the man who can fix the watch keeping him alive Great lengths indeed

The Mapmakers John Noble Wilford,2001-12-04 In his classic text two time Pulitzer Prize winner John Noble Wilford recounts the history of cartography from antiquity to the space age They are among the world s great pioneers and adventurers the mapmakers who for centuries have been expanding our knowledge of who and where we are and where we want to go From the surprisingly accurate silk maps prepared by Chinese cartographers in the second century B C to medieval mapmakers who believed they had fixed the location of paradise through to the expeditions of Columbus and Magellan John Noble Wilford chronicles the exploits of the great pioneers of mapmaking Wilford brings the story up to the present day as he shows the impact of new technologies that make it possible for cartographers to go where no one has been before from the deepest reaches of the universe where astronomers are mapping time as well as space to the inside of the human brain These modern day mapmakers join the many earlier adventurers including ancient Greek stargazers Renaissance seafarers and the explorers who mapped the American West whose achievements shape this dramatic story of human inventiveness and limitless curiosity A History of the World in 12 Maps Jerry Brotton,2013-11-14 A New York Times Bestseller Maps allow the armchair traveler to roam the world the diplomat to argue his points the ruler to administer his country the warrior to plan his campaigns and the propagandist to boost his cause rich and beautiful Wall Street Journal Throughout history maps have been fundamental in shaping our view of the world and our place in it But far from being purely scientific objects maps of the world are unavoidably ideological and subjective intimately bound up with the systems of power and authority of particular times and places Mapmakers do not simply represent the world they construct it out of the ideas of their age In this scintillating book Jerry Brotton examines the significance of 12 maps from the almost mystical representations of ancient history to the satellite derived imagery of today He vividly recreates the environments and circumstances in which each of the maps was made showing how each conveys a highly individual view of the world Brotton shows how each of his maps both influenced and reflected contemporary events and how by considering it in all its nuances and omissions we can better understand the world that produced it Although the way we map our surroundings is more precise than ever before Brotton argues that maps today are no more definitive or objective than they have ever been Readers of this beautifully illustrated and masterfully argued book will never look at a map in quite the same way again A fascinating and panoramic new history of the cartographer s art The Guardian The intellectual background to these images is conveyed with beguiling erudition There is nothing more subversive than a map The Spectator A mesmerizing and beautifully illustrated book The Telegraph

Worldly Consumers Genevieve Carlton,2015-06-22 Though the practical value of maps during the sixteenth century is well documented their personal and cultural importance has been relatively underexamined In Worldly Consumers Genevieve Carlton explores the growing availability of maps to private consumers during the Italian Renaissance and shows how map acquisition and display became central tools for constructing personal identity and impressing one s peers Drawing on a variety of sixteenth century sources including household inventories epigrams dedications catalogs travel books and advice manuals Worldly Consumers studies how individuals displayed different maps in their homes as deliberate acts of self fashioning One citizen decorated with maps of Bruges Holland Flanders and Amsterdam to remind visitors of his military prowess for example while another hung maps of cities where his ancestors fought or governed in homage to his auspicious family history Renaissance Italians turned domestic spaces into a microcosm of larger geographical places to craft cosmopolitan erudite identities for themselves creating a new class of consumers who drew cultural capital from maps of the time

A Mapmaker's Dream James Cowan,2007-12-18 In sixteenth century Venice in an island monastery a cloistered monk experiences the adventure of a lifetime all within the confines of his cell Part historical fiction part philosophical mystery A Mapmaker s Dream tells the story of Fra Mauro and his struggle to realize his life s work to make a perfect map one that represents the full breadth of Creation News of Mauro s projects attracts explorers pilgrims travelers and merchants all eager to contribute their accounts of faraway people and places As he listens to the tales of the strange and fantastic things they ve seen Mauro comes to regard the world as much more than continents and kingdoms that it is also made up of a vast and equally real interior landscape of beliefs aspirations and dreams Mauro s map grows and takes shape becoming both more complete and incomprehensible In the process the boundaries of Mauro s world are pushed to the extreme raising questions about the relationship between representation imagination and the nature of reality itself
