Social Media in Disaster Response Liza Potts,2013-10-30 Social Media in Disaster Response focuses on how emerging social web tools provide researchers and practitioners with new opportunities to address disaster communication and information design for participatory cultures Both groups however currently lack research toolkits for tracing participant networks across systems there is little understanding of how to design not just for individual social web sites but how to design across multiple systems Given the volatile political and ecological climate we are currently living in the practicality of understanding how people communicate during disasters is important both for those researching solutions and for those putting that research into practice Social Media in Disaster Response addresses this situation by presenting the results of a large scale sociotechnical usability study on crisis communication in the vernacular related to recent natural and human made crisis this is an analysis of the way social web applications are transformed by participants into a critical information infrastructure in moments of crisis This book provides researchers with methods tools and examples for researching and analyzing these communication systems while providing practitioners with design methods and information about these participatory communities to assist them in influencing the design and structure of these communication systems

Mapping Different Geographies Karel Kriz,William Cartwright,Lorenz Hurni,2010-09-15 This book is the outcome of the work of contributors who participated in the workshop Mapping Different Geographies MDG in February 2010 held in Puchberg am Schneeberg Austria This meeting brought together cartographers artists and geoscientists who research and practice in applications that focus on enhancing communication or develop and evaluate methodologies that provide innovative methods for sharing information The main intention of the workshop was to investigate how different geographies are being mapped and the possibilities for developing new theories and techniques for information design and transfer based on place or location So as to communicate these concepts it was important to appreciate the many contrasting meanings of mapping that were held by workshop participants Also the many and varied viewpoints of what different geographies are were elaborated upon and discussed Therefore as the focus on space and time was embedded within everyone's fields of investigation this was addressed during the workshop This resulted in very engaging discourse which in some cases exposed the restrictions that certain approaches need to consider For participants this proved to be most useful as this allowed them to appreciate the limits and restrictions of their own approach to understanding and representing different geographies As well the workshop also was most helpful as a vehicle for demonstrating the common ground of interest held by the very diverse areas of endeavour that the workshop participants work within
