Introduction to Modern Information Retrieval Gobinda G. Chowdhury, 2010 An information retrieval IR system is designed to analyse process and store sources of information and retrieve those that match a particular user's requirements A bewildering range of techniques is now available to the information professional attempting to successfully retrieve information It is recognized that today's information professionals need to concentrate their efforts on learning the techniques of computerized IR However it is this book's contention that it also benefits them to learn the theory techniques and tools that constitute the traditional approaches to the organization and processing of information In fact much of this knowledge may still be applicable in the storage and retrieval of electronic information in digital library environments The fully revised third edition of this highly regarded textbook has been thoroughly updated to incorporate major changes in this rapidly expanding field since the second edition in 2004 and a complete new chapter on citation indexing has been added

Unique in its scope the book covers the whole spectrum of information storage and retrieval including users of IR and IR options database technology bibliographic formats cataloguing and metadata subject analysis and representation automatic indexing and file organization vocabulary control abstracts and indexing searching and retrieval user centred models of IR and user interfaces evaluation of IR systems and evaluation experiments online and CD ROM IR multimedia IR hypertext and mark up languages web IR intelligent IR natural language processing and its applications in IR citation analysis and IR IR in digital libraries and trends in IR research Illustrated with many examples and comprehensively referenced for an international audience this is an indispensable textbook for students of library and information studies It is also an invaluable aid for information practitioners wishing to brush up on their skills and keep up to date with the latest techniques

Moving Image Cataloging Martha M. Yee, 2007-10-30 Libraries archives and museums hold a wide variety of moving images all of which require the same level of attention to issues of organization and access as their print counterparts Consequently the people who create collection level records and metadata for these resources need to be equally conversant in the principles of cataloging Martha Yee covers both descriptive AACR2R AMIM and FIAF rules and subject cataloging with a focus on LCSH In the process the reader is encouraged to think critically and to be prepared to make decisions in ambiguous situations where solutions to problems are not always obvious or clearly dictated by specific rules MARC 21 Specifications for Record Structure, Character Sets, and Exchange Media National Library of Canada.
